14 OAS Nations Vote To Expel Cuba

Resolution Just Gets By; Six Abstain

Cuban President Threatens Appeal To United Nations

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—The United States and 13 other Latin-American nations voted early Wednesday to expel Cuba from participation in inter-American affairs.

Cuba voted against the move and six other nations, refusing to go along with it, abstained.

The dramatic vote in the climatic plenary session of the inter-American foreign ministers was a narrow squeak for the nations opposing Prime Minister Fidel Castro. It was just a bare two-thirds majority needed for drumming Cuba out of the Organization of American States.

The vote came after nine days of intense struggle by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and President Kennedy's Latin-American team to produce a tough measure to quarantine Castro communism.

Cuba Threatens U. N. Move

Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos threatened to appeal to the United Nations — evidently on grounds that Cuba is being illegally deprived of rights in the OAS.

Just a few hours before the vote, the United States held hopes for a bigger majority—possibly 17 votes in all. But an expected switch by some members of the six-nation soft-line bloc favoring kid gloves treatment for Cuba never occurred.

Before the decision to go with the hard - line bloc of nations as the conference neared a close, Rusk had given ground in an effort to accommodate the six nations standing against hard anti-Castro action.

He persuaded the hard-line majority to abandon demands, set forth in a resolution proposed by 11 of the group Monday night, for expulsion of the Castro administration at the conference and agree to let the OAS handle it later.

Amended Resolution

The resolution, as amended, declares:

1. Adherence of any member of the OAS to Marxism-Leninism is incompatible with the inter-American system. The aligning of such a government with the Communist bloc breaks the unity and solidarity of the hemisphere.

2. The present government of Cuba, which has officially identified itself as a Marxist-Leninist government, is incompatible with the purposes and principles of the inter-American system.

3. This incompatibility excludes the present government of Cuba from participation in the inter-American system.

4. The Council of the Organization of American States and other organs of the inter-American system will adopt without delay the necessary measures to comply with this resolution.

Aerial Act Quartet Falls; One Killed

DETROIT (UPI) — One man was killed and two others critically injured when four high wire artists fell 80 feet to the ground Tuesday night while performing in the Shrine circus at the Michigan State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Hospital authorities said Richard Faughan, 29, Sarasota, Fla., died about an hour after the accident. His two male companions, Eidter Schepp, 23, and Maleo Wallenda, 29, were listed as critical. A girl, Gane Schepp, 17, who also fell, was reported in fair condition.

The four performers were part of the Flying Wallendas act.

Space Flight Is Put Off To Feb. 13

White House Visitors

Delay Due To Rocket Troubles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States Tuesday abruptly postponed an attempt to hurl astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. around the world Thursday. The flight was put off until Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Lt. Col. John A. Powers, spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, attributed this sixth postponement to "technical difficulties with the launching booster."

He added that the troubles with the 360,000-pound thrust Atlas booster were cloaked in secrecy because they involved the missile as a military weapon.

Fueling Troubles Reported

There were, however, reports that the missile that was to have launched Glenn into triple orbit around the earth, had a damaged fuel tank system.

The skin of this booster, the 109D, is not quite as thick as a dime and has to be kept under internal pressure from helium gas to prevent its collapse from external air pressure.

The postponement was the sixth since Dec. 20 in the attempt to hurl the 40-year-old Marine lieutenant colonel into orbit.

Powers, who filters all formal statements by the astronauts, said Glenn received the news with a shrug. He then quoted Glenn as saying: "Sure, I'm disappointed, but this is a complicated business. I don't think we should fly until all elements of the mission are ready. When we have completed all our tests satisfactorily then we'll go."

Glenn reportedly planned to take a few days off and visit his wife Annie and two teen-age children in Arlington, Va., before resuming the exacting preparations for the flight.

Armada Recalled

Meanwhile, the armada of ships that completed their job of taking up rescue and recovery stations for Thursday's launch were recalled by Rear Adm. John L. Chew.

This involved the return to normal operating duties for 15,000 men aboard 24 ships reaching across the Atlantic. Among them are the aircraft carriers Wasp, Enterprise and Randolph.

Asked why the two-week delay, Powers said the time would be required "to do all the things that need to be done."

This alone indicated the troubles were of no small size. There was even doubt whether the 93-foot spacecraft and booster assembly would remain on the launching pad.

Powers said the difficulties were "not a function of time and were discovered only today. They could not have been overlooked earlier."

U.N. Council Snubs Soviet Congo Move

U.S. Claim Debate Would Complicate Matters Upheld

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States succeeded Tuesday over Soviet opposition in winning an indefinite delay of new Security Council debate on the Congo.

After a lengthy procedural wrangle, the 11-nation council upheld the position of U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson that debate now would only complicate the troubles of the new African nation.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin protested bitterly that the United States and Britain had teamed up to settle the Congo question outside the council.

But the members voted 7-2 with two abstentions for a motion by Stevenson that the council adjourn. He introduced the motion before Zorin could take the floor.

Only Romania joined the Soviet Union in voting against it. Ghana and the United Arab Republic abstained. Britain, France, nationalist China, Chile, Ireland and Venezuela supported the United States.

Zorin had asked for the meeting to take up Soviet charges that Katanga President Moise Tshombe was pursuing his secessionist activities in defiance of council objectives for unity of the Congo.

Asked afterward if he planned any new action seeking a council meeting, he replied, "We'll think about it."

In introducing his motion, Stevenson appealed to the council to let Acting Secretary-General U Thant and the central government headed by Premier Cyrille Adoula continue their efforts to bring peace and security to the Congo.

Salinger Will Visit Moscow In April Or May

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger accepted an invitation on Tuesday to visit Russia late April or early May as part of his efforts to improve communications.

The invitation was offered by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, at a White House luncheon given in his honor by President Kennedy.

Salinger had an extensive talk in Paris Monday with Mikhail Kharlamov, chief press officer of the Russian government. During this meeting Kennedy's press secretary learned that Adzhubei, editor of the Soviet newspaper Izvestia, would extend an invitation for Salinger to visit Russia.

After returning to Washington late Monday night, Salinger checked the President and the State Department on whether to accept the invitation. He received an affirmative answer.

"It will be an informal visit as a guest of Mr. Adzhubei," Salinger said, "but will provide me the opportunity of meeting with leading Soviet journalists and officials of their government and discussing with them matters in the area of communications."

Salinger said there had been no discussion relating his trip to any possible later Russian visit by Kennedy or a Kennedy - Khrushchev meeting of any sort. The press secretary said that while he expected to see Kharlamov while in Russia, there was no discussion Tuesday of his meeting with Khrushchev.

Of the conversations Tuesday between Kennedy and Adzhubei, Salinger said they had "an informal and wide-ranging discussion on a number of topics, but I would not want to get into the specifics of their discussion."

Adzhubei established a Soviet journalistic precedent in Hyannis Port, Mass., last November by interviewing Kennedy. A transcript of the interview was published in full in Izvestia, but in highly capsulized form in other Russian newspaper.

Sudden End To Long War May Be Near

Belgian Radio Says Peace Agreement Appears Certain

LONDON (AP)—Prospects of a sudden end to France's 7-year-old war in Algeria appeared to brighten Tuesday night.

There were strongly supported reports that President Charles de Gaulle has reached agreement with Algerian rebels on a plan leading toward Algerian independence

The Belgian radio in Brussels broadcast from its Geneva correspondent a report that agreement seemed certain.

The Belgian correspondent quoted an authoritative North African source as saying complete agreement on an Algerian settlement was reached by officials of the French and provisional Algerian governments at a secret meeting in Vevey, Switzerland.

According to the Belgian radio, the reported agreement will provide for a six-month transition period before full independence.

Paris Reaction Optimistic

At the end of this period—beginning at an unspecified date—the vast region will be handed over to the Algerian home-rulers, the radio said.

It added that a provisional Algerian government, backed by French army units out to prevent any uprising by European right-wingers, will take over during the transition period.

First reactions in Paris were optimistic. Frenchmen there had the impression a profound development on Algeria would come this week.

Diplomats in Geneva retreated behind a cloak of silence, saying no details of any meeting between French and Algerian representatives were known there.

In battle-scarred Algiers itself there were rumors of an imminent cease-fire.

De Gaulle Prestige At Stake

French evening papers come out with reports that the French and the rebels were nearing agreement on ending the bloodshed.

The reports — they could have been officially inspired — said a final accord could come next month.

The Belgian radio report quoted its African source in Geneva as saying De Gaulle will tell the French nation of the agreement in a radio-TV speech Feb. 5.

De Gaulle has staked his enormous prestige and power on giving the Algerians self-determination and ending a great drain on the French economy.

His promise has plunged France into internal strife and aroused the implacable hostility of right-wing extremists — symbolized by the bomb-and-ambush techniques of the so-called Secret Army Organization.

Earlier contacts between the French and the rebels have broken down in deadlock and angry recriminations.

Trials For Seven "Sit-Ins" Postponed

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Jury trials for seven demonstrators accused of trespassing were postponed Tuesday.

The trials had been scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday, but Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell of Baltimore, attorney for the seven, said she would be unable to attend because of other business.

State's Atty. Henry P. Turner of Talbot County agreed to the postponement and said the trials would be held sometime late next month.

Underground A-Shot Detonated In Nevada

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States set off a low-yield nuclear test Tuesday at the underground test site in Nevada, the Atomic Energy Commission announced.

This was the 11th announced blast, all underground, since the United States resumed nuclear testing.

The AEC said the power of Tuesday's test was under 20 kilotons.

House Passes $1.5 Billion Plan To Aid Colleges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House overwhelmingly approved Tuesday a $1.5 billion federal aid program to help American colleges build classrooms for an expected tidal wave of new students.

The bill, a vital but relatively non-controversial part of President Kennedy's far-reaching education program, passed with bipartisan support.

The House approved the measure by a roll call vote of 319 to 79 after striking out a financing feature which Rules Committee Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., criticized as "backdoor spending."

The measure now goes to th Senate where action will be started this week on a much broader college aid bill.

The House bill would provide $180 million in matching grants and $120 million in low-interest loans in each of the next five years for public and private colleges to build classrooms, libraries and laboratories.

It made no provision for assistance to students, as Kennedy requested. The Senate bill would provide a $900 million system of scholarships.

Republicans pitched as hard for the construction aid bill as Democrats, but bluntly warned they would drop it cold if a later House-Senate conference committee should accept a compromise bill carrying scholarships.

House Democratic leaders, following their recent course of heading off all foreseeable trouble in advance of floor consideration, dropped scholarships with the announcement that the entire subject had to be restudied.

Roberts Wins Rayburn's Seat In Texas Runoff

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Ray Roberts vaulted from the Texas Senate to the U.S. House of Representatives Tuesday night by winning the late Sam Rayburn's seat in a special election against R. C. (Bob) Slagle Jr. Both are administration Democrats.

Late returns with an estimate of less than 500 votes unreported, showed Roberts with 16,047 votes to 13,30? for Slagle.

Both contestants pledged themselves to carry on in the tradition of Rayburn, who died Nov. 16.

Both are personal and political friends of administration leaders.

U.N. Asks End To Repression Against Angola

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly called upon Portugal Tuesday night to end what it called repressive measures against the Angolan people and to take immediate steps to speed self-government for the west African territory.

The get-tough resolution was approved at the conclusion of a two-week debate boycotted by the Portuguese delegation and marked by bitter denunciations of the Salazar government.

The vote was 99-2. South Africa and Spain cast the negative votes. France abstained. In addition to Portugal, Iceland was absent.

Portuguese Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar was expected to react sharply, but U.N. diplomats doubted that he would carry out his threat to withdraw Portugal from the United Nations.

Kennedy Asks Cabinet Voice For Urbanites

WASHINGTON (AP)—To give the nation's city dwellers a voice at his Cabinet table, as he put it, President Kennedy formally proposed Tuesday to create a department of urban affairs and housing.

Kennedy used his presidential reorganization power to bypass the House Rules Committee, which last week blocked the proposal, and reopened the door to appointment of Robert C. Weaver, now housing administrator, as the first Negro Cabinet secretary.

The door may be shut, for either branch of Congress can kill the plan by majority vote within the next 60 days. Republicans served notice they will seek to do so. The issue is entangled in political, racial and states-rights conflict.

But Kennedy pleaded that "the times we live in urgently call for this action." Already two-thirds of all Americans live in cities whose mushroom growth, he said, is raising new problems of congestion, housing blight, transit jams, downtown decay and sprawling suburbs.

The proposed 11th Cabinet department, Kennedy argued, would strengthen and streamline the efforts of the government's cluster of housing agencies to approach the goal of "a decent home in a suitable living environment for every American family."

The plan was shorter and simpler than was expected. Only the housing agencies are involved, although Kennedy's accompanying message to Congress spoke of the urgency of other city problems.

Functions of the existing Housing and Home Finance Agency, headed by Weaver and charged with general policy supervision over all federal housing operations, would be shifted to the new department. Functions of the Public Housing Administration also would go to the new secretary, although there would continue to be a presidentially appointed public housing commissioner under Weaver. The Federal Housing Administration, which encourages private housing by insuring mortgages, and the Federal National Mortgage Association, which serves as a mortgage bank to support the supply of housing credit, would be transferred to the new department.

Functions of the growing Urban Renewal Administration and the Community Facilities Administration, which give financial support to slum clearance, redevelopment, and such projects as water and sewer systems, also would go to the new secretary.

FRB Will Help Defend Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. said Tuesday the Federal Reserve Board was prepared to begin dealings in foreign currencies "with the aim of defending the dollar from speculative forays."

Testifying before the Senate-House Economic Committee, Martin noted that the Treasury since last March has been buying and selling foreign currencies, when necessary, to bolster the dollar's position in international money markets. However, he said the amount of money available to the Treasury for this purpose was "quite limited." For that reason the reserve board is ready to enter the picture, he said.

Four Plane Survivors Found On Iran Peak

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — A paratroop rescue team Tuesday found four American survivors from a single-engine U. S. Army plane which crashed into a 12,000 foot mountain. A fifth man still was missing.

Army Capt. Howard M. Willburn, 34, of Tucson, Ariz., leader of a joint U. S. - Iranian search team, reported the four men were moved down the mountain to a lower camp and probably would be flown out Wednesday by helicopter.

Court Bars PRR Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A federal judge ordered the Transport Workers Union Tuesday to cancel a strike against the Pennsylvania Railroad scheduled for midnight Saturday.

A spokesman for the union said the TWU would obey.

U. S. District Judge Abraham L. Freedman issued the temporary restraining order requested by America's biggest railroad on grounds the threatened walkout was, at this time, illegal. He said the union failed to follow provisions of the Railway Labor Act in seeking to settle a dispute.

The injunction specifically prohibits the union from threatening, encouraging, supporting, participating or continuing any strike or slow down and from picketing PRR property.

TWU president Michael J. Quill called the work stoppage 11 days ago in support of a demand that PRR guarantee no union member would lose his job in a proposed merger with the New York Central Railroad. He also set a strike against the New York Central for the same time.

Civil Rights Advocates Lose Senate Skirmish

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration's first civil rights bill was sent to the Judiciary Committee dungeons Tuesday but Senate leaders said they would send a rescue party after it in two or three months.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson consigned the bill to the committee, saying he acted in accord with precedent.

Civil rights advocates were defeated 61 to 25 when they tried to upset Johnson's ruling and have the measure assigned to the healthier climate of the Rules Committee.

This unsuccessful move was led by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who was able to enlist the support of only 11 other Republicans and 13 Democrats.

Voting to uphold Johnson on the roll call were 44 Democrats and 17 Republicans.

It was only a preliminary skirmish, however, since Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he would seek to force action on the bill later by attaching it to some other measure.

The bill would make a sixth-grade education the only literacy test for voters in national elections. It was sponsored for the White House by Mansfield and co-sponsored by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Southern opponents contend the proposal is unconstitutional.

Johnson ruled that the measure would amend the 1957 Civil Rights Act, which passed through the Judiciary Committee, and therefore should follow the same route.

The judiciary group is headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and ardent foe of civil civil rights measures.

Yule Card Sent Convict Leads To Wedding Plans

BOSTON (AP)—Seven years ago Fran McKearney sent a Christmas card from the Yukon to a long-term convict in Massachusetts State Prison—and it led to romance and wedding plans.

Joseph Flaherty, now 40, was a leader in the Cherry Hill riot on the old prison in Charlestown back in 1955. Miss McKearney read stories of the riot and sent Flaherty the Christmas card.

Now Flaherty seeks commutation of his 36- to 46-year sentence so they can marry.

Flaherty has a long police record including sentences for a series of rapes, burglaries, thefts, assault and drunkenness. He has been in prison for 12 years.

Miss McKearney, now 33, was living in British Columbia when she first wrote Flaherty. She now lives in Somerville, Mass., not far from the old prison.

"It was Christmas in 1955," she recalled, "and I was feeling lonely. I wondered who might be feeling worse than I was, and, on an impulse, I sent Joe a Christmas card. He wrote to me and we continued corresponding. His letters seemed sincere and earnest. In 1956, I came here to visit him. We became engaged in 1958. Joe is kind and compassionate and considerate."

Flaherty edited the prison weekly for some time and then took up linotyping.

Aiding Flaherty's petition for commutation are letters from the former commissioner of correction, Arthur T. Lyman. Lyman wrote: "It is my belief that he is ready for release at the present time."

Aiding Flaherty's petition for commutation are letters from the former commissioner of correction, Arthur T. Lyman. Lyman wrote: "It is my belief that he is ready for release at the present time."

FRB Will Help Defend Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. said Tuesday the Federal Reserve Board was prepared to begin dealings in foreign currencies "with the aim of defending the dollar from speculative forays."

Testifying before the Senate-House Economic Committee, Martin noted that the Treasury since last March has been buying and selling foreign currencies, when necessary, to bolster the dollar's position in international money markets. However, he said the amount of money available to the Treasury for this purpose was "quite limited." For that reason the reserve board is ready to enter the picture, he said.

Four Plane Survivors Found On Iran Peak

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — A paratroop rescue team Tuesday found four American survivors from a single-engine U. S. Army plane which crashed into a 12,000 foot mountain. A fifth man still was missing.

Army Capt. Howard M. Willburn, 34, of Tucson, Ariz., leader of a joint U. S. - Iranian search team, reported the four men were moved down the mountain to a lower camp and probably would be flown out Wednesday by helicopter.

U.N. Council Snubs Soviet Congo Move

U.S. Claim Debate Would Complicate Matters Upheld

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States succeeded Tuesday over Soviet opposition in winning an indefinite delay of new Security Council debate on the Congo.

After a lengthy procedural wrangle, the 11-nation council upheld the position of U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson that debate now would only complicate the troubles of the new African nation.

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin protested bitterly that the United States and Britain had teamed up to settle the Congo question outside the council.

But the members voted 7-2 with two abstentions for a motion by Stevenson that the council adjourn. He introduced the motion before Zorin could take the floor.

Only Romania joined the Soviet Union in voting against it. Ghana and the United Arab Republic abstained. Britain, France, nationalist China, Chile, Ireland and Venezuela supported the United States.

Zorin had asked for the meeting to take up Soviet charges that Katanga President Moise Tshombe was pursuing his secessionist activities in defiance of council objectives for unity of the Congo.

Asked afterward if he planned any new action seeking a council meeting, he replied, "We'll think about it."

In introducing his motion, Stevenson appealed to the council to let Acting Secretary-General U Thant and the central government headed by Premier Cyrille Adoula continue their efforts to bring peace and security to the Congo.

Court Bars PRR Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A federal judge ordered the Transport Workers Union Tuesday to cancel a strike against the Pennsylvania Railroad scheduled for midnight Saturday.

A spokesman for the union said the TWU would obey.

U. S. District Judge Abraham L. Freedman issued the temporary restraining order requested by America's biggest railroad on grounds the threatened walkout was, at this time, illegal. He said the union failed to follow provisions of the Railway Labor Act in seeking to settle a dispute.

The injunction specifically prohibits the union from threatening, encouraging, supporting, participating or continuing any strike or slow down and from picketing PRR property.

TWU president Michael J. Quill called the work stoppage 11 days ago in support of a demand that PRR guarantee no union member would lose his job in a proposed merger with the New York Central Railroad. He also set a strike against the New York Central for the same time.

Civil Rights Advocates Lose Senate Skirmish

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration's first civil rights bill was sent to the Judiciary Committee dungeons Tuesday but Senate leaders said they would send a rescue party after it in two or three months.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson consigned the bill to the committee, saying he acted in accord with precedent.

Civil rights advocates were defeated 51 to 25 when they tried to upset Johnson's ruling and have the measure assigned to the healthier climate of the Rules Committee.

This unsuccessful move was led by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who was able to enlist the support of only 11 other Republicans and 13 Democrats.

Voting to uphold Johnson on the roll call were 44 Democrats and 17 Republicans.

It was only a preliminary skirmish, however, since Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he would seek to force action on the bill later by attaching it to some other measure.

The bill would make a sixth-grade education the only literacy test for voters in national elections. It was sponsored for the White House by Mansfield and co-sponsored by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Southern opponents contend the proposal is unconstitutional.

Johnson ruled that the measure would amend the 1957 Civil Rights Act, which passed through the Judiciary Committee, and therefore should follow the same route.

The judiciary group is headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and ardent foe of civil civil rights measures.

Salinger Will Visit Moscow In April Or May

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger accepted an invitation on Tuesday to visit Russia late April or early May as part of his efforts to improve communications.

The invitation was offered by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, at a White House luncheon given in his honor by President Kennedy.

Salinger had an extensive talk in Paris Monday with Mikhail Kharlamov, chief press officer of the Russian government. During this meeting Kennedy's press secretary learned that Adzhubei, editor of the Soviet newspaper Izvestia, would extend an invitation for Salinger to visit Russia.

After returning to Washington late Monday night, Salinger checked the President and the State Department on whether to accept the invitation. He received an affirmative answer.

"It will be an informal visit as a guest of Mr. Adzhubei," Salinger said, "but will provide me the opportunity of meeting with leading Soviet journalists and officials of their government and discussing with them matters in the area of communications."

Salinger said there had been no discussion relating his trip to any possible later Russian visit by Kennedy or a Kennedy - Khrushchev meeting of any sort. The press secretary said that while he expected to see Kharlamov while in Russia, there was no discussion Tuesday of his meeting with Khrushchev.

Of the conversations Tuesday between Kennedy and Adzhubei, Salinger said they had "an informal and wide-ranging discussion on a number of topics, but I would not want to get into the specifics of their discussion."

Adzhubei established a Soviet journalistic precedent in Hyannis Port, Mass., last November by interviewing Kennedy. A transcript of the interview was published in full in Izvestia, but in highly capsulized form in other Russian newspaper.

Sudden End To Long War May Be Near

Belgian Radio Says Peace Agreement Appears Certain

LONDON (AP)—Prospects of a sudden end to France's 7-year-old war in Algeria appeared to brighten Tuesday night.

There were strongly supported reports that President Charles de Gaulle has reached agreement with Algerian rebels on a plan leading toward Algerian independence

The Belgian radio in Brussels broadcast from its Geneva correspondent a report that agreement seemed certain.

The Belgian correspondent quoted an authoritative North African source as saying complete agreement on an Algerian settlement was reached by officials of the French and provisional Algerian governments at a secret meeting in Vevey, Switzerland.

According to the Belgian radio, the reported agreement will provide for a six-month transition period before full independence.

Paris Reaction Optimistic

At the end of this period—beginning at an unspecified date—the vast region will be handed over to the Algerian home-rulers, the radio said.

It added that a provisional Algerian government, backed by French army units out to prevent any uprising by European right-wingers, will take over during the transition period.

First reactions in Paris were optimistic. Frenchmen there had the impression a profound development on Algeria would come this week.

Diplomats in Geneva retreated behind a cloak of silence, saying no details of any meeting between French and Algerian representatives were known there.

In battle-scarred Algiers itself there were rumors of an imminent cease-fire.

De Gaulle Prestige At Stake

French evening papers come out with reports that the French and the rebels were nearing agreement on ending the bloodshed.

The reports — they could have been officially inspired — said a final accord could come next month.

The Belgian radio report quoted its African source in Geneva as saying De Gaulle will tell the French nation of the agreement in a radio-TV speech Feb. 5.

De Gaulle has staked his enormous prestige and power on giving the Algerians self-determination and ending a great drain on the French economy.

His promise has plunged France into internal strife and aroused the implacable hostility of right-wing extremists — symbolized by the bomb-and-ambush techniques of the so-called Secret Army Organization.

Earlier contacts between the French and the rebels have broken down in deadlock and angry recriminations.

Trials For Seven "Sit-Ins" Postponed

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Jury trials for seven demonstrators accused of trespassing were postponed Tuesday.

The trials had been scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday, but Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell of Baltimore, attorney for the seven, said she would be unable to attend because of other business.

State's Atty. Henry P. Turner of Talbot County agreed to the postponement and said the trials would be held sometime late next month.

Underground A-Shot Detonated In Nevada

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States set off a low-yield nuclear test Tuesday at the underground test site in Nevada, the Atomic Energy Commission announced.

This was the 11th announced blast, all underground, since the United States resumed nuclear testing.

The AEC said the power of Tuesday's test was under 20 kilotons.

Seven Indicted In Scheme To Loot Kenny Foundation

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Seven men, including a onetime Minneapolis mayor, were charged by a federal grand jury Tuesday with scheming to loot the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation of funds donated by the public.

The indictments climaxed a 16-month investigation of the foundation by the grand jury, which returned 16 separate counts of mail fraud and conspiracy.

The foundation operates a rehabilitation center in Minneapolis.

The grand jury charge included an accusation that nearly $360,000 in kickbacks went to two Minneapolis men. Named in the indictments were:

Marvin L. Kline, Minneapolis mayor from 1941-45 and later executive director of the foundation.

Fred Fadell, 53, Minneapolis, formerly a Kenny publicity agent.

J. George Zimmerman, 50, St. Paul, onetime accountant for the foundation and former Internal Revenue Service agent whose accountants license has been revoked.

Abraham L. Koolish, 77, and his son, David F. Koolish, 42, alleged owners of several companies that distributed foundation mailing pieces from 1952 to 1960.

John B. Carnell, 50, and Philip G. Rettig, Chicago, former presidents of one of the mailing companies.

The Chicago firms raised about $20 million for the foundation in the 1952-60 period but charged fees of nearly $11 million, the investigation showed.

The foundation is named for the Australian nurse who pioneered a hotpack-massage system of polio therapy. It was set up in 1943 as a nonprofit corporation for treatment of polio victims. Miss Kenny died in Australia in 1952.

The federal grand jury accused the seven defendants of defrauding the foundation and its contributors beginning in January 1949.

Kline is now under a 10-year prison term, although free pending an appeal, after being convicted of illegally boosting his salary from $23,000 to $48,000 a year in 1957.

Reargument Of Libel Case Denied By Court

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals denied Tuesday a motion by the A. S. Abell Co. to hear rearguments of a case involving a libel suit against the Baltimore Sunpapers.

The high court had earlier upheld a Baltimore County jury award of $45,000 to Edgar Gordon Kirby, a former Baltimore City police sergeant who was referred to in a Sun editorial as "infamous."

The publishing company filed its motion on Jan. 22 asking for a reargument. It contended, among other things, that the high court had applied the same restrictions to editorial page comment that it would to a news column and that it was "a striking departure from the law" to hold the writer could be guilty of malice against Kirby because he did not know him personally.

Kennedy Asks Authority To Buy U.N. Bonds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday asked Congress for authority to purchase up to $100 million in United Nations bonds to help meet the U.N.'s financial crisis but promptly ran into some cold reaction.

The President said in a special message that the world organization's money troubles were caused by the failure of Russia and other nations to share expenses of U.N. operations in the Middle East and the Congo.

Kennedy pointed out that if the bond issue is successful, member nations will have to repay their "fair share" as a matter of regular assessments or lose their votes in the U.N. General Assembly.

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., ranking Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, introduced the administration bill in the Senate and announced that the committee will start hearings Feb. 6.

"This bill," Sparkman said, "symbolizes the turning point to which the U.N. has come."

But a large chunk of congressional comments on the plan was bipartisanly sour, particularly in the House.

House Republican Whip Leslie C. Arends (Ill.) said bluntly and briefly: "I'm against it."

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, called the plan "a phony". And Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio and a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said he objected because in the end, "the United States will be stuck for the whole bill."

Mortgage Firm Defies Probers

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Illinois Mortgage Corp. was ordered Tuesday to show why it should not be found guilty of contempt for failure to produce records before a federal grand jury.

The order was signed by U.S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins, who set a hearing on the order for Feb. 16.

A 1959 report to Illinois listed J. Kenneth Edlin as president of the firm. He now is awaiting sentencing for mail fraud in connection with the operation of First Colony Savings and Loan Association of Prince Frederick, Md. He pleaded no contest Dec. 8.

Edlin was not listed in the 1960 report of Illinois Mortgage, but his wife was listed as president. The 1962 report listed William L. Robinson as president.

Robinson is vice president of First Continental Savings and Loan Association of Chevy Chase, Md., now in receivership. State officials have said Edlin controlled First Continental.

Boy Hitching Train Ride Electrocuted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A boy hitching a ride on a railroad boxcar grabbed an 11,000-volt power line Tuesday and was killed in a ball of flame.

A workman on the Pennsylvania Railroad train, Bradford Shenbrook, 60, of Baltimore, said the boy apparently lost his balance as the train started and grabbed at the overhead wire from which the Pennsylvania's electric locomotives derive power.

"There was a noise like a shotgun and the boy rocketed from the car in a ball of flame," Shenbrook said.

Former Employe Of Bank Charged In Embezzlement

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) —A former employe of Citizens Bank of Maryland at Riverdale was held in lieu of $1,000 bond Tuesday after a hearing on embezzlement charges before U. S. commissioner Samuel W. H. Meloy.

Anthony Ferraro Jr., 30, of Colmar Manor, who was arrested earlier in the day by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was charged with embezzlement of more than $3,000.

A formal complaint authorized by Asst. U. S. Atty. Stephen H. Sachs charged that the embezzlement was accomplished by diverting payments made by customers on loan accounts and by using fictitious loan accounts which had been entered in the bank's records.

AF Assurances Given Fairchild

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen from Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania were told Tuesday the Air Force will make sure that Fairchild Stratos Corp., Hagerstown, Md., will get every chance to bid on subcontracts.

The congressmen and company and union representatives met with J. S. Imirie, assistant secretary of the Air Force in charge of materiel procurement, to discuss work at the Fairchild plant and the unemployment problem of the Hagerstown area.

An aide of Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., quoted Imirie as saying the Air Force will make sure that Fairchild can bid on subcontracts in connection with large contracts for planes.

Imirie said the Air Force has long been interested in the F27, a prop jet, cargo and passenger plane which the company manufactured. However, no funds for such planes are now being requested.

One of the best opportunities for a more immediate work buildup at the plant, he said, lies in the direction of work for commercial aircraft for feeder lines.

The Air Force is said to be encouraging the buying of planes of the F2u type for Air Force reserves.

The Maryland delegation, after the meeting arranged by Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., reached an informal agreement to try for authorization and money for F27 planes for the Air Force.

Magistrate Is Indicted

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Anne Arundel County grand jury has indicted trial magistrate Ralph C. Boyd on charges of bribery, conspiracy to demand and receive a bribe and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

The three indictments, containing nine counts, were made public Tuesday.

Boyd, 35, is trial magistrate at Ferndale. He is also secretary and a member of the Anne Arundel County Democratic State Central Committee.

The grand jury said Boyd, unlawfully and corruptly demanded and received on Nov. 9, 1961, a bribe of $150 from George Raymond Hoeck Jr., 29, formerly of Pasadena and now residing in Catonsville. It also charged him with conspiring with former patrolman Donald L. Mooney to commit the bribe.

State Police said the case involved traffic charges against Hoeck.

Nine inches of snow hit Maine. New England braced for its coldest weather of the winter.

SFIC Is Fined $1,350 For Rate Change Attempt

BALTIMORE (AP) — Security Financial Insurance Corp. (SFIC) was fined $1,350 Tuesday for attempting to change its rate plan without first seeking the approval of the State Insurance Department.

F. Douglass Sears, the state insurance commissioner, said the firm was fined $50 for each of 27 violations of the law for the first offense.

Security Financial is the only private company licensed in Maryland to insure deposits in savings and loan associations.

SFIC officials appeared at a hearing on formal charges Jan. 19 after Sears' office learned that letters requesting prepayment of premiums were sent to 27 savings and loan companies whose deposits the firm insured.

David F. Woods, former president of SFIC, said the rate change was to build up assets.

The firm's attorneys, Keith L. Seegmiller and Irving Wilner, contended the rate change was valid under a decision handed down by Sears' office some 18 months earlier.

Under that decision, SFIC was permitted to seek prepayment of three years' premiums in an amount equal to 1 per cent of the total free share balances of the insured associations.

But Sears said the SFIC board of directors passed a resolution last October to amend all outstanding policies providing for prepayment of future premiums in an amount equal to 2 per cent of the free shares insured.

Thirteen associations paid various amounts to SFIC after letters were sent out last Dec. 22, Sears said, and nine of them completed the prepayments.

The penalties, described in an opinion drafted by Sears, were for SFIC'S "failure to file with the . . . insurance commissioner an endorsement changing the method of premium payments by its policy holders and its attempting to put such change into effect without the approval of the . . . commissioner."

Chestertown Freedom Ride Planned

By The Associated Press

The Civic Interest Group of Maryland said Tuesday it had finalized plans for a freedom ride Saturday to Chestertown, the Kent County seat.

Leo Burroughs, a spokesman for the group, said the riders will assemble Saturday at 11 a.m. at Douglas Memorial Community Church in Baltimore and arrive in Chestertown at about 2 p. m. He said they will go to Bethel AME Church to receive their assignments. They will return to the church at 7 p. m. for a mass rally.

Burroughs said the riders will come from New Haven, Conn., Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York City and Washington. He said many of the local residents of Chestertown are expected to join the demonstrators.

The CIG also reaffirmed plans to conduct a freedom ride this Saturday to Cambridge, where about 30 Negro high school students picketed Tuesday for less than an hour in front of four restaurants.

Police said the pickets apparently had not taken part in previous demonstrations in Cambridge, which had resulted in more than 30 arrests of white segregationists and student sit-ins.

Meanwhile, officials of Easton and Talbot County were asked to attend a meeting on race relations Wednesday in Easton, and the city's mayor, Sherwood M. Hubbard, announced plans for creation of a bi-racial commission.

Several local officials, who asked not to be identified, said they would not attend the Wednesday meeting because they regarded a circular in which the invitation was extended as an ultimatum.

The circular warned "that your indifference or absence (from the meeting) will be counted as a vote against the welfare of a large segment of the population."

The notice, signed by the Rev. E. A. Hughes, said the meeting would be sponsored by ministers of Negro congregations and several civic and fraternal organizations which were not otherwise identified.

One of the best opportunities for a more immediate work buildup at the plant, he said, lies in the direction of work for commercial aircraft for feeder lines.

The Air Force is said to be encouraging the buying of planes of the F2u type for Air Force reserves.

The Maryland delegation, after the meeting arranged by Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., reached an informal agreement to try for authorization and money for F27 planes for the Air Force.

Magistrate Is Indicted

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Anne Arundel County grand jury has indicted trial magistrate Ralph C. Boyd on charges of bribery, conspiracy to demand and receive a bribe and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

The three indictments, containing nine counts, were made public Tuesday.

Boyd, 35, is trial magistrate at Ferndale. He is also secretary and a member of the Anne Arundel County Democratic State Central Committee.

The grand jury said Boyd, unlawfully and corruptly demanded and received on Nov. 9, 1961, a bribe of $150 from George Raymond Hoeck Jr., 29, formerly of Pasadena and now residing in Catonsville. It also charged him with conspiring with former patrolman Donald L. Mooney to commit the bribe.

State Police said the case involved traffic charges against Hoeck.

Cold Wave Moves Into Eastern U.S.

By United Press International

Winter tightened its grip on the Middle West and Northeast Tuesday.

A harsh blast out of Canada sent temperatures tumbling in the Great Lakes region.

A storm pushing ahead of the cold wave spread a highway-icing blanket of snow from the Great Lakes to the Canadian maritime provinces.

Nine inches of snow hit Maine. New England braced for its coldest weather of the winter.

SFIC Is Fined $1,350 For Rate Change Attempt

BALTIMORE (AP) — Security Financial Insurance Corp. (SFIC) was fined $1,350 Tuesday for attempting to change its rate plan without first seeking the approval of the State Insurance Department.

F. Douglass Sears, the state insurance commissioner, said the firm was fined $50 for each of 27 violations of the law for the first offense.

Security Financial is the only private company licensed in Maryland to insure deposits in savings and loan associations.

SFIC officials appeared at a hearing on formal charges Jan. 19 after Sears' office learned that letters requesting prepayment of premiums were sent to 27 savings and loan companies whose deposits the firm insured.

David F. Woods, former president of SFIC, said the rate change was to build up assets.

The firm's attorneys, Keith L. Seegmiller and Irving Wilner, contended the rate change was valid under a decision handed down by Sears' office some 18 months earlier.

Under that decision, SFIC was permitted to seek prepayment of three years' premiums in an amount equal to 1 per cent of the total free share balances of the insured associations.

But Sears said the SFIC board of directors passed a resolution last October to amend all outstanding policies providing for prepayment of future premiums in an amount equal to 2 per cent of the free shares insured.

Thirteen associations paid various amounts to SFIC after letters were sent out last Dec. 22, Sears said, and nine of them completed the prepayments.

The penalties, described in an opinion drafted by Sears, were for SFIC'S "failure to file with the . . . insurance commissioner an endorsement changing the method of premium payments by its policy holders and its attempting to put such change into effect without the approval of the . . . commissioner."

Chestertown Freedom Ride Planned

By The Associated Press

The Civic Interest Group of Maryland said Tuesday it had finalized plans for a freedom ride Saturday to Chestertown, the Kent County seat.

Leo Burroughs, a spokesman for the group, said the riders will assemble Saturday at 11 a.m. at Douglas Memorial Community Church in Baltimore and arrive in Chestertown at about 2 p. m. He said they will go to Bethel AME Church to receive their assignments. They will return to the church at 7 p. m. for a mass rally.

Burroughs said the riders will come from New Haven, Conn., Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York City and Washington. He said many of the local residents of Chestertown are expected to join the demonstrators.

The CIG also reaffirmed plans to conduct a freedom ride this Saturday to Cambridge, where about 30 Negro high school students picketed Tuesday for less than an hour in front of four restaurants.

Police said the pickets apparently had not taken part in previous demonstrations in Cambridge, which had resulted in more than 30 arrests of white segregationists and student sit-ins.

Meanwhile, officials of Easton and Talbot County were asked to attend a meeting on race relations Wednesday in Easton, and the city's mayor, Sherwood M. Hubbard, announced plans for creation of a bi-racial commission.

Several local officials, who asked not to be identified, said they would not attend the Wednesday meeting because they regarded a circular in which the invitation was extended as an ultimatum.

The circular warned "that your indifference or absence (from the meeting) will be counted as a vote against the welfare of a large segment of the population."

The notice, signed by the Rev. E. A. Hughes, said the meeting would be sponsored by ministers of Negro congregations and several civic and fraternal organizations which were not otherwise identified.

Heart Fund Business Unit Makes Start

The Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association has made final preparations for the launching of its "Heart Days for Business" fund campaign which will start Thursday and continue through Saturday, February 10.

A total of 22 local and area professional and business men will chairman drives in various sections of the city and LaVale in a canvass to provide businessmen an opportunity to contribute to the Heart Fund campaign, held annually during February.

Armed with the facts that heart and blood vessel diseases are responsible for the loss of more than 69 million man-days of production each year and that these diseases pose a constant threat to men and women in their productive years, business drive volunteers will be soliciting donations for the 10-day period.

Leaders of the "Heart Days for Business" drive and the areas they will chairman, each assisted by four or five other volunteers, are as follows:

Dr. Robert E. Shrout, chiropractors in the Columbia, Glenn, Davidson, Henry, Valley, Bond, Pulaski, Shriver, Walnut and Furnace street sections.

Dr. Robert M. Wood, local dentists; Milton Gerson, members of the Allegany Bar Association; C. Glenn Watson Jr., again the South Cumberland business; Julius E. Schindler, Liberty Trust Building offices; Glenn W. Sonner, businesses from 19 to 153 North Mechanic Street.

Dennis McIntyre, businesses from 157 to 832 North Mechanic Street; John J. Rorick, and Earl Nonnenmann, North Centre Street; Michael Wright, Frederick, Decatur, and Bedford streets; John D. Diehl and Edward Zucker, Baltimore Street.

Francis Sweene, upper Baltimore Avenue; James C. Bauer, Wineow, Williams and Harrison streets; James D. Eisenberger, Union, South Liberty, and George streets; James Conlon, South Mechanic and Pershing streets; B. Frank Malden, Knox Street and Henderson Avenue.

Gordon Leatherman, also Henderson Avenue; Howard D. Taylor, Greene Street; David E. Kirk, Fayette, Paca, North and South Lee streets, Patterson Avenue, and Kelly Boulevard; George A. Flynn, North Williams Street, and Floyd (Sam) Cozad, LaVale.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association, urged those conducting the "Heart Days for Business" campaign to turn donations collected into the local association office by February 15.

James W. Webster, Jr., general chairman for the Heart Fund Campaign, made a plea to local and area businessmen and professional people to contribute to the Heart fund. Webster cited benefits already reaped by these people through the Heart Fund dollars.

He said that now, through Heart Association programs, three out of four heart attack victims return to work; high blood pressure can be controlled, thus keeping thousands on the job; many cases of stroke can be treated effectively and invalidism reduced or prevented, and rheumatic fever can now be prevented.

He noted that heart attack is the greatest health threat to businessmen between 45 and 65, and that heart and circulatory diseases wipe out years of investment in training key executives and skilled labor — at a cost of one billion dollars annually due to work loss.

Buchanan Lumber Company Is Sold

The Buchanan Lumber Company announced yesterday arrangements have been completed for the sale of its company to John W. H. Buchanan.

The Buchanan Lumber Company was established in 1910 by Howard Buchanan, father of the new owner. Following his death in 1936, the business was continued and expanded under the management of his sons. It is one of the largest lumber companies in the Tri-State area.

In 1933 the company opened a branch yard in Altoona, Pa., which was managed by John Buchanan until 1952 when he became vice-president of the parent company, and general manager of both Cumberland and the Altoona yards. Early this year the Altoona branch of the company was sold to the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company of Philadelphia.

Buchanan states that he will continue to operate the business at 549 North Centre Street and that no changes in the personnel or policies of the company are contemplated.

Youth Is Given Suspended Term

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday imposed a five-year suspended sentence on Alvin E. Harden, 17, of Morgantown, on a charge of forgery.

The youth was convicted of forgery in the amount of $105.89 and the court ordered him to make restitution and be of good behavior. He will also have to report to James Lewis, state probation officer.

S. B. VAN PELT

Local Naval Pilot Hurt In 'Copter Crash

A local Navy ensign, another officer and two crewmen were injured recently when the helicopter in which they were making a routine flight crashed in a heavily wooded area in Surrey County, Va.

The local man, Ens. Sterley B. Van Pelt, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Van Pelt, 206 Fairfax Street, suffered severe sprains of both ankles and is still hospitalized at the base hospital, Norfolk, Va. The other three men in the craft suffered painful injuries.

According to accounts received here, Ens. Van Pelt and the three others who are members of HS-7 (rescue squadron) attached to the USS Randolph, were making a routine flight January 18 when the engine "froze" at 800 feet. The craft plummeted into a heavily wooded area a large section of which was set afire.

Ens. Van Pelt and one of the crewmen were taken to the Army hospital at Newport News, Va., and later transferred to the Norfolk base hospital where he is expected to remain another week or 10 days.

Ens. Van Pelt, 22, was co-pilot of the helicopter at the time of the crash.

Ens. Van Pelt entered the Navy two years ago and received his wings as a helicopter pilot June 30, 1961, at Pensacola, Fla.

He was graduated from Fort Hill High School and was enrolled in pre-engineering at Frostburg State Teachers College for two years prior to entering service.

St. Mary's School Gets Two Flags; Program Held

United States and Maryland State Flags were presented to St. Mary's School at a ceremony recently at the school on Oldtown Road.

The flags were presented by Raymond Beck in behalf of his grandsons, Michael and Pat Brady, who are St. Mary's students. The two boys presented the flags to Sister Ruth Ann, school principal.

At the request of Beck, Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming served as master of ceremonies at the ceremony attended by the entire student body and faculty, the Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and the Rev. James V. Hobbs, assistant pastor.

The Boy Scout troop of St. Mary's raised the flags, the student body gave the Pledge of Allegiance and sang "America."

The American Flag was one flown over the Capitol in Washington and obtained through the cooperation of U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall. The Maryland Flag is one which has flown over the State House in Annapolis and was obtained through the cooperatoin of William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, and Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

County Mails Tax Notices To Delinquents

The meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday was routine.

County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff informed the board that his office has sent out 3,400 delinquent tax notices.

Commissioner John T. Mason informed the board that a total of $600,000, plus three per cent interest, has been withdrawn from deposit under the investment program the county had placed in effect last year.

The board gave full status as an orderly at the County Infirmary to Harry Thomas Williams, who has completed the probationary six-month period. An extension in the leave of absence of Mrs. Helen Henderson, a practical nurse at the Infirmary, has been granted for another three months. She is taking care of her mother, who is ill.

C. Lee Renaud, director of the County Planning and Zoning Commission, was granted an extension in the time for submitting a budget. Renaud said he wants to ascertain how much federal money the county is eligible for under a program of the Housing and Home Agency.

Permission was granted to the Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association to place surplus tax funds received for the special taxing area in a saving account. John R. Shoup, secretary of the association, said the surplus bond fund monies are idle and having them in a savings account will provide needed funds at a later date.

Joseph Jenkins, Avenue G, Potomac Park, appeared before the board to inquire about damage to his property from water washing into his home and garden. He was told that the matter is a civil one and not the responsibility of the board.

Prospective ACC Students Reminded Of Deadline

William H. Smerling, registrar of Allegany Community College, yesterday reminded prospective students they should have documents for admission to the college on file before the registration days, Wednesday and Thursday.

Smerling said early filing of documents will insure the student that his records are complete, and that he is qualified to pursue his studies.

A course in property and casualty insurance has been added for the coming term, Dr. Robert S. Zimmer said. The instructor will be Paul Wagner, who was described as a qualified teacher by Dr. Zimmer.

The course, in which much interest has been noted, was approved by F. Douglass Sears, Maryland's Commissioner of Insurance, as meeting the prerequisites for a state licensing examination.

Dr. Zimmer said Allegany College is one of six institutions in the state that has received approval for the course. As scheduled, classes will be conducted on Saturdays from 9 a. m. to 3:50 p. m. Interested persons should contact the college for further information, with Dr. Zimmer stressing that it should be done prior to the registration days.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available
Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drugstore. Now available without prescription.

Heart Fund Business Unit Makes Start

The Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association has made final preparations for the launching of its "Heart Days for Business" fund campaign which will start Thursday and continue through Saturday, February 10.

A total of 22 local and area professional and business men will chairman drives in various sections of the city and LaVale in a canvass to provide businessmen an opportunity to contribute to the Heart Fund campaign, held annually during February.

Armed with the facts that heart and blood vessel diseases are responsible for the loss of more than 69 million man-days of production each year and that these diseases pose a constant threat to men and women in their productive years, business drive volunteers will be soliciting donations for the 10-day period.

Leaders of the "Heart Days for Business" drive and the areas they will chairman, each assisted by four or five other volunteers, are as follows:

Dr. Robert E. Shrout, chiropractors in the Columbia, Glenn, Davidson, Henry, Valley, Bond, Pulaski, Shriver, Walnut and Furnace street sections.

Dr. Robert M. Wood, local dentists; Milton Gerson, members of the Allegany Bar Association; C. Glenn Watson Jr., again the South Cumberland business; Julius E. Schindler, Liberty Trust Building offices; Glenn W. Sonner, businesses from 19 to 153 North Mechanic Street.

Dennis McIntyre, businesses from 157 to 832 North Mechanic Street; John J. Rorick, and Earl Nonnenmann, North Centre Street; Michael Wright, Frederick, Decatur, and Bedford streets; John D. Diehl and Edward Zucker, Baltimore Street.

Francis Sweene, upper Baltimore Avenue; James C. Bauer, Wineow, Williams and Harrison streets; James D. Eisenberger, Union, South Liberty, and George streets; James Conlon, South Mechanic and Pershing streets; B. Frank Malden, Knox Street and Henderson Avenue.

Gordon Leatherman, also Henderson Avenue; Howard D. Taylor, Greene Street; David E. Kirk, Fayette, Paca, North and South Lee streets, Patterson Avenue, and Kelly Boulevard; George A. Flynn, North Williams Street, and Floyd (Sam) Cozad, LaVale.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association, urged those conducting the "Heart Days for Business" campaign to turn donations collected into the local association office by February 15.

James W. Webster, Jr., general chairman for the Heart Fund Campaign, made a plea to local and area businessmen and professional people to contribute to the Heart fund. Webster cited benefits already reaped by these people through the Heart Fund dollars.

He said that now, through Heart Association programs, three out of four heart attack victims return to work; high blood pressure can be controlled, thus keeping thousands on the job; many cases of stroke can be treated effectively and invalidism reduced or prevented, and rheumatic fever can now be prevented.

He noted that heart attack is the greatest health threat to businessmen between 45 and 65, and that heart and circulatory diseases wipe out years of investment in training key executives and skilled labor — at a cost of one billion dollars annually due to work loss.

Buchanan Lumber Company Is Sold

The Buchanan Lumber Company announced yesterday arrangements have been completed for the sale of its company to John W. H. Buchanan.

The Buchanan Lumber Company was established in 1910 by Howard Buchanan, father of the new owner. Following his death in 1936, the business was continued and expanded under the management of his sons. It is one of the largest lumber companies in the Tri-State area.

In 1933 the company opened a branch yard in Altoona, Pa., which was managed by John Buchanan until 1952 when he became vice-president of the parent company, and general manager of both Cumberland and the Altoona yards. Early this year the Altoona branch of the company was sold to the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company of Philadelphia.

Buchanan states that he will continue to operate the business at 549 North Centre Street and that no changes in the personnel or policies of the company are contemplated.

St. Mary's School Gets Two Flags; Program Held

United States and Maryland State Flags were presented to St. Mary's School at a ceremony recently at the school on Oldtown Road.

The flags were presented by Raymond Beck in behalf of his grandsons, Michael and Pat Brady, who are St. Mary's students. The two boys presented the flags to Sister Ruth Ann, school principal.

At the request of Beck, Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming served as master of ceremonies at the ceremony attended by the entire student body and faculty, the Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and the Rev. James V. Hobbs, assistant pastor.

The Boy Scout troop of St. Mary's raised the flags, the student body gave the Pledge of Allegiance and sang "America."

The American Flag was one flown over the Capitol in Washington and obtained through the cooperation of U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall. The Maryland Flag is one which has flown over the State House in Annapolis and was obtained through the cooperatoin of William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, and Gov. J. County Mails Tax Notices To Delinquents

The meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday was routine.

County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff informed the board that his office has sent out 3,400 delinquent tax notices.

Commissioner John T. Mason informed the board that a total of $600,000, plus three percent interest, has been withdrawn from deposit under the investment program the county had placed in effect last year.

The board gave full status as an orderly at the County Infirmary to Harry Thomas Williams, who has completed the probationary six-month period. An extension in the leave of absence of Mrs. Helen Henderson, a practical nurse at the Infirmary, has been granted for another three months. She is taking care of her mother, who is ill.

C. Lee Renaud, director of the County Planning and Zoning Commission, was granted an extension in the time for submitting a budget. Renaud said he wants to ascertain how much federal money the county is eligible for under a program of the Housing and Home Agency.

Permission was granted to the Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association to place surplus tax funds received for the special taxing area in a saving account. John R. Shoup, secretary of the association, said the surplus bond fund monies are idle and having them in a savings account will provide needed funds at a later date.

Joseph Jenkins, Avenue G, Potomac Park, appeared before the board to inquire about damage to his property from water washing into his home and garden. He was told that the matter is a civil one and not the responsibility of the board.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drugstore. Now available without prescription.

Shower Party Is Given

Mrs. James M. Dickinson entertained with a baby shower in honor of Mrs. Robert E. Brant, Cumberland, at her home in Cresaptown Friday. The decorations were in pink and blue, and a white stork served as a centerpiece, surrounded by pink and blue streamers.

Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Gerald Arthur, Mrs. N. E. Graft Jr., Mrs. Donnelly Kidwell and Mrs. Robert Brant.

Other guests were Mrs. Clarence E. Brant, Mrs. C. Eugene Mason, Miss Marilyn Heiskell, Mrs. George J. Pollock, Miss Bette Jane Sandy, Uniontown, Pa., and Mrs. Charles L. Wilson, Smock, Pa.

Service Day Observance Sunday

A former missionary to Sierra Leone, West Africa, Mrs. Lloyd S. Bowman will be the guest speaker at the World Service Day services at First and Potomac Park Evangelical United Brethren churches Sunday. Mrs. Bowman is vice president of the Virginia Branch of the Women's Society of World Service. She taught several years in Sierra Leone and later at Bob Jones University. Her husband is pastor of the Manassas, Va., EUB Church; and their son is pastor at the Franklin, W. Va., EUB Church.

"Fellow Workmen with God" is the theme for the services. Mrs. E. E. Miller will preside at the 10 a. m. service at First church. Mrs. Ralph Isiminger will read the Scripture and lead the litany and prayer. The adult choir will sing under the direction of Joseph S. Shuman and the children's choir, directed by Mrs. William Brake, with Mrs. Herbert Nesbitt accompanist, will sing two selections. Mrs. William Knotts will be in charge of the offering and Dr. E. E. Miller give the benediction. Mrs. Richard Cook, Mrs. Milton Johnson, Mrs. Walter Long and Mrs. Thomas Smith are to be the ushers.

Mrs. John Zink will preside at the 11 a. m. service at Potomac Park church, with Mrs. Edward Shaffer reading the Scripture and litany. The objectives of the offering will be presented by Mrs. Kenneth Crowe. Rev. George Widmyer wil loffer the benediction. Special music will be presented by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Horace Mills. Ushers will be Mrs. Herbert Witt, Mrs. Arthur Long, Mrs. Lee Fairgrieve and Mrs. Verdun Shaffer.

The offering taken at the services is to be used to help establish four new mission churches at Security Village, Colo., Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada; Villa Consuelo, Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, and Cologne, Germany.

Other projects being supported are a grade school addition, McCurdy School, Santa Cruz, New Mexico, expansion of the seminary in Sierra Leone and a home for the aged in Kazo, Japan.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Post 136, American Legion, will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at the post home, Ridgeley.

Planning Group 5 of the Farm Bureau will hold a meeting and covered dish supper at 7 p. m. tomorrow at the Square Circle Club house, Eckhart.

Soroptimist Citizenship Contest Is Being Held

The Soroptimist Club of Cumberland, in conjunction with the Soroptimist International Association, is sponsoring a citizenship award. The competition is limited to Cumberland high schools.

An award of $2,500 each will be given to two graduating seniors. It is to be judged on the merit and worth of the applicant. To qualify, the applicant must have taken an active part in service in the home, the school and community, with a high degree of cooperation, courtesy and consideration for others. The applicant must have executed responsibilities with truthfulness, loyalty and punctuality; demonstrated ability to lead with self control, dignity and responsibility; and have pursued selected endeavors with sincerity and integrity.

The candidate must be of good moral character, and have shown a genuine interest in family, community, national and world affairs. Substantiating evidence in the form of letters written by three adults not related to the candidate must accompany the application.

Applicants are to write an essay not to exceed 250 words on "My Responsibility as a Citizen, in the Family, in the Community, and in the World." Judges will be Dr. Lillian C. Compton, Mrs. Florence Yankelevitz, of the Youth Commission, and Miss Mary Walsh, of the Allegany County Library.

Suitable recognition will be given by the Cumberland Soroptimists to the local winner, plus a $25 United States Saving Bond, regardless of results in the regional and national competition.

Applications may be obtained from Miss Jeannette Bonig, Associated Charities office, City Hall. They must be completed by February 10. All applications and supporting information become the property of the Soroptimist Foundation.

Final plans for a benefit card party and hat design show will be completed at a special meeting of the local club Friday. It will be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, following the executive board dinner at 5:30. Mrs. Blanch Mantell will preside. The party, with hats by Miss May Tomlinson, will be held February 9 at the Woman's Civic Club house, 515 Washington Street. Miss Bonig and Miss Olive Hurlburt are to be the commentators. Proceeds are for the Cumberland Branch, Maryland Workshop for the Blind.

Barton High School Alumni will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Barton Elementary School auditorium, with Miss Mary Catherine Miller in charge.

Class To Buy Equipment

Plans to purchase altar cloths and matching stoles for the senior choir were discussed at the meeting of the Skyles Memorial Bible class of St. Mark's United Church of Christ, held in the church social room.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Myrtle Brode. The group decided to hold a rummage sale February 27 and continue the project of supplying flowers for the Sunday morning church service, and for shut-ins for Easter and Christmas. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Margaret Clapp and the Scripture was read by Mrs. Margaret Baker. Mrs. Eleanor Hafer, Mrs. Thelma McIlwee and Mrs. Cleda Flora were named hostesses for the February 28 meeting.

Following the meeting a social hour was held and prizes won by Mrs. Gussie Crabtree and Mrs. Flora. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Brode and Mrs. Baker. Others present were Mrs. Elsie Kerr, Mrs. Idella Hartsock, Mrs. Dorothy Oster, Mrs. Jennie Kauffman, Miss Ruth Paupe, Mrs. Louise Shober, Mrs. Ruth Moore, Mrs. Lorene Bittner, Mrs. Martha Miller and Mrs. Mildred Beall.

Cresaptown Firemen's Auxiliary will meet at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Edna Hounshell.

B'er Chayim Sisterhood will have Harry Stegmaier speak on the "Loves of Lincoln" at the meeting today at 12:30 in the vestry room.

Club 514 Discusses Projects

Serving the Marines for the inspection in March was discussed at the meeting of the Navy Mothers Club 514 conducted by Mrs. Gloria Barnstricker Friday evening at the American Legion home.

Another project of the club is serving dinner for the Seabees when they meet the third Saturdays and Sundays. Members who served this month were Mrs. Maude Sutherland, Mrs. Margaret Dunlap and Mrs. Blanch Lueck.

A report of the ways and means and cheer cards was given by Mrs. Lucille Bartlett. The prize donated by Mrs. Rosalie Everstine was won by Mrs. Neus. A games party concluded the evening and refreshments were served by Mrs. Helene Bujac, Mrs. McDermott, Mrs. Everstine and Mrs. Sutherland. Seventeen members attended. The next meeting will be February 9.

Club Organizes Altar Society

An altar society was formed by the St. Patrick's Mother's Club at a meeting conducted by Mrs. Eugene Keyser, in the social center. The group received Mrs. Florence Wolf, Mrs. Susan McGuire, Mrs. Ella McCullough and Mrs. Margaret Caligan as members. The dance to be held March 17 at the Cumberland Country Club was discussed.

Prayer was offered by Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny. Miss Pamela Painter and Mrs. Nellie Taylor reported. The former on speech defects and the latter on the hearing tests. Attendance banners were awarded the third, sixth and eleventh grades. Refreshments were served by the sixth and seventh grade mothers.

Bringing Up Baby.
HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

If baby is going through a particularly fussy teething period, it's best to delay starting new foods until he's his own cheerful self again. He might take a dislike to a food that may be hard to overcome.

Help in the soothing department comes in the shape of Gerber Teething Biscuits. Extra-hard, waffle surfaced, they provide the biting satisfaction baby wants and needs. Scalloped edges for easy grasping.

Favorite foods are your best bets when baby has teething trouble. You can encourage baby to eat more with delicious Gerber dishes like these: Gerber Dinners—garden-good vegetables blended with meat. Gerber High Meat Dinners—with 3 times as much meat as the Dinners and therefore much more protein. Vegetables are added for unusual flavor interest. And for lots of high quality protein,* plus valuable vitamins and minerals—Gerber Meats for Babies—100% selected Armour meat, with just enough broth to enhance the texture.

Armour Meat Protein is complete protein, supplying all the essential amino acids that build and re-build vital body tissues.

Coordination tends to come to active babies sooner than to placid ones. But remember, physical development does not follow a rigid timetable. If active babies acquire skills faster, it's probably because they make a greater effort.

Active or placid babies need plenty of protein for strength and muscle development. Besides the aforementioned meat dishes . . . Gerber Egg Yolks offer a good source of protein, plus iron and vitamin A. A delicate fresh-egg flavor and a dreamy, creamy texture make for downright delectable eating. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, (UPI) — If you saw "Light in the Piazza," you'll understand why Guy Green wants Yvette Mimieux for "Diamond Head." She is so enjoyable in this entertaining motion picture as the simple child-like teen-age daughter.

Director Green told me that just a few legal details have to be ironed out before Columbia borrows Yvette from MGM. What a trio — Charlton Heston, George Chakiria, and that doll Mimieux!

Yvette returned over the weekend from Paris where she went for the premiere of "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

Joan Collins' departure from England kicked up such a fuss that the incident is going to be aired in Parliament by Frederick Burden, one of the British lawmakers. Seems that when Joan took off for Hollywood, her boyfriend, actor-writer Anthony Newling boarded the plane which is strictly against airport regulations.

Now Burden is asking his fellow parliamentarians why Newling was allowed to break this rule. He's going to see that the regulations are tightened. Joan knows nothing about this, and it may interest her.

Steve Allen is writing the music and lyrics for "Sophie," a movie based on the life of Sophie Tucker which Len Bedsow and Hal Grossman are bringing to the screen. Steve has started work and within the next few weeks will fly to New York to confer with the one and only Sophie, the last of the red hot mamas.

The story of her life will be something, and they should get Sophie to sing "Some of These Days" as the finale.

A breathless voice—"I am fifteen minutes late in calling you," came from Carol Lawrence whose motion picture "A View From the Bridge" opened in New York a week ago and broke house records. I sounded dumb because I didn't know she had a telephone date with me.

I first saw Carol in "West Side Story" on the stage. She has a beautiful singing voice, is a charming dancer, and now has proved she's a good dramatic actress. She is on the stage in "Subways Are For Sleeping."

"I want to make another motion picture," said Carol. "Arthur Miller's 'View From the Bridge' was my first. I did it both in French and English, and studied for the three weeks in Paris where we shot some of the scenes."

"How could you learn French that quickly?" I asked.

"I'm a born mimic," she answered.

Quite a switch coming up for Roddy MacDowall. His role in "Cleopatra" winds up in May and immediately Roddy heads for London where he will star in a remake of Hall Caine's "The Christian" for Sir Carol Reed.

If you think I'm going to own up to remembering the original "Christian" which was made back in the Dark Ages by Vitagraph starring Earl Williams — you're crazy. But my nana done tole me it was a fine drama and one of the big hits of the day!

For the last twelve years the bobby soxers of America have sent me their annual poll in which 137,000 members in fifty states vote. This year Sally Boyd, Southern California chapter president, turns in the following winners which she says represent votes in all states:

Battle Of The Century! Vanity Versus Vitality

It's amazing, when you think about it, that the world should be giving so much thought to "survival" when so many of its best-endowed inhabitants have yet to learn what it means to "live" in the full sense of the word!

Vitality is a beautiful expression of the meaning of life as it exists through the natural functioning of the human organism. This obedience of the body to nature and her changes is an orderly process, as miraculous in its procedure as the response of the universe to the great forces that command it.

We cut into our vitality in such small ways that the scars hardly seem to count for much. It seems so much more important, at the time, to satisfy our own vanity, instead.

Women are usually greater offenders than men in these small acts of subversion against self. Men are more likely to hold out longer, although discouragement may eventually drive them off the deep end and into more serious and violent abuse of their health and well being.

What are some of the small ways women hurt themselves? They refuse to wear eyeglasses when they should. They clamp their feet into "the latest" shoes, however ill-fitting. They cram their bodies into veritable instruments of torture just to imitate the current fashion in figures, whatever the damage to their innards and their breathing apparatus.

They resort to a gypsy choice in cosmetics without any serious heed to skin care. They torment their hair past all the points-of-warning they read on the labels of chemical preparations. They neglect their mouths — but they are "afraid" to go to the dentist. They have all the time in the world for the nonsense that taxes them physically . . . but no time for regular medical checkups.

They go on crash diets and freak food binges, inviting malnutrition yet willing to trade anything for wasp waists they were never intended to have. They would let a nonstop round of activities whirl them into the early old age that comes from fatigue — rather than admit to anyone that they cannot carry ten times their load (with one hand tied behind those stiff backs!).

I wish I could tell all these foolish women, personally, to wake up and face up to the facts about themselves. I wish I could hear them pledge, seriously, to KEEP the laws of nature that continue to govern vitality in spite of physical changes.

Because I cannot reach all of them, I hope you'll help me, For, without their good example in teaching the art of living to generations to come, simple survival means little indeed.

The sooner the better . . . when it comes to guiding girls in their understanding of the beauty of living. There's a sound and sensible start for them in a booklet designed especially for the adolescent years: "Personality Plus Through Diet." Send 25c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper — and your copy will be delivered in two weeks.

Hazelwood Gets Contract For Dam

The George F. Hazelwood Company of Cumberland has been awarded the contract to construct a dam in Grant County as a part of the Mt. Storm Power Station of Virginia Electric and Power Company.

Work is scheduled to begin on March 15 with the target date for completion set for November 1963, an official of the local firm announced.

The dam will be on Stony River about two miles southwest of Bismarck. A 1,200-acre reservoir will be formed to furnish cooling water for the proposed Mt. Storm Power Station.

The dam will be a rock-filled earthen structure approximately 150 feet high and 1,600 feet long with concrete spillway and flow control gates.

About 1,500 cubic yards of material will be required for the construction of the dam.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are in our middle 40s. We've always wanted children but were never blessed. A few years ago we made the rounds of adoption agencies but were told that we were "too old."

My niece is 17 and pregnant. There is no husband in sight. We have offered to pay her living expenses in another city plus the medical bills in exchange for her baby. She is willing and so are her parents.

Our clergyman is a rock-headed conservative who is strongly opposed to the idea. He said "Write to Ann Landers. She'll give it to you straight between the eyes." So? ? ? — WAITING

DEAR WAITING: I'm not in favor of adoption by relatives unless both parents are deceased. A pregnant girl "with no husband in sight" is likely ot be panicky and would agree to anything.

She could change her mind when the baby is a few months (or years) old and cause you plenty of trouble. It is always a risky situation when the mother knows the whereabouts of her child. You could be forever at the mercy of a neurotic woman. Don't do it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Over the Christmas holidays I had an out of town guest. She is a cute girl, 17 years old, and I had no trouble getting her dates. In fact, every fellow who saw her wanted to take her out.

During Easter vacation I'm going to have another 17-year-old guest, my father's daughter by his first marriage. I'll call her Linda. What a spook! She's taller than most fellows and she weighs more too. If she had a pleasant personality it would help but she's real dullsville.

My mother says I can't go out during Easter vacation unless Linda has a date, too. If I fixed her up with any of the fellows in our crowd it would be the end of our friendship. What can I do?

—EASTER AGONY

DEAR AGONY: Here's a compromise: Give a party — open house affair. Invite all likely (or unlikely) prospects. After the fellows meet Linda it's up to them to ask her for a date if they are interested.

If no one crashes through I see no reason why you should sit at home with her every evening. Of course you shouldn't go out every night and leave her. If you split it down the middle your mother should be satisfied.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to reply to "Idiot Wife" since that letter could has been written by me 15 years ago.

I, too, married an attractive, intelligent man and everyone wondered how I got so lucky. I always felt inferior to him and he did absolutely nothing to bolster my ego.

One day I realized I was living a 12th century life in a 20th century world. My husband and I were 800 years and at least a million miles apart. So I did something about it.

I went on a diet, and decided to loosen up and spend some money on clothes and in the beauty parlor. Then I got myseld a darned good job. I took some night school courses and sharpened my mind. I began to read good books, attend lectures and get interested in the world around me.

Today I have a fine position in the busines world and my husband treats me with respect. Idiot Wife is a fool to sit around and vegetate. What I have done, she can do, too. —IDIOT'S DELIGHT

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, (UPI) — If you saw "Light in the Piazza," you'll understand why Guy Green wants Yvette Mimieux for "Diamond Head." She is so enjoyable in this entertaining motion picture as the simple child-like teen-age daughter.

Director Green told me that just a few legal details have to be ironed out before Columbia borrows Yvette from MGM. What a trio — Charlton Heston, George Chakiria, and that doll Mimieux!

Yvette returned over the weekend from Paris where she went for the premiere of "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

Joan Collins' departure from England kicked up such a fuss that the incident is going to be aired in Parliament by Frederick Burden, one of the British lawmakers. Seems that when Joan took off for Hollywood, her boyfriend, actor-writer Anthony Newling boarded the plane which is strictly against airport regulations.

Now Burden is asking his fellow parliamentarians why Newling was allowed to break this rule. He's going to see that the regulations are tightened. Joan knows nothing about this, and it may interest her.

Steve Allen is writing the music and lyrics for "Sophie," a movie based on the life of Sophie Tucker which Len Bedsow and Hal Grossman are bringing to the screen. Steve has started work and within the next few weeks will fly to New York to confer with the one and only Sophie, the last of the red hot mamas.

The story of her life will be something, and they should get Sophie to sing "Some of These Days" as the finale.

A breathless voice—"I am fifteen minutes late in calling you," came from Carol Lawrence whose motion picture "A View From the Bridge" opened in New York a week ago and broke house records. I sounded dumb because I didn't know she had a telephone date with me.

I first saw Carol in "West Side Story" on the stage. She has a beautiful singing voice, is a charming dancer, and now has proved she's a good dramatic actress. She is on the stage in "Subways Are For Sleeping."

"I want to make another motion picture," said Carol. "Arthur Miller's 'View From the Bridge' was my first. I did it both in French and English, and studied for the three weeks in Paris where we shot some of the scenes."

"How could you learn French that quickly?" I asked.

"I'm a born mimic," she answered.

West Virginia Welfare Work Plan Will End

Commissioner Calls It Poor Answer

By BURL OSBORNE

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — West Virginia's federally backed "work for your welfare check" plan is being junked as a poor answer to the state's economic problems, State welfare Commissioner W. Bernard Smith said Tuesday.

The move possibly spells—or coincides with—the end of President Kennedy's federal aid to dependent children of the unemployed.

Smith, in Washington this week to confer with federal welfare officials, said he recommended to Welfare Secretary Ribicoff that Congress substitute expansion of job retraining and job producing programs for the present grants to unemployed family heads.

The present program—which grants up to $165 a month to able-bodied unemployed fathers and assigns them to state work—hasn't solved any long-range problems. It has put money into the state's economy, but some 62,000 West Virginians were unemployed this month.

"Nobody ever thought ADCU (Aid to dependent children of the unemployed) would solve the unemployment problem," the commissioner said. "but when you can't get industry, you get money from any source you can."

Smith said his main purpose in recommending the program to the West Virginia Legislature last year was to "get money into the economy."

At present, it seems that ADCU may be on the way out, both here and in Washington.

While Secretary Ribicoff has said the Democratic administration will ask Congress for extension on a permanent basis of the 1961 temporary program making federal funds available to children of unemployed fathers, no specific provision has been listed among upcoming bills.

And the West Virginia Legislature spending measures. If no action is taken, the plan—which cost $4.93 million in state funds and a $15 million in federal matching money—will expire June 30.

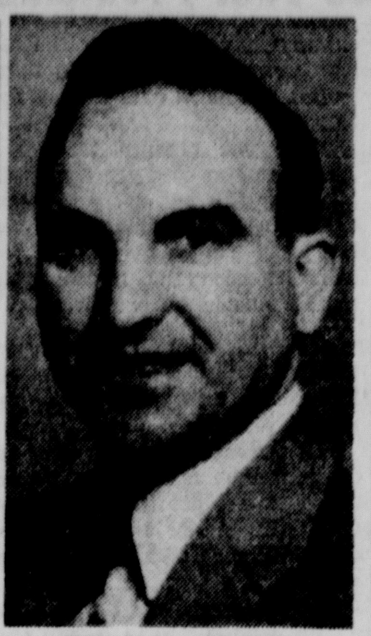
Street Commissioner Will Seek Re-Election



WILLIAM PRESTON

FROSTBURG — Street Commissioner William Preston became the first candidate for a councilman's post here in the April 3 election when he filed for re-election yesterday. Mr. Preston said he is seeking the street commissioner's position for a third term.

Mr. Preston attended Beall High School, served in World War II and the Korean conflict. He is presently employed as area sales representative for the Snap-on Tool Company.

He is a member of the Frostburg Fire Department, Post No. 24 American Legion, The Young Men's Republican Club, Alvin C. Neat Post V.F.W. and past commander of the former John R. Fairgrieve Post V.F.W. He also has served on the board of directors of the Allegany County Heart Association, and also is very well known in the role of Frostburg's Santa Claus.

In reviewing his work with the street department and city administration, Mr. Preston states he has been active in further improving the city's recreational facilities, having remodeled and painted the grandstand at the community park, added additional picnic tables to the area, increased parking facilities, had a pavilion erected and instituted the installation of public toilet facilities.

Under his leadership, the street department continued its street repair and re-surfacing program, having regraded and resurfaced 17 streets in the past two years, and opened Centennial Street through to Centennial Street Extended. He has revamped the city-wide garbage and trash collections and has set up a regular street sweeping and cleaning schedule. During the winter months, Mr. Preston has divided the street crews into day and night shifts to take care of sudden snow and sleet storms and instituted the use of rock salt to alleviate hazardous driving conditions.

Mr. Preston also stated that because of increased work loads and necessity to keep pace with progress and meet emergencies, the following additional equipment was purchased and pressed into service. A back hoe and loader, a dump truck, air compressor, pick-up truck, and two snow plows, bringing Frostburg's total to 19 pieces of equipment.

If re-elected Mr. Preston stated he will continue to improve and add to the recreational and parking facilities at the community park, continue the street re-surfacing program as rapidly as the citizens approve, institute the study of opening two additional streets, namely; Hill Street to Grant Street and Welsh Street to Uhl Street. He also stated he would continue in his efforts toward the most feasible and economic method of sewage disposal for Frostburg, and hopes to initiate dividing the street crews into three divisions to better facilitate snow removal, street cleaning and trash and garbage collection, and to continue to progress as meets the needs of the citizens. Mr. Preston is married to the former Miss Betty James. They have two daughters, Gail age 7 and Ren's age 4 months, and the entire family are members of the Shaft Methodist Church. He is a son of Anna E. and the late William C. Preston and has been a lifelong resident of Frostburg.

United Group Plans Dinner For March 5

Tri-Towns Unit Details Uncertain

PIEDMONT—The date for the annual membership dinner of the United Organizations has been tentatively set for Monday, March 5.

The nominating committee headed by Elmer J. Shaver comprised of Mrs. Benjamin Mamolen, Sebastian Barbarito and Mrs. Robert E. Kimmel Jr., was appointed by William Thompson, president, at the meeting of the group Monday evening at the Piedmont Library.

This committee will make its report at the dinner meeting to be followed by the election and installation of the new officers.

They plan to have an out of town speaker. It will be a dutch treat affair. Members, wives and husbands are invited as well as a representative or more from each organization in the Tri-Towns.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, executive secretary, reported that the expenses for the month of December amounted to $2,618.08 which also included the distribution of 130 Christmas baskets. The provision for these baskets amounted to about $1,800.

Besides the foodstuff in the baskets, 75 families who have children received toys for them.

Shaver reported the receipts from the Salvation Army kettles amounted to $216.50. These kettles were manned a week before Christmas by representatives of various organizations in the community. These receipts were turned over to the S. A. in Cumberland. The Salvation Army distributes more in foodstuff in the Tri-Towns area than they receive from the kettles at Christmas time.

Report from the boys forestry camps near Lonaconing and New Germany by Rev. Levi Ziegler, pastor of the Westernport Church of the Brethren and Alton R. Fortney. Each boy in these camps received a gift. This project was sponsored by the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association.

Piedmont Council 685, Knights of Columbus, repaired and painted many of the usable toys distributed and members of the Beta Sigma Phi conditioned the dolls and dressed them. Many other individuals assisted in these projects.

It was announced that four pairs of crutches have been purchased for loan to adults and children.

William Paizell, who visits older citizens each week, said they appreciated the Christmas baskets they received.

Mr. Thompson reported that Mrs. Bessie Taylor has been hired as assistant to the executive secretary.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♣

A finesse will normally offer a 50-50 chance for success and, in calculating probabilities, a player can rely on this figure. However there are times when the human elements make it abundantly clear that a particular finesse does not enjoy the proverbial Chinaman's chance. In that case reaching for a straw perhaps offers a better prospect.

The bidding here is standard. South's hand revalues to the equivalent of an opening bid when spades are raised, so that his jump to game is quite proper.

Had West made any lead other than the one he chose declarer would have had no prayer. But West selected the jack of clubs, a type of lead which we look upon with special disfavor. To declarer it appeared that everything depended on West's having the king of clubs, so he put in the queen. East won and switched to a low diamond. The defenders quickly cashed out three tricks in the suit, and the contract was defeated a trick.

The chances of West having the king of clubs were nothing resembling even money. To play him to lead the jack from king, jack and one is much too fanciful. A far better chance would be to play East for a "fall guy," put up the ace of clubs at trick one, draw two trumps ending up in dummy, and then play the seven of clubs. East finds himself in an unenviable position. If partner's lead is to be taken at its face value, West has led from the jack, ten, small [or the jack, ten] and, if East puts up the king, declarer may ruff and have two high clubs in dummy.

There is a rather good chance that East will duck and, when the ten of clubs holds, declarer returns to dummy with a high spade and puts thru the queen of clubs, ruffing out East's king and establishing dummy's eight for a much needed discard.

Ky. Professor Speaks About Appalachian Life

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—"The pattern of formal organization which is so important to America today is often not evident in Appalachia because the kinship system performed so many of the functions formal organizations perform in American communities at large," said Dr. James S. Brown, associate professor of rural sociology at the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Brown made this statement in a discussion at the Living Resources Forum at West Virginia University Monday afternoon.

The Kentucky expert on the Appalachian family, who received his Ph. D. degree from Harvard University in 1950, said that the Appalachian family fits into the rough, broader pattern called the American family. But because of differences it makes sense to speak of the Appalachian family as a "variety" of the American family.

"The Appalachian family is larger; our birth rate continues to be high," Dr. Brown explained. "The Appalachian family probably is more stable in that it is less often broken by divorce. Like the American family in general, the key group in the Appalachian kinship structure is the conjugal family—that is, the husband, wife and their immature children. But the emphasis of the kinship structure in Appalachia is somewhat less on the conjugal family and somewhat more on wider kinship relationships. In other words, the extended family is more important," he added.

Dr. Brown, who did his undergraduate work at Berea College in Kentucky, pointed out that the Appalachian family is less 'child-centered' in the usual modern meaning of this phrase because parents there are not so permissive. There is more reliance on physical punishment. Because of the importance of the extended family, the Appalachian child often is not so dependent just on his parents and siblings for his emotional needs and affection. Perhaps the socialization of children is less exclusively carried out by the mother, although the mother is still dominant. There is less stress on 'modern,' 'rational,' and 'scientific' methods of rearing the young and perhaps for that reason not so much uncertainty and concern with problems of children.

The Kentucky professor said that, as in America at large, young people in Appalachia go through the stresses and strains of adolescence. In some of the isolated areas that he has studied, the family and community controlled young people much more at this period, he declared.

"I believe we still have less juvenile delinquency in Appalachia. The lower marriage age of Appalachian young people helps cut the cap between biological maturity and social maturity. There is, I suspect, less emphasis on romantic love in Appalachia. Perhaps the fact that there is more support and more pressure from the family and community makes such emphasis not so necessary as in America at large."

Among a few of the disadvantages of Appalachian families cited by Dr. Brown were these:

"These systems tend to take on something of a 'caste' aspect in some areas—it is very hard for an individual to 'leave his family behind' and be evaluated on the basis of his own achievements. The family has such a monopoly of socializing the individual that it is hard for individuals to shift from traditional and local patterns of value and behavior for more modern, perhaps more rational values and patterns. This monopoly, especially in the days when the school systems were so inadequate, has made it very difficult to reach the individual with new ideas. The localism, personalism and subjectivity of our region are all related to its family system too. Often these traits are great disadvantages in our modern world."

Apple Blossom Invitations Are Issued

WINCHESTER, Va. — Invitations to participate in the grand feature parade of the 1962 Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival May 4 have been mailed to 180 units in 14 states and the District of Columbia.

The invitations, extended by Daniel T. Grimes and Kenneth C. Patton, co-directors of the parade, have been sent to high school, college and university bands, military schools, marching units, drum and bugle corps, organizations and individuals. The prospective units are located in Florida, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia.

Classifications for the parade include college, prep school and high school cadet bands, high school bands through 60 pieces, high school bands of 61 pieces or more, drum and bugle corps, marching units and drum majors and drum majorettes associated with bands and drum and bugle corps.

The parade will feature more than 60 floats, three of which will be adorned by Queen Shenandoah XXXV, the Apple Blossom princesses and "Miss Shenandoah Apple Blossom."

This spring, for the eighteenth year, the entire personnel for administration of the three-hour long parade will be furnished by the Winchester Lions Club. More than 115 men will serve as committee members, starters and placers, and foot marshals. Parade directors are also members of the Lions Club.

An entire unit of antique automobiles, with owner-drivers from the Virginias, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, North Carolina and other states will lead off the parade at 1:30 p. m.

Youth Charged In Car Theft

KEYSER — State Police have apprehended a 17-year-old area youth for the theft of an automobile here last Wednesday.

The RD 3 youth was arrested Saturday and upon questioning admitted taking the Mercedes-Benz sports car belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stafford, of 2 Fort Avenue.

The automobile reportedly was parked in front of the law building where Mrs. Stafford is employed. Mrs. Stafford told police she left the keys in the car's ignition.

The auto was recovered late Thursday near Waxler Church, after a trucker notified Mrs. Stafford that he had seen it parked along the road. The vehicle was apparently crashed into an embankment, with approximately $100 damage caused.

The youth told police he had been dating a Keyser girl and that his own car had been wrecked earlier in the week, and he wanted to ride out Waxler Road to his home. He noticed the keys in the Stafford automobile and took it.

He was released under $1,000 bond for an appearance in Juvenile Court. His stepfather and mother posted the bond before Magistrate Madalyn Bazzle.

The furlong, or 220 yards, originally meant the length of a furrow that oxen supposedly could plow without stopping to rest.

West Virginia Welfare Work Plan Will End

Commissioner Calls It Poor Answer

By BURL OSBORNE

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — West Virginia's federally backed "work for your welfare check" plan is being junked as a poor answer to the state's economic problems, State welfare Commissioner W. Bernard Smith said Tuesday.

The move possibly spells—or coincides with—the end of President Kennedy's federal aid to dependent children of the unemployed.

Smith, in Washington this week to confer with federal welfare officials, said he recommended to Welfare Secretary Ribicoff that Congress substitute expansion of job retraining and job producing programs for the present grants to unemployed family heads.

The present program—which grants up to $165 a month to able-bodied unemployed fathers and assigns them to state work—hasn't solved any long-range problems. It has put money into the state's economy, but some 62,000 West Virginians were unemployed this month.

"Nobody ever thought ADCU (Aid to dependent children of the unemployed) would solve the unemployment problem," the commissioner said, "but when you can't get industry, you get money from any source you can."

Smith said his main purpose in recommending the program to the West Virginia Legislature last year was to "get money into the economy."

At present, it seems that ADCU may be on the way out, both here and in Washington.

While Secretary Ribicoff has said the Democratic administration will ask Congress for extension on a permanent basis of the 1961 temporary program making federal funds available to children of unemployed fathers, no specific provision has been listed among upcoming bills.

And the West Virginia Legislature spending measures. If no action is taken, the plan—which cost $4.93 million in state funds and a $15 million in federal matching money—will expire June 30.

Street Commissioner Will Seek Re-Election

FROSTBURG — Street Commissioner William Preston became the first candidate for a councilman's post here in the April 3 election when he filed for re-election yesterday. Mr. Preston said he is seeking the street commissioner's position for a third term.

Mr. Preston attended Beall High School, served in World War II and the Korean conflict. He is presently employed as area sales representative for the Snap-on Tool Company.

He is a member of the Frostburg Fire Department, Post No. 24 American Legion, The Young Men's Republican Club, Alvin C. Neat Post V.F.W. and past commander of the former John R. Fairgrieve Post V.F.W. He also has served on the board of directors of the Allegany County Heart Association, and also is very well known in the role of Frostburg's Santa Claus.

In reviewing his work with the street department and city administration, Mr. Preston states he has been active in further improving the city's recreational facilities, having remodeled and painted the grandstand at the community park, added additional picnic tables to the area, increased parking facilities, had a pavilion erected and instituted the installation of public toilet facilities.

Under his leadership, the street department continued its street repair and re-surfacing program, having regraded and resurfaced 17 streets in the past two years, and opened Centennial Street through to Centennial Street Extended. He has revamped the city-wide garbage and trash collections and has set up a regular street sweeping and cleaning schedule. During the winter months, Mr. Preston has divided the street crews into day and night shifts to take care of sudden snow and sleet storms and instituted the use of rock salt to alleviate hazardous driving conditions.

Mr. Preston also stated that because of increased work loads and necessity to keep pace with progress and meet emergencies, the following additional equipment was purchased and pressed into service. A back hoe and loader, a dump truck, air compressor, pick-up truck, and two snow plows, bringing Frostburg's total to 19 pieces of equipment.

If re-elected Mr. Preston stated he will continue to improve and add to the recreational and parking facilities at the community park, continue the street re-surfacing program as rapidly as the citizens approve, institute the study of opening two additional streets, namely; Hill Street to Grant Street and Welsh Street to Uhl Street. He also stated he would continue in his efforts toward the most feasible and economic method of sewage disposal for Frostburg, and hopes to initiate dividing the street crews into three divisions to better facilitate snow removal, street cleaning and trash and garbage collection, and to continue to progress as meets the needs of the citizens. Mr. Preston is married to the former Miss Betty James. They have two daughters, Gail age 7 and Ren's age 4 months, and the entire family are members of the Shaft Methodist Church. He is a son of Anna E. and the late William C. Preston and has been a lifelong resident of Frostburg.

United Group Plans Dinner For March 5

Tri-Towns Unit Details Uncertain

PIEDMONT—The date for the annual membership dinner of the United Organizations has been tentatively set for Monday, March 5.

The nominating committee headed by Elmer J. Shaver comprised of Mrs. Benjamin Mamolen, Sebastian Barbarito and Mrs. Robert E. Kimmel Jr., was appointed by William Thompson, president, at the meeting of the group Monday evening at the Piedmont Library.

This committee will make its report at the dinner meeting to be followed by the election and installation of the new officers.

They plan to have an out of town speaker. It will be a dutch treat affair. Members, wives and husbands are invited as well as a representative or more from each organization in the Tri-Towns.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, executive secretary, reported that the expenses for the month of December amounted to $2,618.08 which also included the distribution of 130 Christmas baskets. The provision for these baskets amounted to about $1,800.

Besides the foodstuff in the baskets, 75 families who have children received toys for them.

Shaver reported the receipts from the Salvation Army kettles amounted to $216.50. These kettles were manned a week before Christmas by representatives of various organizations in the community. These receipts were turned over to the S. A. in Cumberland. The Salvation Army distributes more in foodstuff in the Tri-Towns area than they receive from the kettles at Christmas time.

Report from the boys forestry camps near Lonaconing and New Germany by Rev. Levi Ziegler, pastor of the Westernport Church of the Brethren and Alton R. Fortney. Each boy in these camps received a gift. This project was sponsored by the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association.

Piedmont Council 685, Knights of Columbus, repaired and painted many of the usable toys distributed and members of the Beta Sigma Phi conditioned the dolls and dressed them. Many other individuals assisted in these projects.

It was announced that four pairs of crutches have been purchased for loan to adults and children.

William Paizell, who visits older citizens each week, said they appreciated the Christmas baskets they received.

Mr. Thompson reported that Mrs. Bessie Taylor has been hired as assistant to the executive secretary.

Shaft Auxiliary Re-Elects Officers

FROSTBURG — The Auxiliary of the Shaft Volunteer Fire Company met a recent evening and re-elected Mildred Landenfeld as president; Della Wade, vice-president; Kathleen Wilson, secretary; Muriel McNeil, treasurer; Marion Ritchie, chaplain; Kathleen Wilson, Dorothy Sweitzer and Gertrude Carder, trustees, and Della Wade, Welfare.

The next meeting will be held February 6.

Nurse Passes State Exams

FROSTBURG — Janet Ruffo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ruffo, 64 Ormond Street has been notified that she has passed the State Board Examination for nurses held in Baltimore last November. Miss Ruffo received above average grades. She graduated from Beall High School in 1958 and from Memorial Hospital School of nursing in 1961. At the present she is a member of the West Virginia University Medical Center in Morgantown.

Zoologists believe they have discovered how jellyfish can tell which way is up. A small organ called the ilthocyst, situated at the base of the tentacles, contains a freely-moving granule which falls on sensory hairs around it. The granule corresponds to the fluid in the semi-circular canals of vertebrates.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♣

A finesse will normally offer a 50-50 chance for success and, in calculating probabilities, a player can rely on this figure. However there are times when the human elements make it abundantly clear that a particular finesse does not enjoy the proverbial Chinaman's chance. In that case reaching for a straw perhaps offers a better prospect.

The bidding here is standard. South's hand revalues to the equivalent of an opening bid when spades are raised, so that his jump to game is quite proper.

Had West made any lead other than the one he chose declarer would have had no prayer. But West selected the jack of clubs, a type of lead which we look upon with special disfavor. To declarer it appeared that everything depended on West's having the king of clubs, so he put in the queen. East won and switched to a low diamond. The defenders quickly cashed out three tricks in the suit, and the contract was defeated a trick.

The chances of West having the king of clubs were nothing resembling even money. To play him to lead the jack from king, jack and one is much too fanciful. A far better chance would be to play East for a "fall guy," put up the ace of clubs at trick one, draw two trumps ending up in dummy, and then play the seven of clubs. East finds himself in an unenviable position. If partner's lead is to be taken at its face value, West has led from the jack, ten, small [or the jack, ten] and, if East puts up the king, declarer may ruff and have two high clubs in dummy.

There is a rather good chance that East will duck and, when the ten of clubs holds, declarer returns to dummy with a high spade and puts thru the queen of clubs, ruffing out East's king and establishing dummy's eight for a much needed discard.

Ky. Professor Speaks About Appalachian Life

MORGANTOWN, W Va.—"The pattern of formal organization which is so important to America today is often not evident in Appalachia because the kinship system performed so many of the functions formal organizations perform in American communities at large," said Dr. James S. Brown, associate professor of rural sociology at the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Brown made this statement in a discussion at the Living Resources Forum at West Virginia University Monday afternoon.

The Kentucky expert on the Appalachian family, who received his Ph. D. degree from Harvard University in 1950, said that the Appalachian family fits into the rough, broader pattern called the American family. But because of differences it makes sense to speak of the Appalachian family as a "variety" of the American family.

"The Appalachian family is larger; our birth rate continues to be high," Dr. Brown explained. "The Appalachian family probably is more stable in that it is less often broken by divorce. Like the American family in general, the key group in the Appalachian kinship structure is the conjugal family—that is, the husband, wife and their immature children. But the emphasis of the kinship structure in Appalachia is somewhat less on the conjugal family and somewhat more on wider kinship relationships. In other words, the extended family is more important," he added.

Dr. Brown, who did his undergraduate work at Berea College in Kentucky, pointed out that the Appalachian family is less 'child-centered' in the usual modern meaning of this phrase because parents there are not so permissive. There is more reliance on physical punishment. Because of the importance of the extended family, the Appalachian child often is not so dependent just on his parents and siblings for his emotional needs and affection. Perhaps the socialization of children is less exclusively carried out by the mother, although the mother is still dominant. There is less stress on 'modern,' 'rational,' and 'scientific' methods of rearing the young and perhaps for that reason not so much uncertainty and concern with problems of children.

The Kentucky professor said that, as in America at large, young people in Appalachia go through the stresses and strains of adolescence. In some of the isolated areas that he has studied, the family and community controlled young people much more at this period, he declared.

"I believe we still have less juvenile delinquency in Appalachia. The lower marriage age of Appalachian young people helps cut the cap between biological maturity and social maturity. There is, I suspect, less emphasis on romantic love in Appalachia. Perhaps the fact that there is more support and more pressure from the family and community makes such emphasis not so necessary as in America at large."

Among a few of the disadvantages of Appalachian families cited by Dr. Brown were these:

"These systems tend to take on something of a 'caste' aspect in some areas—it is very hard for an individual to 'leave his family behind' and be evaluated on the basis of his own achievements. The family has such a monopoly of socializing the individual that it is hard for individuals to shift from traditional and local patterns of value and behavior for more modern, perhaps more rational values and patterns. This monopoly, especially in the days when the school systems were so inadequate, has made it very difficult to reach the individual with new ideas. The localism, personalism and subjectivity of our region are all related to its family system too. Often these traits are great disadvantages in our modern world."

Apple Blossom Invitations Are Issued

WINCHESTER, Va. — Invitations to participate in the grand feature parade of the 1962 Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival May 4 have been mailed to 180 units in 14 states and the District of Columbia.

The invitations, extended by Daniel T. Grimes and Kenneth C. Patton, co-directors of the parade, have been sent to high school, college and university bands, military schools, marching units, drum and bugle corps, organizations and individuals. The prospective units are located in Florida, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia.

Classifications for the parade include college, prep school and high school cadet bands, high school bands through 60 pieces, high school bands of 61 pieces or more, drum and bugle corps, marching units and drum majors and drum majorettes associated with bands and drum and bugle corps.

The parade will feature more than 60 floats, three of which will be adorned by Queen Shenandoah XXXV, the Apple Blossom princesses and "Miss Shenandoah Apple Blossom."

This spring, for the eighteenth year, the entire personnel for administration of the three-hour long parade will be furnished by the Winchester Lions Club. More than 115 men will serve as committee members, starters and placers, and foot marshals. Parade directors are also members of the Lions Club.

An entire unit of antique automobiles, with owner-drivers from the Virginias, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, North Carolina and other states will lead off the parade at 1:30 p. m.

Youth Charged In Car Theft

KEYSER — State Police have apprehended a 17-year-old area youth for the theft of an automobile here last Wednesday.

The RD 3 youth was arrested Saturday and upon questioning admitted taking the Mercedes-Benz sports car belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stafford, of 2 Fort Avenue.

The automobile reportedly was parked in front of the law building where Mrs. Stafford is employed. Mrs. Stafford told police she left the keys in the car's ignition.

The auto was recovered late Thursday near Waxler Church, after a trucker notified Mrs. Stafford that he had seen it parked along the road. The vehicle was apparently crashed into an embankment, with approximately $100 damage caused.

The youth told police he had been dating a Keyser girl and that his own car had been wrecked earlier in the week, and he wanted to ride out Waxler Road to his home. He noticed the keys in the Stafford automobile and took it.

He was released under $1,000 bond for an appearance in Juvenile Court. His stepfather and mother posted the bond before Magistrate Madalyn Bazzle.

The furlong, or 220 yards, originally meant the length of a furrow that oxen supposedly could plow without stopping to rest.

Senior 4-H Club Meets In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Senior 4-H Club met a recent evening in the Frostburg Library with Helen Morgan presiding.

All 4-H project calendars were distributed. Each member is able to keep a record of her projects on this calendar. Record books are to be submitted to Eileen Morgan before the next meeting.

The group decided to set up a rule that if a member misses three consecutive meetings without a good excuse, her name automatically will be dropped from the roll. If a person is unable to attend, she should contact some member before the meeting and explain why.

Beth Muir presented a "telephone monologue" as her public speaking project.

Another interesting feature of the program was having a member give a short talk using a one-word theme. The word was given the member during this part of the program.

For the February meeting, Jerry Swauger and Patricia Finzel will give a demonstration on table setting.

The March meeting will be held at the Potomac Edison demonstration room with Miss Katherine Close, in charge. Each member is asked to bring an idea to the February meeting which she would like to see demonstrated at the March meeting.

IN KOREA — Pvt. James T. Kelley, husband of Mrs. Gilberta S. Kelley, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Kelley of Lonaconing, arrived in Inchon, Korea, on December 31 where he is serving with an Engineer Batallion. Pvt. Kelley was inducted into the U. S. Army July 18 and received his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He left Fort Ord, Calif., on December 9, for Korea and spent Christmas in Yokohama, Japan.

WVU President Is Optimistic About State

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginia University president Paul A. Miller expressed optimism about the state's future Monday night because while West Virginians "may have shared less in the fruits of industrial society than some...they have turned out to be hardier than most."

In his first major address since assuming the presidency Jan. 15, Miller told a "Living Resources Forum" here:

"This as much as anything else stirs my optimism and directs me to go to work. For myself, I believe that resource development takes place by work, ideas, strength of spirit, and courage, not by either manipulation of people or the rapping of their knuckles."

Miller, a 1939 agricultural graduate of WVU who came here from the post of provost at Michigan State, Miller discussed "The University and Resource Development."

Miller told the forum that modern society "builds on a thick base of applied science and technology and around an astounding skeleton of organization. Both of these are carried on and sustained by people of ability. Accordingly, technology, organization, and ability are the keys to the gate."

"On the other hand, it is also fair to say that knowledge won't help if it is surrounded by apathy; technology is of no use to the discouraged and the disinterested," he said.

Gas Company Official Will End Service Today

F. R. Cuppett, division superintendent of Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, will close 32 years of service today.

Mr. Cuppett is the superintendent of the gas company's Division 6, which is responsible for production, transmission and storage in Fayette, Somerset, Westmoreland and parts of Greene and Washington counties in southwestern Pennsylvania.

He began his career with the company in 1930 as a field worker and progressed steadily through various supervisory posts, attaining his present position in 1960.

Mr. Cuppett was born at Glade Farm, W. Va. He and his wife, Ruth, now live at Addison, Pa.

The Cuppetts' retirement plans include a trip to Florida or the Southwest. They were honored Saturday evening by a group of nearly 100 members of his operating division, neighbors and friends at a dinner at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club near Cumberland.

Senior 4-H Club Meets In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Senior 4-H Club met a recent evening in the Frostburg Library with Helen Morgan presiding.

All 4-H project calendars were distributed. Each member is able to keep a record of her projects on this calendar. Record books are to be submitted to Eileen Morgan before the next meeting.

The group decided to set up a rule that if a member misses three consecutive meetings without a good excuse, her name automatically will be dropped from the roll. If a person is unable to attend, she should contact some member before the meeting and explain why.

Beth Muir presented a "telephone monologue" as her public speaking project.

Another interesting feature of the program was having a member give a short talk using a one-word theme. The word was given the member during this part of the program.

For the February meeting, Jerry Swauger and Patricia Finzel will give a demonstration on table setting.

The March meeting will be held at the Potomac Edison demonstration room with Miss Katherine Close, in charge. Each member is asked to bring an idea to the February meeting which she would like to see demonstrated at the March meeting.

The state of Washington has more electric lights per capita than has any other state in the Union.

IN KOREA — Pvt. James T. Kelley, husband of Mrs. Gilberta S. Kelley, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Kelley of Lonaconing, arrived in Inchon, Korea, on December 31 where he is serving with an Engineer Batallion. Pvt. Kelley was inducted into the U. S. Army July 18 and received his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He left Fort Ord, Calif., on December 9, for Korea and spent Christmas in Yokohama, Japan.

Given Party

WVU President Is Optimistic About State

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginia University president Paul A. Miller expressed optimism about the state's future Monday night because while West Virginians "may have shared less in the fruits of industrial society than some...they have turned out to be hardier than most."

In his first major address since assuming the presidency Jan. 15, Miller told a "Living Resources Forum" here:

"This as much as anything else stirs my optimism and directs me to go to work. For myself, I believe that resource development takes place by work, ideas, strength of spirit, and courage, not by either manipulation of people or the rapping of their knuckles."

Miller, a 1939 agricultural graduate of WVU who came here from the post of provost at Michigan State, Miller discussed "The University and Resource Development."

Miller told the forum that modern society "builds on a thick base of applied science and technology and around an astounding skeleton of organization. Both of these are carried on and sustained by people of ability. Accordingly, technology, organization, and ability are the keys to the gate."

"On the other hand, it is also fair to say that knowledge won't help if it is surrounded by apathy; technology is of no use to the discouraged and the disinterested," he said.

Gas Company Official Will End Service Today

F. R. Cuppett, division superintendent of Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, will close 32 years of service today.

Mr. Cuppett is the superintendent of the gas company's Division 6, which is responsible for production, transmission and storage in Fayette, Somerset, Westmoreland and parts of Greene and Washington counties in southwestern Pennsylvania.

He began his career with the company in 1930 as a field worker and progressed steadily through various supervisory posts, attaining his present position in 1960.

Mr. Cuppett was born at Glade Farm, W. Va. He and his wife, Ruth, now live at Addison, Pa.

The Cuppetts' retirement plans include a trip to Florida or the Southwest. They were honored Saturday evening by a group of nearly 100 members of his operating division, neighbors and friends at a dinner at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club near Cumberland.

F. R. CUPPETT

Honored At Dinner

ELLERSLIE—Mrs. Foster Bittner was honored with a dinner by her children in honor of her birthday. Members present were Miss Pauline Bittner, Royce Thompson, Mrs. Shirley Thompson, Mrs. June Shaffer and son Kevin, Mrs. Anna Marie Emerick and son Ricky, Mrs. Pearl Hawks, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Clark, Herman Clark, Foster Bittner, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bittner of Schellsburg, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bittner of Glencoe, Pa.

Preston County Firm Seeks Boost

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) —The Public Service Commission has continued until March 19 hearings on an application by the Preston County Light & Power Co. to increase its rates by about $74,000 a year.

The PSC decided on the continuance following a day-long hearing during which it received testimony from several protestants, including Pittsburgh Valve Co.; Marquette Manufacturing Co. which operates a plant near Greer, Monongalia County, and representatives of Masontown and Reedsville customers.

New Judge Takes Oath

Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden, left, administers the oath of office to the new judge of the Orphans Court, Thomas R. Farrell, as J. French VanMeter, the new chief judge, looks on at center. Judge Farrell was appointed by Governor J. Millard Tawes to join Judges VanMeter and Hugh Stevenson on the three-member court.

Orphans Court Gets Democrat As New Judge

Thomas R. "Pat" Farrell, a retired Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employe, became the first Democrat to serve as judge of Allegany County Orphans Court in more than 15 years when he received the oath of office yesterday from Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Farrell was appointed over the weekend by Governor J. Millard Tawes to fill the vacancy caused by the death January 13 of Judge William C. Abbott of Lonaconing.

In 1943 and 1944, former Governor Herbert R. O'Conor, a Democrat like Governor Tawes, had two opportunities to appoint members of his own party as judges of Orphans Court. Chief Judge Bernard B. Young died on November 24, 1943, and John B Schellhaus was appointed to fill the vacancy.

R. Hillary Lancaster, a Republican like Judge Young, became chief judge after the latter's death but he died the following year, on June 15, 1944. Harry F. Uhl of Mt. Savage was appointed to fill that vacancy giving the Democrats two judges.

The election of November 5, 1946, assured the election of three Republicans and two of them are still serving. Judge Abbott ended the combination when he died just two days before his 90th birthday.

Judge J. French VanMeter, Cresaptown, assumed the post of chief judge of the court. The other member of the court is Judge Hugh Stevenson, Ellerslie. VanMeter is finishing his 24th year on the court while Stevenson is completing his 16th year on the bench.

Chief Judge VanMeter is a retired mercantile businessman and former manager of the old Ajax Concrete Products Company in LaVale. He is a member of the official board of Cresaptown Methodist Church. He has a married daughter in Wilmington, Del.; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Judge Stevenson is a retired manager of the old Andrew Ramsey Company and Maryland Pottery Corporation in Ellerslie. He is a member of the official board of the Ellerslie Methodist Church and has headed the church boys club for 25 years. He is a past president of the Allegany Beagle Club. Judges Stevenson and VanMeter have both filed for reelection subject to the Republican primary in May, and Judge Farrell also has filed.

Funds Asked For TB Work

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The House and Senate Finance Committees were asked Tuesday to provide an additional $15,000 in order that surgery now performed on tubercular patients at Hopemont Sanitarium at Terra Alta could be transferred to the West Virginia University Medical Center.

Institutions Commissioner Joseph E. Hodgson and Dean Clark K. Sleeth of the School of Medicine headed the group that appeared before the two committees.

Sleeth pointed out that the training program at WVU could be "greatly enhanced and expanded" by the addition of services to patients from Hopemont.

He said the increased availability of service should result in earlier surgical intervention in many instances and result in a shorter period at the sanitarium.

Hodgson said about 50 operations are now performed each year at Hopemont. He said the proposed program could reach the point where patients from other institutions might be transferred there and then to the Medical Center.

Red Cross Schedules First Aid Classes

W. E. Channell presided at a meeting of the first aid committee of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, held in the Civil Service Room at the Post Office Building.

Mr. Channell said the group hopes to be able to take care of all requests for first aid classes in the near future.

Two standard first aid classes are now in progress. The Wesley Fellowship Class of Emmanuel Methodist Church is sponsoring a class which started Monday at the church for congregation members. Robert Thwaites Jr. is instructor. Vincent DelaGrange is instructing a class of Ridgeley volunteer firemen which began last week.

A class is scheduled to begin February 13 at Midland Fire Hall for members of that community, instructed by Lewis C. Millholland Jr.

Arnold Will Begin Leave Tomorrow

Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold will make his last regular appearance at the Court House for five months today.

He will remain on a leave of absence from tomorrow until July 1 in order to take a special one-semester course at the University of Maryland. Mr. Arnold will register next Monday and will begin his classes on February 12.

Father Of 12 Fatally Hurt In Collision

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) — A widowed father of 12 children, whose wife was killed in a highway accident two years ago, was fatally injured when his car wrecked on an icy highway near here Monday night.

State Police said Herbert C. Streets, 65, of near Elkins, suffered a broken neck and crushed chest in the accident on W. Va. 332 about 11 miles south of here. Two passengers, one of them Streets' daughter, escaped with minor injuries.

Streets was a retired miner with five children still living at home. His wife was killed when struck by a truck while walking near their home two years ago. The family's old home burned down last month and they had moved into another house recently.

SS. Peter, Paul Scouts Elect

Troop Six, Boy Scouts, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association of SS. Peter and Paul parish, held an election of officers Monday during a regular meeting in the scout room of the parish hall.

M. Wayne Twigg was named senior patrol leader; Tommy Martin, Eagle patrol leader; Robert Fishell, Apache patrol leader; Rickey Harrison, troop scribe and Rickey Rollins, troop quartermaster.

Announcement was made of preparations for Winter Klondike Camporee February 10 and 11 in Cresaptown.

The regular winter camp is planned for the weekend of February 16-18 at Camp Potomac near Oldtown. James Painter was named a tenderfoot scout in the troop.

A charter presentation February 11 at 2 p. m. in the parish hall will be held in conjunction with a charter presentation of Pack Six sponsored by the PTA.

A short movie will be shown and refreshments will be served. Parents and friends of the groups are invited to the public meeting.

Nurse Appointed

Mrs. Frances Klosterman yesterday was given a probationary appointment as a practical nurse at Sylvan Retreat by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners. She has been on temporary duty there since June 1961.

Police Holding Man

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Police said Tuesday they are holding a 22-year-old man who twice burst into Premier David Ben-Gurion's office last week, claiming he had a "message from heaven" for the Israeli leader.

If you're one of the millions of car owners who should get their cars serviced this week, here's good news:

GALAXIE...
styling and performance leader of the full-size cars.

Ford eliminates 10 out of 12 service stops required by most cars!

FAIRLANE...
in a class by itself, right between compacts and big cars.

In a 1962 Ford Galaxie or Fairlane you can go all year—or 12,000 miles—with only two stops for service. This revolutionary new twice-a-year maintenance program—available only in the cars from Ford—frees you forever from the nag-nag-nag of month-after-month servicing. (See chart.) It's the biggest thing that's happened to cars since Ford introduced the 12-month or 12,000-mile warranty. See your Ford Dealer soon—and start saving time and money with the convenience of twice-a-year maintenance. It's another Ford first!*

Troop Six, Boy Scouts, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association of SS. Peter and Paul parish, held an election of officers Monday during a regular meeting in the scout room of the parish hall.

M. Wayne Twigg was named senior patrol leader; Tommy Martin, Eagle patrol leader; Robert Fishell, Apache patrol leader; Rickey Harrison, troop scribe and Rickey Rollins, troop quartermaster.

Announcement was made of preparations for Winter Klondike Camporee February 10 and 11 in Cresaptown.

The regular winter camp is planned for the weekend of February 16-18 at Camp Potomac near Oldtown. James Painter was named a tenderfoot scout in the troop.

A charter presentation February 11 at 2 p. m. in the parish hall will be held in conjunction with a charter presentation of Pack Six sponsored by the PTA.

A short movie will be shown and refreshments will be served. Parents and friends of the groups are invited to the public meeting.

Recently Merle Reedy, neighborhood commissioner for the troop attended the annual troop inspection in preparation for the charter review.

If you're one of the millions of car owners who should get their cars serviced this week, here's good news:

GALAXIE...

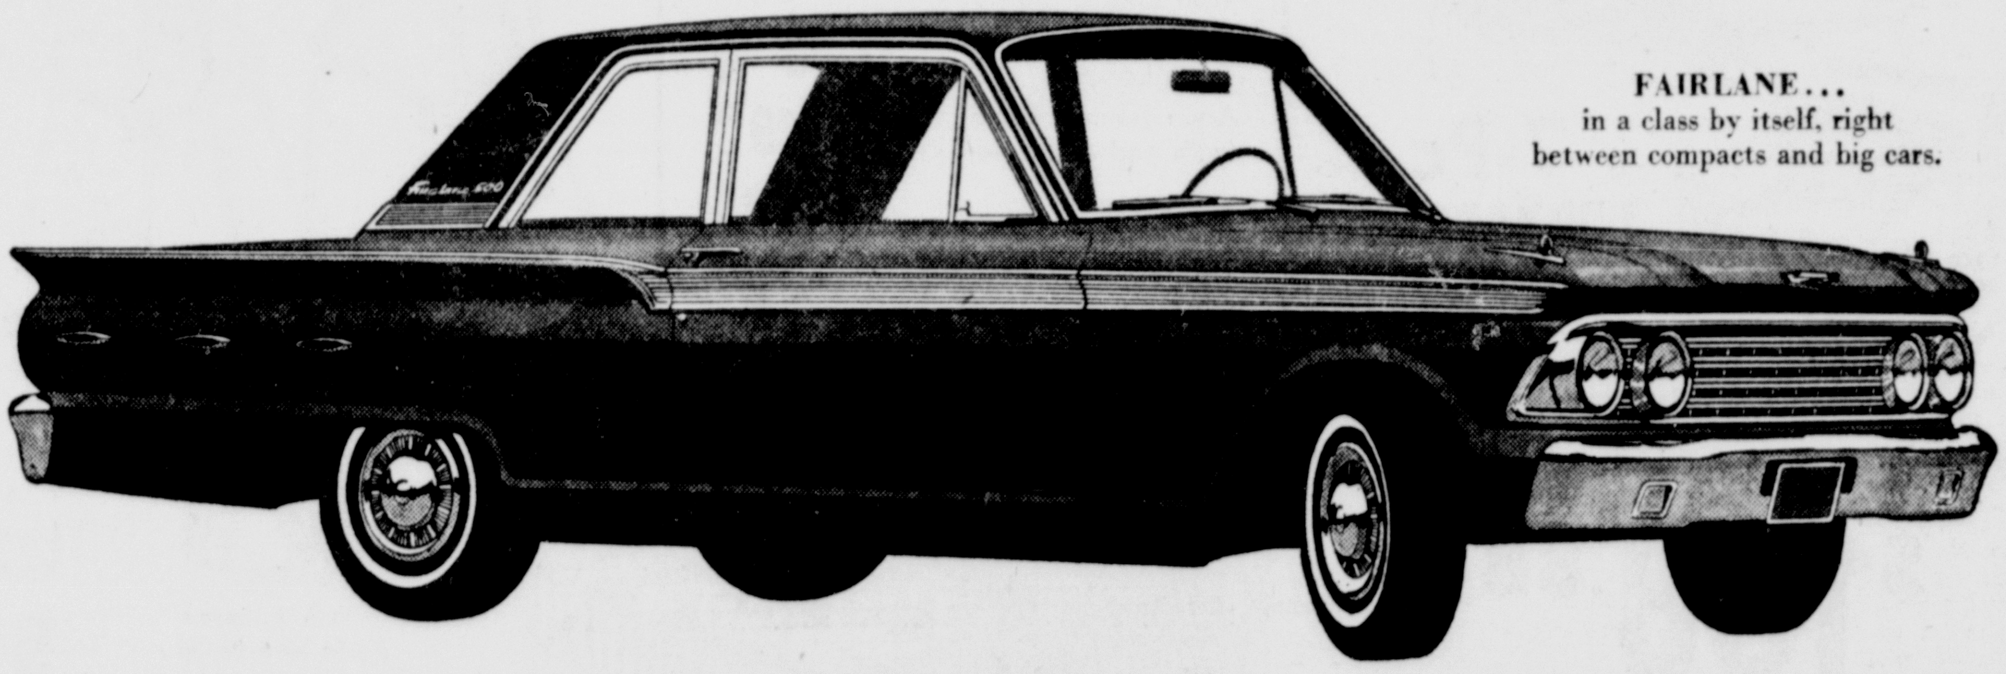
Ford eliminates 10 out of 12 service stops required by most cars!



FAIRLANE...
in a class by itself, right between compacts and big cars.

In a 1962 Ford Galaxie or Fairlane you can go all year—or 12,000 miles—with only two stops for service. This revolutionary new twice-a-year maintenance program—available only in the cars from Ford—frees you forever from the nag-nag-nag of month-after-month servicing. (See chart.) It's the biggest thing that's happened to cars since Ford introduced the 12-month or 12,000-mile warranty. See your Ford Dealer soon—and start saving time and money with the convenience of twice-a-year maintenance. It's another Ford first!*

U.S. Leads In Space Science

So well advanced is the United States space program today, it is difficult to believe the fourth anniversary of the first successful U. S. satellite launching is being observed. It seems as if the event occurred longer ago than on January 31, 1958.

Hundreds of successful missile and satellite launchings have followed the 1958 orbital achievement, but the excitement, the badly needed boost to morale provided by Explorer I is fresh in memory.

The U. S. is no longer considered a poor second in space endeavors. In the one area of rocket development still not equal to Russian claims — engine propulsion — the gap has been narrowed significantly. In all other areas of technical advantage, from most numerous and most varied satellites to the collection, transmission and evaluation of data from within and beyond the earth's atmosphere, there has never been any question about U. S. superiority.

Time disadvantages caused by a late start in space exploration are evaporating with each month. Now U. S. deficiencies, if any, in the field of orbital flights of manned capsules can be measured in months instead of years.

Five years was the predicted length of time needed for the U. S. to reach a superior position in all important areas of space activity when Explorer I made its successful tour around the globe. Only one year now remains, and it seems very much as if the deadline will be met.

No such spectacular progress in space should be expected in the next five years—by any country. The conquest of earth's position in the universe will be largely completed in the next year. From then on, the scene of activity will begin moving out—way out.

Men will not be camping on the moon in as short a period of time as it took to establish excursions around our planet. Perhaps the longer range and less spectacular progress will permit space exploration to settle back into proper perspective.

Until the sound of a human voice speaking from the other side of the moon comes back to tingle the spines of his fellow earthmen, that is.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

His Name Is Uncle Sam

One of the truly great editorials of all time appeared in the "New York Sun" in reply to a child, Virginia, who wanted to know whether there is a Santa Claus. The truth of the matter, of course, is that there is a Santa Claus, but he dwells only in the heart of the generous. He has no form, no style, no nationality, no particular religion. He is the embodiment of love.

Now along comes Robert G. Smith who wants to know if there is an Uncle Sam. He writes to ask:

"My name is not Virginia and I'm considerably more than nine years old but I, too, have a momentous question regarding a well-known character:

"Is there an Uncle Sam?

"You know who I mean,—the tall, rugged, white-haired figure in red-and-white-striped trousers, blue coat and star-spangled hat—traditional symbol of the American Way of Life.

"Is he still around? Or is he hiding out in the Green Mountains of Vermont? Or some other place like that?

"Some say Uncle Sam is a back number. They say Uncle Sugar Daddy is now top man in Washington, — doling out his assorted 'goodies' to his many nephews and nieces, his country cousins and foreign relations.

"They say patriotism is strictly for the birds—the vanishing Bald Eagle that is . . . .

"I suppose it's the old-fashioned Connecticut Yankee in me, or maybe my four years in the Navy during World War II, but I'm kinda hard to convince.

"Disturbed by the obvious lack of any national book of patriotic inspiration, and remembering that where there is no vision the people perish, I compiled ONE NATION UNDER GOD as 'An Anthology for Americans,' with the earnest hope and prayer it would be hailed with gladness as just what the country needs for times like these . . ."

Of course, there is an Uncle Sam. He is a simple fellow who has built a great country with his own hands. His ancestors crossed an ocean to find an alien shore here. Everybody who ever came here had to cross a frightening ocean.

In the old days, Uncle Sam's ancestors found Indians and forests and wild beasts; today, those who come find large cities, with good roads to connect them, with railroads and airplanes. In the old days, each man built his home and his school-house and his church by his own sinews and sweat; today he moves into a house of the most modern devices.

In the old days, Uncle Sam had to find a place for himself, where he could farm for food and clothing, where his wife could cook and spin and sew; today, his wife finds what she requires in a supermarket, while he earns a wage and builds a family.

In the old days, Uncle Sam crossed mountains and rivers and valleys, carrying his goods and folks with great hardship until he found a place for himself, risking limb and life to conquer a continent and make it a glorious granary; today, he finds ample facilities to take him from place to place and wherever he goes there are mines and mills and factories and stores to provide work, and wherever he goes there are schools and colleges and technological institutes for those who require such facilities and have the ambition to use them.

And there are churches, too. There are prayer houses of all varieties of religion, each man either following freely in the ways of his ancestors, or choosing his own way, or none at all. Freedom of choice is the doctrine that guides our people and those who would limit freedom are regarded as hateful creatures, not true descendants of Uncle Sam.

Is there an Uncle Sam?

More than 50 races of man have found a free life here, freedom of opportunity, freedom of choice, freedom of movement, freedom to work, freedom to read and write and speak. And to give glory to it all, for each there is freedom to worship God, each man as he chooses, whether Jew, or Christian, or Moslem, or whatever.

Is there an Uncle Sam?

How can one doubt it?

Yes, Uncle Sam is in the hearts of those who believe that freedom and equality are qualities which come to us from God and will survive all the errors of stupid and selfish men and women.

Two Senators Asked Ike To Make Statement On Military Censorship

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Inside fact about Eisenhower's recent statement on military censorship is that Sens. John Stennis of Mississippi and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts asked him for it. One a Democrat, the other a Republican, they got so worried about right-wing sentiment in favor of the military that they got together in a bi-partisan request of the ex-President that he make a statement.

His statement, though moderate, was generally interpreted as siding with the brass hats against censorship by their civilian bosses.

What most people overlooked, however, is that Kennedy and Secretary McNamara are following the exact rules laid down by Eisenhower earlier for censoring military speeches.

This fact was brought out by the Moss Committee on Nov. 15, 1956, when it called in Joseph Edgerton, director of Security Review for the Defense Department. Crusty old Clare Hoffman, Michigan Republican, asked him:

"If the Secretary (of the Army) Brucker, or General (Maxwell) Taylor wrote a speech and were not proposing to speak for the department, would you have anything to do with it?"

Hoffman explained that he meant "if he were just going to speak to the Lions Club or the Exchange Club."

"I do not think he can divorce himself from his status as Secretary of the Army — I think it should be cleared," replied Edgerton.

"Assuming Secretary Brucker went out talking about the Army and said, 'I go along with Ike,'" continued Congressman Hoffman, "'I think we should have a larger — or a smaller army.' Would that come to your office or to any other department of the government for censorship?"

Edgerton — "Yes, it would come to us."

Hoffman — "And would you tell him what he should say?"

Edgerton — "We would pass that to Mr. Ross's office" — referring to the then assistant Secretary of Defense.

Hoffman — "Could Mr. Ross tell Mr. Brucker he could not say that?"

Edgerton — "He might do it on his authority, or the authority of the Secretary of Defense."

Edgerton told the subcommittee that a White House directive required to be enforced under the Eisenhower Administration obliged all government departments to clear with the Defense Department "all material dealing with military affairs, speeches and otherwise."

This was Nov. 15, 1956.

Four years later, just before Kennedy was inaugurated, Adm. Harry Felt stirred up a hornets' nest in Australia by lecturing Australians on their duties. Later, Adm. Samuel B. Frankel went over the heads of his civilian chiefs with a speech criticizing the administration policy of negotiating with our European Allies regarding Russia.

Both speeches clearly barged into the civilian field. So President Kennedy applied the system previously set up by Eisenhower.

"Hand Back That Medal"

Quite a few Washington bigwigs are going to have red faces if the Dominican Republic continues its policy of recalling decorations and honorary degrees handed out by the Trujillo dictatorship.

The new democratic Dominican government set the precedent by recalling the honorary degree given by the University of Santo Domingo to Sen. George Smathers of Florida, onetime golfing partner of President Kennedy. Smathers' law firm has represented the Dominican government steamship line, and the Senator himself had made several trips to the beleaguered island for conferences with Dictator Trujillo.

The Senator's office, when questioned about the honorary degree, said that Smathers hadn't wanted the degree in the first place. "Sour grapes," say the Dominicans. "He was a great friend of Trujillo."

The handsome Senator from Florida is not the only recipient of honors from the old Dominican dictatorship. Another was Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts. Another was Congressman Gardner Withrow (the Wisconsin Republican who made a speech in the U. S. Congress praising Dominican democracy as greater than ours). Another was Donald Jackson, California Republican, who had expected to go to the Dominican Republic and live in retirement.

The only man who challenged these decorations was Congressman Charley Porter of Oregon, who suggested that his Congressional colleagues return their medals. This made John McCormack so furious that when Porter, a Democrat, came up for a job appointment by the Kennedy Administration, McCormack sent word that Porter would get a job only over his dead body. That ended that, and Porter is now back in Oregon running for Congress.

Headlines And Footnotes

The American Jewish Congress has successfully sued the Arabian-American Oil Company, in which Central Intelligence Chief John McCone has an interest, for job discrimination. The Congress claimed that Aramco refused to give jobs to members of the Jewish faith not merely in Saudi Arabia but in its New York office — which, it claimed, was in violation of New York State anti-discrimination laws. After considerable litigation and an appeal to the higher courts, the Congress won the battle as it applies to employment in Aramco's offices in the United States. Aramco, however, has not yet adhered to the ruling. . . . McCone is one of the biggest stockholders in Standard Oil of California which founded Aramco and exercises considerable influence over it. . . . President Kennedy doesn't forget his friends. The morning after the big Democratic dinner in Washington, he phoned Jane Freeman, beautiful wife of Secretary of Agriculture Freeman, also Carroll Rosenblum, co-chairmen of the dinner, to thank them for their fine job.

President Pushes Republicans To The Right

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky has let it be known that he is preparing a major speech, warning Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona against trying to impose his viewpoint on the Republican party, and warning the party, too, against taking the Goldwater road to the extreme right.

It is remarkable that one leading Republican should be planning to rise on the floor of the Senate to condemn the view point of another leading Republican. It is also symptomatic of the sense of frustration which afflicts the minority of moderate and progressive-minded Republicans in the present Congress.

Sen. Cooper's credentials for admonishing his party are gilt-edged. He comes from a state that is traditionally strongly Democratic. Last year, he made a rather lonely race for re-election, without the lavish financial support that more right-wing Republicans customarily enjoy. In the outcome, he won by the largest majority ever given a Kentucky Senator, including even the enormously popular Democrat, Alben Barkley.

Consequently, Sen. Cooper cannot be blamed if he thinks that he has found the recipe for Republican success in middle-of-the-road progressivism and the rejection of over-shrill partisanship. Yet even in Kentucky, Cooper's Republican colleague, Sen. Thruston Morton, is reportedly preparing to take a much more right-wing line than Cooper did when he seeks re-election this year.

As for the Republican party in Congress, its present trend may be judged from the fact that an important moderating influence was lost by the recent death of the immensely able but staunchly conservative Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Sen. Bridges' replacement as chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, is also an able man and stands about where Bridges stood. But the party as a whole is to the right of Hickenlooper in the Senate. And the Republicans in the House of Representatives are still further to the right, on average, than their Senate brothers.

The House Leader, Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, the chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, Rep. William Miller of New York, and Sen. Goldwater, who is chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, have now the dominant voices in shaping their party's Congressional tactics. One result was the solid Republican vote in the House Rules Committee against the President's bill to establish a new Department of Urban Affairs.

The President seized the opportunity thus offered to announce that he would set up the Department anyway, and would name his Negro Housing Administrator, Robert Weaver, as the Department's first head. The Republicans' cries of rage after this coup could be heard from Capitol Hill to the Maryland and Virginia suburbs.

The incidents illustrated the Congressional Republicans' habitual carelessness-in-action of the crucial big-city vote, as well as their extreme sensitivity when this carelessness is dramatized. And it also illustrated another phenomenon of some importance — the President's crafty wish to elbow the opposition party into an extreme right-wing posture.

The President's instinct is that the extreme right-wing posture is a losing posture, at least in the parts of the country where there are large numbers of valuable voters. He has checked his instince, as usual, by having polls taken. These show, for instance, that nearly nine of ten American voters, if they have heard of the John Birch Society at all, are positively hostile to the Birchers as crackpot extremists.

Thus when Gov. Pat Brown of California visited Washington, one bit of homely, practical advice he got from the White House was to try to pin the John Birch label on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon — who is emphatically not a Bircher himself, but has an uncomfortably large number of Birchers in his party in California.

Obviously the rank-and-file of Congressional Republicans are not going to go anywhere nearly as far to the right as the John Birch Society. They are not even going to go as far to the right as Sen. Goldwater. But Goldwater, Halleck, and Miller are pulling them rightwards, and President Kennedy will give them a push to the right whenever a good opening occurs, as it did last week.

In short, the admonitions of Sen. Cooper are likely to go unheeded. And this will not be altered by the fact that the three most significant active Republicans outside Congress, former Vice President Nixon, Gov. Rockefeller of New York, and the new entrant, George Romney of Michigan, will undoubtedly agree with most of what Cooper as to say.

POSTAL SLOGANS—With some gentle nudging from the Post Office Department, the manufacturer of those postage meters which permit large volume mailers to pay for postage without actually affixing stamps on the envelopes, is tightening up its regulations on the use of slogans.

The company has long sought to bar the use of political and ideological slogans in connection with postage meter use, but review of its practices stems from the attempt by the right wing John Birch Society to get company officials to use their slogan — "This is a Republic, Not a Democracy—Let's Keep It That Way."

The Post Office Department asked meter users not to print the slogan because of confusion over the source. Many casual recipients of letters so marked believed the slogans had been placed there by the U.S. government.

Fact is that the government itself resorts to this form of advertisement. The Post Office Department has succeeded in getting some meter users to insert its own slogan — "Use Zone Numbers."

Postmaster General J. Edward Day declares it is "inappropriate for mail cancellations to carry any ideological material, whether I agree with it or not."

The Difference Between Genius And Insanity

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"Is there a hairbreadth's difference between genius and insanity?" asks M. B. The answer is no, even though a person must have some brains to develop a mental disease. The genius is endowed with unusual talents, but, like anyone else, could become insane under emotional stress.

On the other hand, the mentally disturbed, especially schizophrenics, live in a dream world all their own. Many are able to cope with their environment and do credible work. Their office associates—and often the family—are unaware of their mental condition unless they go too far astray and must be institutionalized.

A few psychotic individuals are gifted painters, musicians, poets, composers, authors, playwrights, and others who do creative work. They have such phenomenal and unusual imaginativeness they are regarded as geniuses. This is true only when they have the technical ability to interpret their visions into conventional forms of expression.

Useful and beautiful things can be created from the dream world only if the person has the technic and intelligence to promote the translation. Among this group are some of the geniuses of architecture, electronics, and music. If they did not have the basic know-how, or intelligence, their mode of expression would be too unconventional or disjointed to command ready acceptance.

Painters of the surrealist school, such as Dali and Magritte, were said to be envious of the schizophrenic's faculty for living in a dreamlike state. They were unaware that the dream world also can be a nightmare, with painful or threatening experiences. The gifted schizophrenic sees the world differently from other men. He has a heightened awareness, perhaps through dread, that leads to markedly acute perception.

This faculty was not available to the gifted but sane artists whose perception was dulled by familiarity. As a result, many of the early surrealists attempted to paint psychotic imagery. It was difficult to do, however, because they had to deliberate and plan, which tends to stifle spontaneous creativity. The schizophrenic was not bothered along this line, but as he became saner, the ability to portray fantasy diminished. The this failure meant he was improved mentally but his work usually was worse.

TOMORROW: Meniere's syndrome.

COCKTAILS AND PRESSURE

J. D. writes: Does a daily cocktail raise or lower the blood pressure?

REPLY

It should lower the pressure if the cocktail relaxes and raise it if the individual is stimulated. But in all probability the change is too slight to be of practical value. Much depends upon the original blood pressure reading. A high reading is more likely to be lowered whereas no change occurs when the pressure is normal or low.

STIMULATING BONE MARROW

J. L. F. writes: How can a lazy bone marrow be forced to make enough blood?

REPLY

Some bone marrows are so lazy, that nothing will pep them up whereas others can be stimulated with vitamin B 12 or folic acid.

STONY

F. L. writes: Is a person who has developed gallstones prone to develop kidney stones too?

REPLY

No. There is no relationship between the two conditions, even though many persons have had both kidney and gall stones.

BOOSTER FLU SHOTS

B. C. G. writes: Is a booster shot needed two or three months after a flu shot?

REPLY

Yes, provided protection is needed for a few more months.

ARTHRITIC HEEL

Mrs. M. K. writes: I have arthritis of the knees, neck, and ankles. Now my right heel has become so painful, walking is no fun. I weigh 200 pounds. What causes this heel condition and what can be done about it?

REPLY

Arthritis is the most logical explanation. You need to lose weight and obtain treatment before the joint surfaces in your heel are damaged beyond repair.

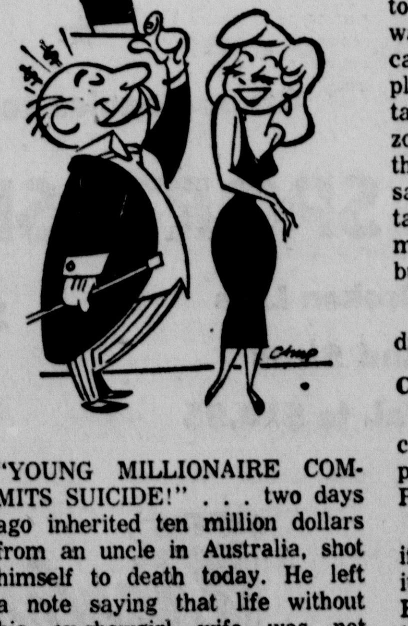
To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Jack Kofoed, one of Florida's most distinguished columnists, discovered a girl in a Miami hotspot who had been a Copacabana beauty, and the toast of Broadway, only a few years before. Now, though her diamonds were real, and her dress the latest Dior model, her hands shook as she reached for a hooker of brandy, and her eyes had lost their lustre.

The story? She had been madly in love with a writer. He was good — but no publisher would take a chance on his stuff. They were married anyhow. She thought love was enough until Mr. Moneybags came along with his fortune of seventy million, and that made up for his atrocious looks and manners. So she went to Reno; then married Mr. Moneybags. The day after she moved into his thirty-room duplex, she read in the paper:



"YOUNG MILLIONAIRE COMMITS SUICIDE!" . . . two days ago inherited ten million dollars from an uncle in Australia, shot himself to death today. He left a note saying that life without his ex-showgirl wife was not worth living . . ."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

(Editor's Note: It is only a matter of time before nuclear missiles no longer will be the exclusive threat of the great powers. Then what? Jim Bishop turns the clock ahead and updates the calendar 11 years in this column. Who's to say that it can't happen?)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2, 1973 — The President of the United States announced at 6 a. m. that the Republic of Guatemala has declared a state of war to exist between itself and the United States, the Soviet Union, and the People's Republic of China. The note from Senor Jose de Asturias, president of Guatemala, gives the three countries six hous in which to surrender, under threat of total annihilation.

With the notes were films showing Guatemala's stockpile of terroristic weapons and the launching of her fleet of space vehicles, two days ago. The Secretary of State was noncommittal at an emergency press conference called at 7 a. m. but the feeling here is that the three great countries, having been taken by complete surprise, will surrender before noon.

To the casual observer, there appears to be no choice. No one realized, until now, that Guatemala had joined the nuclear club. Those countries now threatened have the means to destroy Guatemala, but Presidente de Asturias has anticipated this and, in his ultimatum announced that he would unleash all of his country's power at the first radar sign of a missile heading toward his country.

Those who have seen the film will not be quoted, but they claim that scientists, routed from bed by the President to study the material, acknowledged that the missiles stored in Chichicastenango and San Francisco el Alto are enormous — probably 200 megatons apiece. They are said to be zeroed in on the principal cities of Russia, China and the U. S.

What part of this is bluff and what is genuine no one knows, but the Space Administration admits that five huge Spacesleds were picked up by radar yesterday in orbit. They are now identified as Guatemalan. This resolves a series of recriminations going on between the U.S., Russia and China all day yesterday. Each was accusing the others of violating the Azores Pact of 1970, which forbids any nation to place a weapon in orbit without prior notification to the other signatories.

Guatemala claims that the Spacesleds are in northwest-to-southeast orbits about ten degrees latitude apart and that their crews have explicit orders to start dropping series H and N bombs at noon, Washington time, unless countermanded by the voice of Presidente de Asturias. The rain of destruction, augmented by the fixed position missiles already poised in Guatemala, would destroy much of civilization before sundown.

Premier Toplovsky of the Soviet Union made an emergency announcement, monitored here at 7 a. m., that the world of Socialism has always had the friendliest feeling toward its brothers in Guatemala and would be happy to negotiate a summit with Presidente Asturias. Toplovsky blamed the United States for not negotiating a "sensible" disarmament agreement in the 1960s which, Toplovsky declared, would have kept little Guatemala happy making serapes.

China has sent a top priority not to Asturias, but made no announcement of the contents. At the same time, the Guatemalan ambassador to the United Nations issued a statement counselling the other nuclear powers of the world to remain "calm and neutral." He said that his country has gone to war to preserve peace.

Unofficially, he told correspondents that the ultimatum to the great powers had been in the making for years, and that his country was bankrupt from its nuclear effort. Should the three big powers surrender, Ambassador Davila y Lopez said that part of the terms would be economic reimbursement to the Guatemalan government covering the cost of its weapons.

He said that Presidente de Asturias has no desire to conquer the world. "If the three powers surrender," he said, "the Guatemalan government will impose immediate and total disarmament on each of them. There will be no more war, and no threat of war."

A reporter asked the Ambassador if that situation would not leave Guatemala as the most powerful nation in the world. "Indeed yes," he said. "In fact, it will leave us as the sole nuclear power because we plan to disarm the other nuclear nations tomorrow — provided, of course, that the big ones capitulate today." At this point in the interview, an American security official placed the Ambassador in protective custody "as an enemy alien."

An announcement at 9 a.m. that China is flying a peace mission to Guatemala would infer that the People's Republic has already capitulated. At the same hour, no missiles had left either the U.S. or Russia for Guatemala and this is taken to mean that those countries have surrendered, or plan to do so before the noon deadline.

Among the press corps in Washington, most of whose members are writing dispatches from the fallout shelter under the National Press Club, there has been a rush to locate material on Guatemala, much neglected in the world press. It seems that this valiant country raises bananas. They don't eat them; just grow them...

U.S. Leads In Space Science

So well advanced is the United States space program today, it is difficult to believe the fourth anniversary of the first successful U. S. satellite launching is being observed. It seems as if the event occurred longer ago than on January 31, 1958.

Hundreds of successful missile and satellite launchings have followed the 1958 orbital achievement, but the excitement, the badly needed boost to morale provided by Explorer I is fresh in memory.

The U. S. is no longer considered a poor second in space endeavors. In the one area of rocket development still not equal to Russian claims — engine propulsion — the gap has been narrowed significantly. In all other areas of technical advantage, from most numerous and most varied satellites to the collection, transmission and evaluation of data from within and beyond the earth's atmosphere, there has never been any question about U. S. superiority.

Time disadvantages caused by a late start in space exploration are evaporating with each month. Now U. S. deficiencies, if any, in the field of orbital flights of manned capsules can be measured in months instead of years.

Five years was the predicted length of time needed for the U. S. to reach a superior position in all important areas of space activity when Explorer I made its successful tour around the globe. Only one year now remains, and it seems very much as if the deadline will be met.

No such spectacular progress in space should be expected in the next five years—by any country. The conquest of earth's position in the universe will be largely completed in the next year. From then on, the scene of activity will begin moving out—way out.

Men will not be camping on the moon in as short a period of time as it took to establish excursions around our planet. Perhaps the longer range and less spectacular progress will permit space exploration to settle back into proper perspective.

Until the sound of a human voice speaking from the other side of the moon comes back to tingle the spines of his fellow earthmen, that is.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

His Name Is Uncle Sam

One of the truly great editorials of all time appeared in the "New York Sun" in reply to a child, Virginia, who wanted to know whether there is a Santa Claus. The truth of the matter, of course, is that there is a Santa Claus, but he dwells only in the heart of the generous. He has no form, no style, no nationality, no particular religion. He is the embodiment of love.

Now along comes Robert G. Smith who wants to know if there is an Uncle Sam. He writes to ask:

"My name is not Virginia and I'm considerably more than nine years old but I, too, have a momentous question regarding a well-known character:

"Is there an Uncle Sam?

"You know who I mean,—the tall, rugged, white-haired figure in red-and-white-striped trousers, blue coat and star-spangled hat—traditional symbol of the American Way of Life.

"Is he still around? Or is he hiding out in the Green Mountains of Vermont? Or some other place like that?

"Some say Uncle Sam is a back number. They say Uncle Sugar Daddy is now top man in Washington, — doling out his assorted 'goodies' to his many nephews and nieces, his country cousins and foreign relations.

"They say patriotism is strictly for the birds—the vanishing Bald Eagle that is . . . .

"I suppose it's the old-fashioned Connecticut Yankee in me, or maybe my four years in the Navy during World War II, but I'm kinda hard to convince.

"Disturbed by the obvious lack of any national book of patriotic inspiration, and remembering that where there is no vision the people perish, I compiled ONE NATION UNDER GOD as 'An Anthology for Americans,' with the earnest hope and prayer it would be hailed with gladness as just what the country needs for times like these . . ."

Of course, there is an Uncle Sam. He is a simple fellow who has built a great country with his own hands. His ancestors crossed an ocean to find an alien shore here. Everybody who ever came here had to cross a frightening ocean.

In the old days, Uncle Sam's ancestors found Indians and forests and wild beasts; today, those who come find large cities, with good roads to connect them, with railroads and airplanes. In the old days, each man built his home and his school-house and his church by his own sinews and sweat; today he moves into a house of the most modern devices.

In the old days, Uncle Sam had to find a place for himself, where he could farm for food and clothing, where his wife could cook and spin and sew; today, his wife finds what she requires in a supermarket, while he earns a wage and builds a family.

In the old days, Uncle Sam crossed mountains and rivers and valleys, carrying his goods and folks with great hardship until he found a place for himself, risking limb and life to conquer a continent and make it a glorious granary; today, he finds ample facilities to take him from place to place and wherever he goes there are mines and mills and factories and stores to provide work, and wherever he goes there are schools and colleges and technological institutes for those who require such facilities and have the ambition to use them.

And there are churches, too. There are prayer houses of all varieties of religion, each man either following freely in the ways of his ancestors, or choosing his own way, or none at all. Freedom of choice is the doctrine that guides our people and those who would limit freedom are regarded as hateful creatures, not true descendants of Uncle Sam.

Is there an Uncle Sam?

More than 50 races of man have found a free life here, freedom of opportunity, freedom of choice, freedom of movement, freedom to work, freedom to read and write and speak. And to give glory to it all, for each there is freedom to worship God, each man as he chooses, whether Jew, or Christian, or Moslem, or whatever.

Is there an Uncle Sam?

How can one doubt it?

Yes, Uncle Sam is in the hearts of those who believe that freedom and equality are qualities which come to us from God and will survive all the errors of stupid and selfish men and women.

President Pushes Republicans To The Right

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky has let it be known that he is preparing a major speech, warning Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona against trying to impose his viewpoint on the Republican party, and warning the party, too, against taking the Goldwater road to the extreme right.

It is remarkable that one leading Republican should be planning to rise on the floor of the Senate to condemn the view point of another leading Republican. It is also symptomatic of the sense of frustration which afflicts the minority of moderate and progressive - minded Republicans in the present Congress.

Sen. Cooper's credentials for admonishing his party are gilt-edged. He comes from a state that is traditionally strongly Democratic. Last year, he made a rather lonely race for re-election, without the lavish financial support that more right-wing Republicans customarily enjoy. In the outcome, he won by the largest majority ever given a Kentucky Senator, including even the enormously popular Democrat, Alben Barkley.

Consequently, Sen. Cooper cannot be blamed if he thinks that he has found the recipe for Republican success in middle-of-the-road progressivism and the rejection of over-shrill partisanship. Yet even in Kentucky, Cooper's Republican colleague, Sen. Thruston Morton, is reportedly preparing to take a much more right-wing line than Cooper did when he seeks re-election this year.

As for the Republican party in Congress, its present trend may be judged from the fact that an important moderating influence was lost by the recent death of the immensely able but staunchly conservative Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Sen. Bridges' replacement as chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, is also an able man and stands about where Bridges stood. But the party as a whole is to the right of Hickenlooper in the Senate. And the Republicans in the House of Representatives are still further to the right, on average, than their Senate brothers.

The House Leader, Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, the chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, Rep. William Miller of New York, and Sen. Goldwater, who is chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, have now the dominant voices in shaping their party's Congressional tactics. One result was the solid Republican vote in the House Rules Committee against the President's bill to establish a new Department of Urban Affairs.

The President seized the opportunity thus offered to announce that he would set up the Department anyway, and would name his Negro Housing Administrator, Robert Weaver, as the Department's first head. The Republicans' cries of rage after this coup could be heard from Capitol Hill to the Maryland and Virginia suburbs.

The incidents illustrated the Congressional Republicans' habitual carelessness-in-action of the crucial big-city vote, as well as their extreme sensitivity when this carelessness is dramatized. And it also illustrated another phenomenon of some importance — the President's crafty wish to elbow the opposition party into an extreme right-wing posture.

The President's instinct is that the extreme right-wing posture is a losing posture, at least in the parts of the country where there are large numbers of valuable voters. He has checked his instince, as usual, by having polls taken. These show, for instance, that nearly nine of ten American voters, if they have heard of the John Birch Society at all, are positively hostile to the Birchers as crackpot extremists.

Thus when Gov. Pat Brown of California visited Washington, one bit of homely, practical advice he got from the White House was to try to pin the John Birch label on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon — who is emphatically not a Bircher himself, but has an uncomfortably large number of Birchers in his party in California.

Obviously the rank-and-file of Congressional Republicans are not going to go anywhere nearly as far to the right as the John Birch Society. They are not even going to go as far to the right as Sen. Goldwater. But Goldwater, Halleck, and Miller are pulling them rightwards, and President Kennedy will give them a push to the right whenever a good opening occurs, as it did last week.

In short, the admonitions of Sen. Cooper are likely to go unheeded. And this will not be altered by the fact that the three most significant active Republicans outside Congress, former Vice President Nixon, Gov. Rockefeller of New York, and the new entrant, George Romney of Michigan, will undoubtedly agree with most of what Cooper as to say.

POSTAL SLOGANS—With some gentle nudging from the Post Office Department, the manufacturer of those postage meters which permit large volume mailers to pay for postage without actually affixing stamps on the envelopes, is tightening up its regulations on the use of slogans.

The company has long sought to bar the use of political and ideological slogans in connection with postage meter use, but review of its practices stems from the attempt by the right wing John Birch Society to get company officials to use their slogan — "This is a Republic, Not a Democracy—Let's Keep It That Way."

The Post Office Department asked meter users not to print the slogan because of confusion over the source. Many casual recipients of letters so marked believed the slogans had been placed there by the U.S. government.

Fact is that the government itself resorts to this form of advertisement. The Post Office Department has succeeded in getting some meter users to insert its own slogan — "Use Zone Numbers."

Postmaster General J. Edward Day declares it is "inappropriate for mail cancellations to carry any ideological material, whether I agree with it or not."

The Difference Between Genius And Insanity

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"Is there a hairbreadth's difference between genius and insanity?" asks M. B. The answer is no, even though a person must have some brains to develop a mental disease. The genius is endowed with unusual talents, but, like anyone else, could become insane under emotional stress.

On the other hand, the mentally disturbed, especially schizophrenics, live in a dream world all their own. Many are able to cope with their environment and do credible work. Their office associates—and often the family—are unaware of their mental condition unless they go too far astray and must be institutionalized.

A few psychotic individuals are gifted painters, musicians, poets, composers, authors, playwrights, and others who do creative work. They have such phenomenal and unusual imaginativeness they are regarded as geniuses. This is true only when they have the technical ability to interpret their visions into conventional forms of expression.

Useful and beautiful things can be created from the dream world only if the person has the technic and intelligence to promote the translation. Among this group are some of the geniuses of architecture, electronics, and music. If they did not have the basic know-how, or intelligence, their mode of expression would be too unconventional or disjointed to command ready acceptance.

Painters of the surrealist school, such as Dali and Magritte, were said to be envious of the schizophrenic's faculty for living in a dreamlike state. They were unaware that the dream world also can be a nightmare, with painful or threatening experiences. The gifted schizophrenic sees the world differently from other men. He has a heightened awareness, perhaps through dread, that leads to markedly acute perception.

This faculty was not available to the gifted but sane artists whose perception was dulled by familiarity. As a result, many of the early surrealists attempted to paint psychotic imagery. It was difficult to do, however, because they had to deliberate and plan, which tends to stifle spontaneous creativity. The schizophrenic was not bothered along this line, but as he became saner, the ability to portray fantasy diminished. The this failure meant he was improved mentally but his work usually was worse.

TOMORROW: Meniere's syndrome.

COCKTAILS AND PRESSURE

J. D. writes: Does a daily cocktail raise or lower the blood pressure?

REPLY

It should lower the pressure if the cocktail relaxes and raise it if the individual is stimulated. But in all probability the change is too slight to be of practical value. Much depends upon the original blood pressure reading. A high reading is more likely to be lowered whereas no change occurs when the pressure is normal or low.

STIMULATING BONE MARROW

J. L. F. writes: How can a lazy bone marrow be forced to make enough blood?

REPLY

Some bone marrows are so lazy, that nothing will pep them up whereas others can be stimulated with vitamin B 12 or folic acid.

STONY

F. L. writes: Is a person who has developed gallstones prone to develop kidney stones too?

REPLY

No. There is no relationship between the two conditions, even though many persons have had both kidney and gall stones.

BOOSTER FLU SHOTS

B. C. G. writes: Is a booster shot needed two or three months after a flu shot?

REPLY

Yes, provided protection is needed for a few more months.

ARTHRITIC HEEL

Mrs. M. K. writes: I have arthritis of the knees, neck, and ankles. Now my right heel has become so painful, walking is no fun. I weigh 200 pounds. What causes this heel condition and what can be done about it?

REPLY

Arthritis is the most logical explanation. You need to lose weight and obtain treatment before the joint surfaces in your heel are damaged beyond repair.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Jack Kofoed, one of Florida's most distinguished columnists, discovered a girl in a Miami hotspot who had been a Copacabana beauty, and the toast of Broadway, only a few years before. Now, though her diamonds were real, and her dress the latest Dior model, her hands shook as she reached for a hooker of brandy, and her eyes had lost their lustre.

The story? She had been madly in love with a writer. He was good — but no publisher would take a chance on his stuff. They were married anyhow. She thought love was enough until Mr. Moneybags came along with his fortune of seventy million, and that made up for his atrocious looks and manners. So she went to Reno; then married Mr. Moneybags. The day after she moved into his thirty-room duplex, she read in the paper:

"YOUNG MILLIONAIRE COMMITS SUICIDE!" . . . two days ago inherited ten million dollars from an uncle in Australia, shot himself to death today. He left a note saying that life without his ex-showgirl wife was not worth living . . ."

Two Senators Asked Ike To Make Statement On Military Censorship

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Inside fact about Eisenhower's recent statement on military censorship is that Sens. John Stennis of Mississippi and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts asked him for it. One a Democrat, the other a Republican, they got so worried about right-wing sentiment in favor of the military that they got together in a bi-partisan request of the ex-President that he make a statement.

His statement, though moderate, was generally interpreted as siding with the brass hats against censorship by their civilian bosses.

What most people overlooked, however, is that Kennedy and Secretary McNamara are following the exact rules laid down by Eisenhower earlier for censoring military speeches.

This fact was brought out by the Moss Committee on Nov. 15, 1956, when it called in Joseph Edgerton, director of Security Review for the Defense Department. Crusty old Clare Hoffman, Michigan Republican, asked him:

"If the Secretary (of the Army) Brucker, or General (Maxwell) Taylor wrote a speech and were not proposing to speak for the department, would you have anything to do with it?"

Hoffman explained that he meant "if he were just going to speak to the Lions Club or the Exchange Club."

"I do not think he can divorce himself from his status as Secretary of the Army — I think it should be cleared," replied Edgerton.

"Assuming Secretary Brucker went out talking about the Army and said, 'I go along with Ike,'" continued Congressman Hoffman, "'I think we should have a larger — or a smaller army.' Would that come to your office or to any other department of the government for censorship?"

Edgerton — "Yes, it would come to us."

Hoffman — "And would you tell him what he should say?"

Edgerton — "We would pass that to Mr. Ross's office" — referring to the then assistant Secretary of Defense.

Hoffman — "Could Mr. Ross tell Mr. Brucker he could not say that?"

Edgerton — "He might do it on his authority, or the authority of the Secretary of Defense."

Edgerton told the subcommittee that a White House directive required to be enforced under the Eisenhower Administration obliged all government departments to clear with the Defense Department "all material dealing with military affairs, speeches and otherwise."

This was Nov. 15, 1956.

Four years later, just before Kennedy was inaugurated, Adm. Harry Felt stirred up a hornets' nest in Australia by lecturing Australians on their duties. Later, Adm. Samuel B. Frankel went over the heads of his civilian chiefs with a speech criticizing the administration policy of negotiating with our European Allies regarding Russia.

Both speeches clearly barged into the civilian field. So President Kennedy applied the system previously set up by Eisenhower.

"Hand Back That Medal"

Quite a few Washington bigwigs are going to have red faces if the Dominican Republic continues its policy of recalling decorations and honorary degrees handed out by the Trujillo dictatorship.

The new democratic Dominican government set the precedent by recalling the honorary degree given by the University of Santo Domingo to Sen. George Smathers of Florida, onetime golfing partner of President Kennedy. Smathers' law firm has represented the Dominican government steamship line, and the Senator himself had made several trips to the beleaguered island for conferences with Dictator Trujillo.

The Senator's office, when questioned about the honorary degree, said that Smathers hadn't wanted the degree in the first place. "Sour grapes," say the Dominicans. "He was a great friend of Trujillo."

The handsome Senator from Florida is not the only recipient of honors from the old Dominican dictatorship. Another was Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts. Another was Congressman Gardner Withrow (the Wisconsin Republican who made a speech in the U. S. Congress praising Dominican democracy as greater than ours). Another was Donald Jackson, California Republican, who had expected to go to the Dominican Republic and live in retirement.

The only man who challenged these decorations was Congressman Charley Porter of Oregon, who suggested that his Congressional colleagues return their medals. This made John McCormack so furious that when Porter, a Democrat, came up for a job appointment by the Kennedy Administration, McCormack sent word that Porter would get a job only over his dead body. That ended that, and Porter is now back in Oregon running for Congress.

Headlines And Footnotes

The American Jewish Congress has successfully sued the Arabian-American Oil Company, in which Central Intelligence Chief John McCone has an interest, for job discrimination. The Congress claimed that Aramco refused to give jobs to members of the Jewish faith not merely in Saudi Arabia but in its New York office — which, it claimed, was in violation of New York State anti-discrimination laws. After considerable litigation and an appeal to the higher courts, the Congress won the battle as it applies to employment in Aramco's offices in the United States. Aramco, however, has not yet adhered to the ruling. . . . McCone is one of the biggest stockholders in Standard Oil of California which founded Aramco and exercises considerable influence over it. . . . President Kennedy doesn't forget his friends. The morning after the big Democratic dinner in Washington, he phoned Jane Freeman, beautiful wife of Secretary of Agriculture Freeman, also Carroll Rosenblum, co-chairmen of the dinner, to thank them for their fine job.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

(Editor's Note: It is only a matter of time before nuclear missiles no longer will be the exclusive threat of the great powers. Then what? Jim Bishop turns the clock ahead and updates the calendar 11 years in this column. Who's to say that it can't happen?)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2, 1973 — The President of the United States announced at 6 a. m. that the Republic of Guatemala has declared a state of war to exist between itself and the United States, the Soviet Union, and the People's Republic of China. The note from Senor Jose de Asturias, president of Guatemala, gives the three countries six hous in which to surrender, under threat of total annihilation.

With the notes were films showing Guatemala's stockpile of terroristic weapons and the launching of her fleet of space vehicles, two days ago. The Secretary of State was noncommittal at an emergency press conference called at 7 a. m. but the feeling here is that the three great countries, having been taken by complete surprise, will surrender before noon.

To the casual observer, there appears to be no choice. No one realized, until now, that Guatemala had joined the nuclear club. Those countries now threatened have the means to destroy Guatemala, but Presidente de Asturias has anticipated this and, in his ultimatum announced that he would unleash all of his country's power at the first radar sign of a missile heading toward his country.

Those who have seen the film will not be quoted, but they claim that scientists, routed from bed by the President to study the material, acknowledged that the missiles stored in Chichicastenango and San Francisco el Alto are enormous — probably 200 megatons apiece. They are said to be zeroed in on the principal cities of Russia, China and the U. S.

What part of this is bluff and what is genuine no one knows, but the Space Administration admits that five huge Spacesleds were picked up by radar yesterday in orbit. They are now identified as Guatemalan. This resolves a series of recriminations going on between the U.S., Russia and China all day yesterday. Each was accusing the others of violating the Azores Pact of 1970, which forbids any nation to place a weapon in orbit without prior notification to the other signatories.

Guatemala claims that the Spacesleds are in northwest-to-southeast orbits about ten degrees latitude apart and that their crews have explicit orders to start dropping series H and N bombs at noon, Washington time, unless countermanded by the voice of Presidente de Asturias. The rain of destruction, augmented by the fixed position missiles already poised in Guatemala, would destroy much of civilization before sundown.

Premier Toplovsky of the Soviet Union made an emergency announcement, monitored here at 7 a. m., that the world of Socialism has always had the friendliest feeling toward its brothers in Guatemala and would be happy to negotiate a summit with Presidente Asturias. Toplovsky blamed the United States for not negotiating a "sensible" disarmament agreement in the 1960s which, Toplovsky declared, would have kept little Guatemala happy making serapes.

China has sent a top priority not to Asturias, but made no announcement of the contents. At the same time, the Guatemalan ambassador to the United Nations issued a statement counselling the other nuclear powers of the world to remain "calm and neutral." He said that his country has gone to war to preserve peace.

Unofficially, he told correspondents that the ultimatum to the great powers had been in the making for years, and that his country was bankrupt from its nuclear effort. Should the three big powers surrender, Ambassador Davila y Lopez said that part of the terms would be economic reimbursement to the Guatemalan government covering the cost of its weapons.

He said that Presidente de Asturias has no desire to conquer the world. "If the three powers surrender," he said, "the Guatemalan government will impose immediate and total disarmament on each of them. There will be no more war, and no threat of war."

A reporter asked the Ambassador if that situation would not leave Guatemala as the most powerful nation in the world. "Indeed yes," he said. "In fact, it will leave us as the sole nuclear power because we plan to disarm the other nuclear nations tomorrow — provided, of course, that the big ones capitulate today." At this point in the interview, an American security official placed the Ambassador in protective custody "as an enemy alien."

An announcement at 9 a.m. that China is flying a peace mission to Guatemala would infer that the People's Republic has already capitulated. At the same hour, no missiles had left either the U.S. or Russia for Guatemala and this is taken to mean that those countries have surrendered, or plan to do so before the noon deadline.

Among the press corps in Washington, most of whose members are writing dispatches from the fallout shelter under the National Press Club, there has been a rush to locate material on Guatemala, much neglected in the world press. It seems that this valiant country raises bananas. They don't eat them: just grow them . . .

LaSalle Wins In Double Overtime, Rebels Top Fort Hill, 76-64

MountSavage Beaten 88-86 By Explorers

Mike Long's Goals Decide; Robertson, Sloan Score 34

Tightly contested, down-to-the-wire battles have become a regular habit with coach John Thomas' Mt. Savage High School cagers, but last night they got involved in one that provided the fans enough thrills to take care of the next ten seasons.

The Indians, sparked by their pair of sensational sophomores, staged a courageous second half comeback, but lost to LaSalle in an 88-86 double overtime thriller at the SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium.

Trailing at one stage of the third period by 16 points, the scrappy Indians came on with a sensational rally that was climaxed just at the final buzzer when sophomore center Ralph Wilson tossed in a tie-producing field goal that sent the game into the first of two overtime periods.

Long Takes Charge

Whereas two underclassmen led a stout-hearted but futile effort for the losers, the most seasoned performer on the floor pulled the game out for the winning Explorers with his scoring and take-charge tactics in the second extra three-minute heat.

Mike Long, who in his four-year career at the North Centre Street institution has shattered all but a few city scoring records, took the situation in hand after the two clubs each scored one field goal in the first overtime period to remain deadlocked at 82-82.

Long's jump shot from the top of the key pushed LaSalle in front, 84-82, with 25 seconds gone in the second overtime. John Sloan, who put on a phenomenal display of accuracy from the floor throughout the game, canned one of two free throw attempts to give the Irish a three-point, 85-82 edge.

But the Indians' other soph stickout, carrot-topped forward Bobby Robertson, converted two fouls and tossed in a jumper that gave the visitors an 86-85 edge with 1:05 to go.

Harden Blocks Shot

Ten seconds later Long connected on another jump shot, and after Mt. Savage lost possession when Donnie Harden blocked Wilson's shot, the cool-headed veteran personally controlled the ball for LaSalle with a dazzling bit of dribbling.

In a frantic effort to prevent the Explorers from running out the clock, the Indians' Leo Harden deliberately fouled Long, who sank one of his two attempts with six seconds to go. Mt. Savage put the ball in play after Long converted his second shot, but Joe Nolan came through to intercept the ball before the Indians could get it out of their own backcourt.

Seconds later the buzzer signalled the end of the thriller that had everyone in the house either standing or on the edge of their seats. For the Explorers, it was their 12th win in 14 outings, while the loss was the fourth in 14 games for the Indians, who have lost twice by one point and once by two. Mt. Savage's first loss had come at the hands of LaSalle, 73-62, on the Indians' court.

Wisler Converts Fouls

When Howard Wisler sank a pair of free throws to give Mt. Savage a 74-72 lead with 2:03 remaining in the regulation contest, it was the first time the visiting team had led since Robertson's two fouls put them in front at 23-21 with 1:35 gone in the second period.

It was also the only other time 'Savage led up to this point, although the score was tied at 21, 23, 29 and 72.

After Wilson hit on a layup with 35 seconds left in regulation time to tie the score at 78-all, the Explorers played for what they figured would be the last shot. Long fired away with a jumper with eight seconds showing on the clock. The ball found the target and LaSalle led, 80-78. The Indians' Leo Harden uncorked a shot from near mid-court that Wilson rebounded and layed up and in just as the buzzer sounded.

Sloan, the Explorer quint's sharp-eyed southpaw, enjoyed one of his best nights in a LaSalle uniform, as he pumped in 15 goals in only 24 tries and hit on four of six free throws to finish with 34 points. Long, held to seven points in the first half, wound up with 25.

Robertson Ties Sloan

Robertson and Wilson each collected 11 field goals for the Indians. Robertson made 12 of 16 foul attempts to tie Sloan for game scoring honors with 34 tallies, while Wilson had a perfect 10-10 night at the charity stripe and finished with 32.

As a unit, LaSalle hit on 38 of 81 shots from the floor for a .469 percentage. Mt. Savage connected on [illegible] of 74 for a .369 mark. The Indians, however, converted 28 fouls in 35 attempts, compared to only 12-for-19 for the Explorers.

Shepherd Triumphs Over D&E, 72-70

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Shepherd College held off a late Davis & Elkins rally Tuesday night to hand the Senators a 72-70 West Virginia Conference basketball defeat.

Shepherd led 32-23 at the half and 72-65 with one minute to play.

Wayman Everly and Zack Karantonis paced Shepherd with 14 points each. However, D&E's Bob Ferrell took game honors with 32 markers.

KEYSER HIGH'S MAT SQUAD—Coach Joe Stanislawczyk has another good wrestling squad at Keyser High School. The Golden Tornado grapplers have won four of seven matches staged to date and two members of the squad, Bill Dawson, 103-pounder, and Mel Evans, heavyweight, are undefeated. Keyser was 10-1 last year, finished in the runner-up spot in the state tourney and Dick Dawson who won the state 133-pound crown. The squad, left to right: FIRST ROW—Edward Smith 95, Forrest Cosner 120, Robert Barr 112 and William Dawson 103. SECOND ROW—Wayne Rohrbaugh 133, James Shoemaker 154, John Markley 120, Ray Sears 145, Harold Cox 138. THIRD ROW—Coach Stanislawczyk, manager Robert Spencer, James Slaughter 127, Burke Feaster 145, Mel Evans, heavyweight, Edward Hawkins 177, and Rick Landes, 165. Landes was injured and will be out of action for the remainder of the season.

Romney Scores Over Capon Bridge, 61-45

Playing their second game in as many nights, Ridgeley High School5s Blackhawks, spilled by the West Virginia School for the Deaf on Monday, 54-45, snapped back last evening and trimmed Beall High School in a Potomac Valley Conference tilt at Ridgeley by the score of 62-54.

The victory was the sixth against eight losses for Coach Tom O'Connor's team in the conference while the Mountaineers from Frostburg, defending champions, went down for the seventh time in eight outings.

Ridgeley held a 14-12 edge at the quarter, increased the margin to 31-24 at the halfway mark and held the long end of a 41-34 score when the third period ended.

Allan Eisel, of Beall, was the game's top scorer with 12 baskets and 25 points, and Lanny Hinkle and Del Schoonover headed the Hawks' offensive with 15 and 14 tallies, respectively.

Ridgeley hooped 28 of 66 shots from the field for a 42 per cent mark, Hinkle connected seven times in nine tries and Schoonover sank 7 of 17 shots. Ronnie Frazier trailed Eisel with 13 tallies.

Ridegley's overall record is 6-10 and Beall's 3-11.

In the preliminary game, Ridgeley's junior varsity downed Beall, 51-35.

In other P.V.C. games last night, Moorefield's Yellowjackets (9-4) downed the Circleville Indians, 71-59, Romney High's Pioneers (5-7) won over Capon Bridge, 61-45, and Paw Paw High's Pirates (6-2) turned back the Wardensville Warriors, 75-54.

Harper Back, Gets 34

Circleville held Moorefield to a 31-29 score at halftime but Coach Jonathan Paugh's quint broke the game wide open in the third stanza to grab a 51-40 lead and went on to win.

Robert Redman led the Jackets in scoring with 22 points while Orville Harper, who had missed five games on account of a badly sprained ankle, collected 34 points on 11 field goals and 12-14 fouls for Circleville.

Coach Roger Parker's Pioneers jumped off to an 11-6 lead and were never headed in their battle with Capon Bridge, their Hampshire county rivals, who went down to defeat for the eighth time in nine league battles.

Monty Mathias hit for 19 points to lead Romney while Richard Kaylor headed Capon Bridge with 13.

Hamilton Lead Attack

Roland Hamilton turned in a 32-point performance in leading Paw Paw to victory over the Warriors. He slammed in 11 shots from the field and sank 10 of 11 free throws. Larry Harding was the runner-up with 19 markers. Charley Sine and Terry Hulver collected 12 and 11 points, respectively, to lead the Wardensville scorers.

ACC Is Loser To Shenandoah

Virginia Floormen Trim Locals, 99-32

Shenandoah College buried Allegany Community College under a barrage of 42 field goals last night in beating the Cumberland cagers at Winchester, Va., by the score of 99-32.

The loss was the fifth against four wins for the ACC quint.

Al Trombetta was high scorer for the Virginia team with 14 points. Irwin Dieterle collected 13, Jim Sprinkle and Gerry Stadetti 12 each and Rich Vaitsas 11.

Late Rally Wins ACC Game, 89-73

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke rallied in the last 10 minutes, with Art Heyman and Jeff Mullins leading the way, and whipped South Carolina 89-73 Tuesday night in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

Mullins pumped in 15 of his 31 points in the final 14 minutes to help offset a torrid South Carolina shooting spree that produced an average of 62.9 in the second half.

Heyman, whose key baskets again kept the sixth-ranked Blue Devils from wilting under pressure, got 20 points. Cronin scored 25, 19 of them in the second half. Ward had 15.

Hyndman Scores Fourth BCL Win

Hyndman High School's Hornets, with an overall record of 5-8, chalked up their fourth win against two losses in Bedford County League play with a 58-51 win over Chestnut Ridge last night at Fishertown.

The score was all tied up at 40-40 at the close of the third period, but the Hornets rattled off eight straight points as the fourth quarter got under way and went on to complete the sweep of the season series with Chestnut Ridge, who bowed to Hyndman by a 51-46 score earlier in the season.

Carl Park and Steve Stouffer, with 21 and 20 points respectively, paced the winning Hornets. Robb and Snowden collected 12 and 11 for the losers.

Bearcats Beat Drake, 73-52

CINCINNATI (AP)—Paul Hogue had his best scoring night ever with 29 points and outlasted two Drake defenders Tuesday night leading Cincinnati to a lopsided 73-52 basketball victory over the Bulldogs.

It was a rough, bruising contest from the start with Cincinnati driving for control of the backboards. A 26-12 rebound edge helped set up Cincinnati's 36-22 halftime lead.

Legion Wins Three

The American Legion defeated the Moose in a Frostburg Women's Shuffleboard League match last night. The winners were paced by Helen Blocher's 19 points while Peg Lewis had 10 for the Moose.

Valley Grabs 5th Straight At Southern

Shockey Rings Up 23 In 9th Win, 78-65

Paced by Philip Shockey, who scored nine field goals and converted 5 of 11 free throws for a total of 23 points, Valley High School's Black Knights extended their winning streak to five games by turning back the Highlanders at Oakland High School last night by the score of 78-65.

The victory, Valley's ninth against six losses, enabled the Black Knights to sweep the series with the Garrett countians.

Trailing Shockey in the scoring column were Fred Sloan with 14 points, Danny Young 13, Clarence Kimble 12 and Tommy James 11.

Southern took a 16-15 lead at the quarter but trailed 41-32 at halftime and 57-44 at the close of the third period.

The setback was the 10th for Southern against four victories.

Dave Burdock sparked the Southern attack with 21 points on six fielders and 9-11 at the foul line. Carlson garnered 16 tallies and Lewis had an even dozen markers for the losers.

Victors Nab 11th Triumph Of Campaign

Manges And Wilson Pace Sentinels Who Lose Third Straight

A hot shooting hand and almost exclusive control of the backboards enabled Coach Nick Scallion's South Hagerstown High Rebels to chalk up their 11th victory of the campaign last night, a 76-64 triumph over the Fort Hill High Sentinels on the locals' court.

The Rebels jumped in front quickly and built up a decisive lead which Coach Jimmy Eckard's Sentinels were unable to overcome as Fort Hill bowed for the seventh time in 12 games this year, losing for the third straight occasion since beating Allegany in a city clash a little over a week ago.

South Hagerstown, which split its series with Allegany, thus made it 2-1 against Cumberland competition.

Petry, Guyton Show Way

With Phil Petry and Dwight Guyton showing the way South's Rebels raced to a 14-3 lead midway through the first quarter and never trailed in the sometimes helter-skelter contest.

Petry and Guyton hit for 11 of South's points and along with center Gene Fisher controlled most of the rebounds under both baskets in the first period as the Rebels outscored Fort Hill, 23-9.

The Sentinels, down by 14 points early in the game, came fighting back when Ronnie Manges entered the contest with two minutes to play in the first stanza.

The scrappy Fort Hill forward sparked the Sentinels by scoring 17 of the losers' next 24 points to enable the Hilltoppers to leave the court trailing, 37-29, at halftime.

But South came back with a rush as the second half opened and with Guyton, Petry and Fisher hitting on an assortment of one-handers, driving lay-ups and rebound tip-ins, the Rebels soared the score to 57-36 in less than five minutes of play.

Lead By 21 Points

The 21-point margin was the biggest held by South as Fort Hill again began to chop away with Pat Wilson connecting for five of his nine field goals for the Sentinels in the third period. Two drive-in goals by Manges made it 57-42, but South's Gene Fisher completed a three-point play and Petry dumped in a one-hander to shove the Rebels out in front once more at 62-42. Wilson's lay-up as the buzzer sounded made it 62-44, South at the close of the third quarter.

The Rebels again built their margin to 21 points at 69-48 with 4:52 to go in the final period when Fort Hill put on its last desperate drive.

In the space of one minute Wilson and Bill Dean hit on a pair of one-handers and Manges twice drove in for sparkling lay-ups to cut the edge to 69-56. Del Proudfoot's jumping one-hander 20 seconds later made it 69-58 with 3:38 to go as the Sentinels scored 10 consecutive points, but this was as close as the home quint was able to come. A bucket by Guyton and a pair of fouls by Petry offset goals by Wilson and Proudfoot before Fisher and Craig Etchison scored to make it 76-62. Proudfoot's one-hander just before the buzzer closed out the scoring.

Manges Paces Scorers

South connected for 32 of 78 shots for a .410 shooting percentage and outrebounded the Sentinels almost 3 to 1 to maintain control of the game almost throughout. Fort Hill hit on 28 of 64 shots, for an even better .437 shooting percentage, but erratic passing and poor rebounding plus alert ball-hawking by the visitors kept the Sentinels off-balance.

Petry and Guyton collected 17 points apiece for the winners while Manges tallied 27 for game scoring honors for Fort Hill. Wilson chipped in with 20 in a losing cause for the Sentinels before bowing out on personals with 58 seconds to play. The lineups:

TV Lark Loses To New Policy At Santa Anita

Dress Up Finishes Third In Handicap

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Ralph Lowe's New Policy scored a victory by a short nose Tuesday over T.V. Lark in the $27,550 Santa Catalina Handicap for California-foaled horses at Santa Anita in one of the closest finishes of the meeting.

T.V. Lark, carrying top weight of 127 pounds and spotting New Policy nine pounds, closed with a tremendous rush in the stretch in his first start since defeating Kelso in the Washington, D.C., International.

Dress Up was a well-beaten third in the seven-horse field.

New Policy was sent off at odds of nearly 5-2 and returned $6.80, $2.80 and $2.40 across the board. T.V. Lark, the even money favorite of the crowd of nearly 23,000, paid $2.80 and $2.60 while Dress Up returned $3.20.

Oldtown Defeats Mathias, 82-71

Oldtown High School got back on the winning track last night with an 82-71 home court victory over Mathias. It was the eighth triumph in 13 starts for Coach Edgar "Barney" Tucker's cagers.

Four Oldtown players scored in double figures led by Steve Nixon and Dave Mallery, with 21 and 19 points, respectively. Gary Strawderman paced the losing aggregation with 19 tallies.

New Judge Takes Oath

Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden, left, administers the oath of office to the new judge of the Orphans Court, Thomas R. Farrell, as J. French VanMeter, the new chief judge, looks on at center. Judge Farrell was appointed by Governor J. Millard Tawes to join Judges VanMeter and Hugh Stevenson on the three-member court.

Orphans Court Gets Democrat As New Judge

Thomas R. "Pat" Farrell, a retired Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employe, became the first Democrat to serve as judge of Allegany County Orphans Court in more than 15 years when he received the oath of office yesterday from Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Judge Farrell was appointed over the weekend by Governor J. Millard Tawes to fill the vacancy caused by the death January 13 of Judge William C. Abbott of Lonaconing.

In 1943 and 1944, former Governor Herbert R. O'Conor, a Democrat like Governor Tawes, had two opportunities to appoint members of his own party as judges of Orphans Court. Chief Judge Bernard B. Young died on November 24, 1943, and John B Schellhaus was appointed to fill the vacancy.

R. Hillary Lancaster, a Republican like Judge Young, became chief judge after the latter's death but he died the following year, on June 15, 1944. Harry F. Uhl of Mt. Savage was appointed to fill that vacancy giving the Democrats two judges.

The election of November 5, 1946, assured the election of three Republicans and two of them are still serving. Judge Abbott ended the combination when he died just two days before his 90th birthday.

Judge J. French VanMeter, Cresaptown, assumed the post of chief judge of the court. The other member of the court is Judge Hugh Stevenson, Ellerslie. VanMeter is finishing his 24th year on the court while Stevenson is completing his 16th year on the bench.

Chief Judge VanMeter is a retired mercantile businessman and former manager of the old Ajax Concrete Products Company in LaVale. He is a member of the official board of Cresaptown Methodist Church. He has a married daughter in Wilmington, Del.; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Judge Stevenson is a retired manager of the old Andrew Ramsey Company and Maryland Pottery Corporation in Ellerslie. He is a member of the official board of the Ellerslie Methodist Church and has headed the church boys club for 25 years. He is a past president of the Allegany Beagle Club. Judges Stevenson and VanMeter have both filed for reelection subject to the Republican primary in May, and Judge Farrell also has filed.

Funds Asked For TB Work

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The House and Senate Finance Committees were asked Tuesday to provide an additional $15,000 in order that surgery now performed on tubercular patients at Hopemont Sanitarium at Terra Alta could be transferred to the West Virginia University Medical Center.

Institutions Commissioner Joseph E. Hodgson and Dean Clark K. Sleeth of the School of Medicine headed the group that appeared before the two committees.

Sleeth pointed out that the training program at WVU could be "greatly enhanced and expanded" by the addition of services to patients from Hopemont.

He said the increased availability of service should result in earlier surgical intervention in many instances and result in a shorter period at the sanitarium.

Hodgson said about 50 operations are now performed each year at Hopemont. He said the proposed program could reach the point where patients from other institutions might be transferred there and then to the Medical Center.

Red Cross Schedules First Aid Classes

W. E. Channell presided at a meeting of the first aid committee of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, held in the Civil Service Room at the Post Office Building.

Mr. Channell said the group hopes to be able to take care of all requests for first aid classes in the near future.

Two standard first aid classes are now in progress. The Wesley Fellowship Class of Emmanuel Methodist Church is sponsoring a class which started Monday at the church for congregation members. Robert Thwaites Jr. is instructor. Vincent DelaGrange is instructing a class of Ridgeley volunteer firemen which began last week.

A class is scheduled to begin February 13 at Midland Fire Hall for members of that community, instructed by Lewis C. Millholland Jr.

Arnold Will Begin Leave Tomorrow

Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold will make his last regular appearance at the Court House for five months today.

He will remain on a leave of absence from tomorrow until July 1 in order to take a special one-semester course at the University of Maryland. Mr. Arnold will register next Monday and will begin his classes on February 12.

Father Of 12 Fatally Hurt In Collision

DAVIS, W. Va. (UPI) — A widowed father of 12 children, whose wife was killed in a highway accident two years ago, was fatally injured when his car wrecked on an icy highway near here Monday night.

State Police said Herbert C. Streets, 65, of near Elkins, suffered a broken neck and crushed chest in the accident on W. Va. 332 about 11 miles south of here. Two passengers, one of them Streets' daughter, escaped with minor injuries.

Streets was a retired miner with five children still living at home. His wife was killed when struck by a truck while walking near their home two years ago. The family's old home burned down last month and they had moved into another house recently.

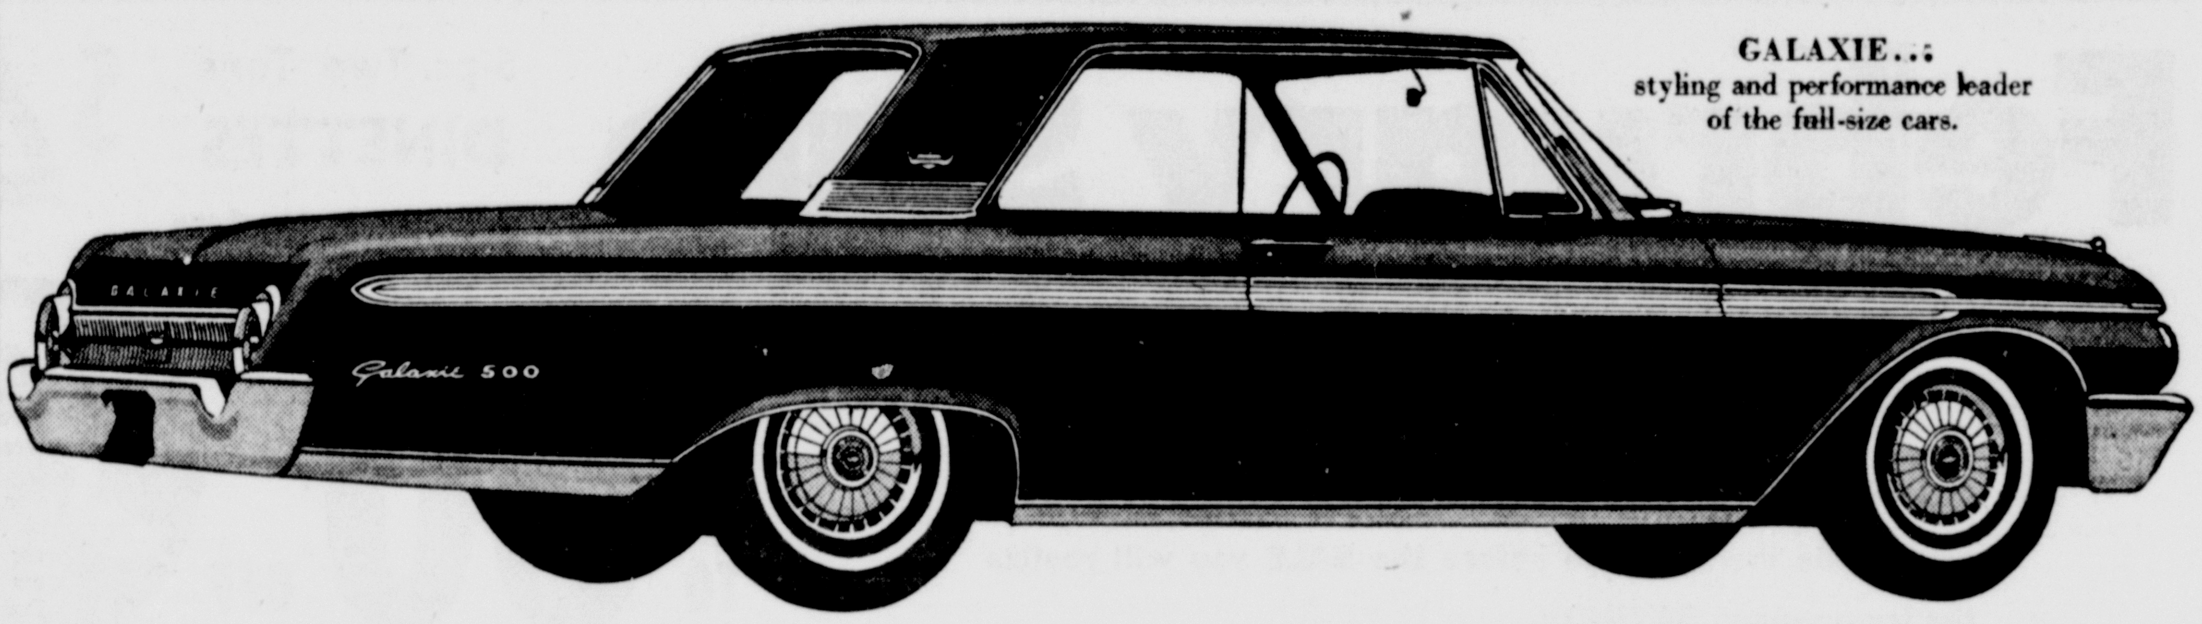
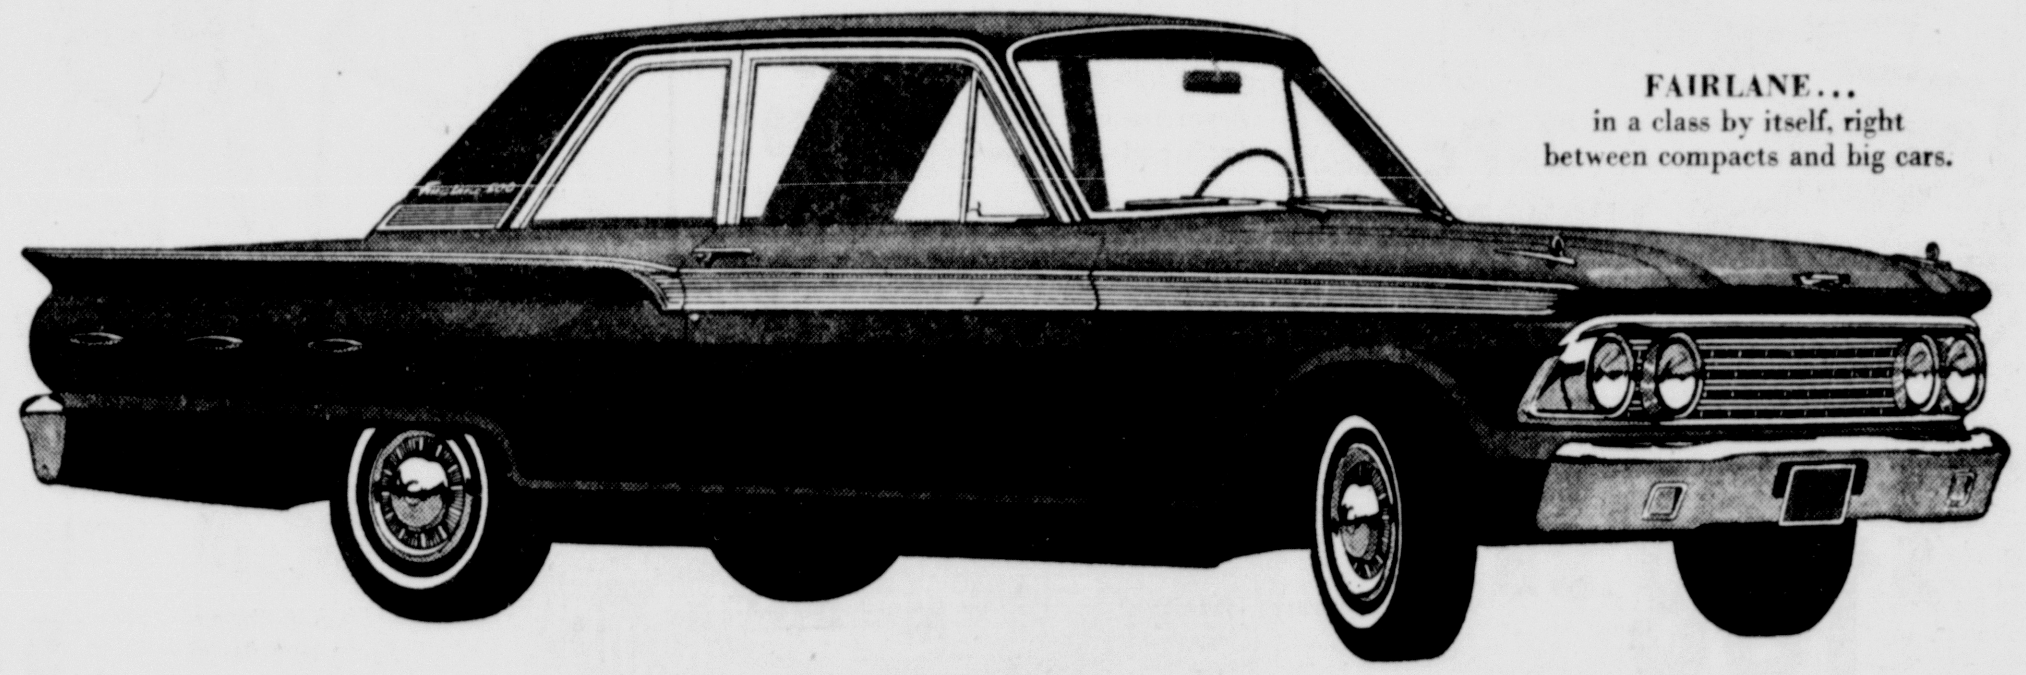
If you're one of the millions of car owners who should get their cars serviced this week, here's good news:



GALAXIE...
styling and performance leader of the full-size cars.

Ford eliminates 10 out of 12 service stops required by most cars!



FAIRLANE...

In a 1962 Ford Galaxie or Fairlane you can go all year—or 12,000 miles—with only two stops for service. This revolutionary new twice-a-year maintenance program—available only in the cars from Ford—frees you forever from the nag-nag-nag of month-after-month servicing. (See chart.) It's the biggest thing that's happened to cars since Ford introduced the 12-month or 12,000-mile warranty. See your Ford Dealer soon—and start saving time and money with the convenience of twice-a-year maintenance. It's another Ford first!*

*Ford Motor Company warrants to its dealers, and its dealers in turn, warrant to their customers as follows: That for 12 months or for 12,000 miles, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty, appropriate adjustments will continue to be made by the tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance service and routine replacement of maintenance items such as filters, spark plugs, and ignition points.

Allegany Tests Martinsburg Here, Keyser At Piedmont Tonight

Bulldogs Seek 4th Win Over Local Schools

Visitors Are 10-1, Miers Brothers 2-2, Teams In 5th Game

Coach Roy Comer's ferocious Bulldogs from Martinsburg High School, who have put the bite on ten of eleven opponents so far this season, are slated to come to town tonight to face the Campers of Allegany High School in the final game of the series between the teams.

Martinsburg, rated 16th among the schools in West Virginia, will be striving to make a clean sweep of games with Cumberland schools this season after having won the first game from Allegany, 66-54, and beaten Fort Hill twice, 82-68 and 76-64.

The Bulldogs, who won 21 of 23 games last season, and got as far as the West Virginia Class AAA semi-finals before bowing to Huntington, beat Allegany twice and split even with Fort Hill.

Only Loss To Rebels

Martinsburg's only loss this season came at the hands of South Hagerstown's Rebels (63-56) who divided a pair with Allegany.

In addition to three wins over Cumberland schools this season, Comer's floormen have whipped Waynesboro, twice each, and downed Shepherdstown, North Hagerstown, Frederick, Keyser and Westminster.

Unpredictable Allegany has had its ups and down this season and is just above the .500 mark with a 7-6 record.

Eyes of Potomac Valley Conference followers will be focused on the big battle tonight at Piedmont where Keyser High School's Golden Tornado (8-0) will do battle with the Piedmont High Lions who have won eight of 10 league engagements.

Miers Brothers Even

In this one the Miers Brothers—Estle "Eck", of Keyser and William "Huck", of Piedmont, will try to outsmart each other as coaches of rival teams. "Eck" took over the coaching job at Keyser in 1960 after John Shelton was moved upstairs to the post of assistant principal and in four meetings to date he has split even with his younger brother, who is rounding out his 19th campaign as cage mentor of the Lions.

Piedmont won both games in 1960 by scores of 54-45 and 58-46 but Keyser won a pair last season, 58-56 and 61-55.

451st Game For "Huck"

Tonight's game, incidentally, will be Piedmont's 451st under "Huck" Miers, whose teams have won 290 and lost 160 for a .644 mark. His present team owns a 10-5 record.

"Eck" Miers' Keyser teams have posted a 35-22 record for a percentage of .614. For the current campaign the Golden Tornado is 11-2 overall.

In another P.V.C. game slated for tonight, Paw Paw's Pirates will opopse the Fort Ashby Eagles at Fort Ashby. Coach Quentin Sayers' quint copped the opener of this series by the score of 69-53. Paw Paw is 5-2 and Fort Ashby 8-5 in the conference.

Cepeda Turns Down Contract

Offered Increase Of 33⅓ Per Cent

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Orlando Cepeda has turned down a raise of 33 1-3 per cent over last season's contract, it was disclosed Tuesday by Vice President Charles (Chub) Feeney of the San Francisco Giants."

"We offered him a 33 1-3 per cent raise and he rejected it but we are continuing negotiations in a very friendly fashion," Feeney said.

He would not comment on reports that the Puerto Rican first baseman was seeking a boost to $55,000.

Cepeda is believed to have made $27,500 in 1961. Based on this figure, the Giants' offer would have lifted him into the $37,000 bracket.

After a slow start last year, Cepeda batted .311 for the season and led the National League with 46 home runs and 142 runs batted in.

Detroit's Bruton Agrees To Terms

DETROIT (UPI) — Centerfielder Billy Bruton and two prospects up from the minor leagues have agreed to terms for 1962, Detroit Tiger General Manager Rick Ferrell said Tuesday.

Bruton had his most productive home run season in the majors in 1961 when the former Milwaukee Brave star banged out 17 for a personal high. He hit .257.

Don Wert, 23, the third baseman who won the American Association batting title at Denver last year with a .328 mark, and right-handed pitcher Jerry Casale, also up from Denver, both came to terms, Ferrell said.

Griffith Is Visitor Proctor Vs. "Socko"

Barbering At Statler Policeman To Retire

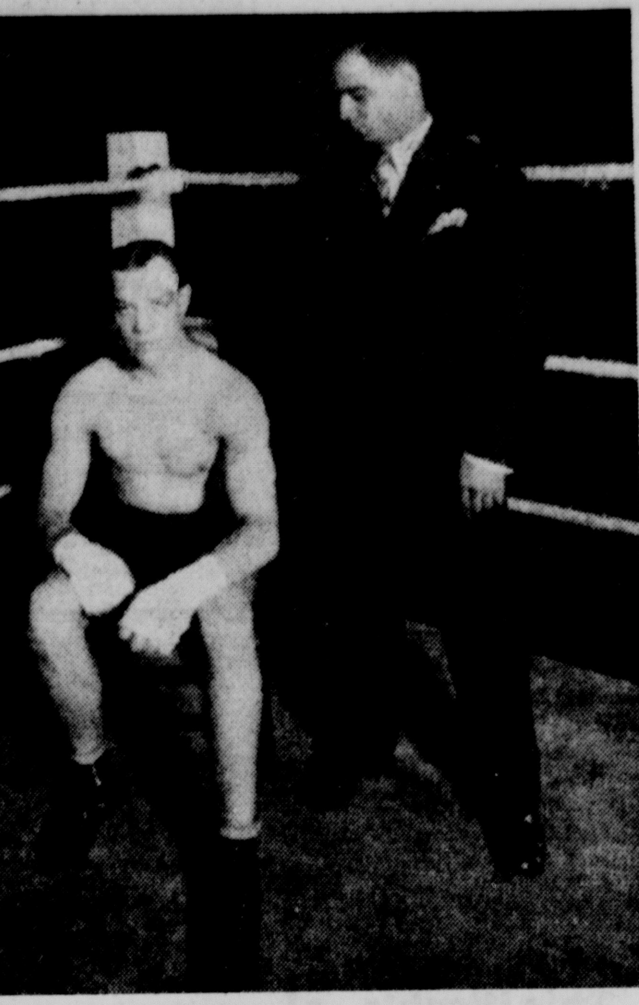
By C. V. BURNS

RAYMOND "Buck" Griffith was a visitor here over the weekend and therein lies a story.

"Buck" was one of Cumberland's outstanding young boxers of 30 years ago when the pros were packing 'em in for shows at the State Armory on South Centre street.



Buck Griffith And Christ Charuhas
A Boxer And His Manager

The ex-lightweight star, who is now barbering at the Hotel Statler in Washington, D. C., stopped off en route to Cleveland and the first place he visited was the Nu-Way Hat Cleaners shop on North Mechanic street, which is operated by Christ Charuhas, who managed "Buck", Lester "Bus" Reed, Jimmy Lamberson of La-Porte, Ind., Abby Eyler, Austin Ward, Frankie Smith, Austin Ward, Bobby Shrout and others.

Griffith, incidentally, has been a tonsorial artist at the capital for the past twenty years after having learned the barber trade in Cumberland.

Many of the regular fight-goers will recall Griffith's sizzling scraps with Mike Farrie, of Hagerstown; "Slambang" Harry Taylor, of Johnstown; Johnny Michaels, of Jamestown, N. Y.; Young Zabish, of Pittsburgh, and George "Buddy" Crass, the local 135-pound star, and now special policeman for the B.&O. Railroad. During the height of his ring career, "Buck" won ten consecutive bouts.

Griffith revealed that Police Capt. Joseph L. Proctor, 56, of Washington, has applied for a disability retirement after 27 years of rugged duty with the Metropolitan Police Department.

Proctor will be remembered as the young bank teller who stopped Clarence Trenum, better known as "Socko" Trenaman, twice in Cumberland in 1929 before jam-packed crowds at the armory.

Trenaman, a Westernport heavyweight, was a knockout sensation at that time and had flattened seven consecutive opponents in three rounds or less in 1928 and 1928, and skyrocketed from the curtain-raiser class to a main bout headliner.

Promoter Viv Ricker, who now operates the barber shop at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, enlisted the aid of Charuhas in helping line up an out-of-town opponent who could give "Socko" a better match so Christ set out for Washington to look over the field.

Charuhas contacted Goldie Ahearn, fight manager whose best bet was Marty Gallagher, the heavyweight, and he was instructed to visit a gym and give some of the bigger boys the once-over. Ahearn had a men's haberdashery shop opposite the Houston Hotel of which Chris' brother was the proprietor.

After visiting the gym, Charuhas liked the looks of one Joe Proctor, a bank teller, who had won the Middle Atlantic amateur heavyweight title in 1927-28 and was embarking on a pro career. Proctor accepted a $125 guarantee to fight Trenaman here March 19, 1929.

"Socko" battered Proctor all around the ring in the first round and the fans began to feel sorry for the baby-faced capital city boxer.

Charuhas said that the plan of battle was to have Trenaman play himself out in the first round as he knew Proctor "could take it" and "Socko" would lose confidence after he saw his best punches could not fell his opponent.

Proctor unloosed a barrage of left hooks to the head and body in the second round and "Socko" went down and was counted out.

Trenaman asked for a return match with Proctor and Joe was paid $175 and expenses to come back. He belted out Trenaman in the first round in their second engagement.

Proctor then asked for a $300 guarantee for a third match in Cumberland. He was given the choice of three opponents from Ohio, according to Promoter Ricker, and he picked the tough Harold Scarney, of Youngstown. Proctor went the limit in this bout but he took an unmerciful beating. That marked the end of the Washington boxer's ring career. "Chuck" Burns, the Texan, later whipped Scarney here and Patsy Perroni, a clever, hard-hitting heavyweight from Canton, Ohio, decisioned Burns in a great battle at the armory.

"Socko" Trenaman, who turned evangelist and served as a minister for 25 years, died suddenly at his home in Fairmont, W. Va., October 7, 1959, at the age of 49. He had preached in Ohio for many years after leaving this section.

Proctor, according to Griffith, has served as head of the Harbor Precinct in Washington since 1956, but has been on limited duty as a result of recurrent back ailments from injuries dating back to 1936.

Proctor always thought of being a minister but never thought he was quite good enough.

Joe joined the Police Department in 1934 and he suffered injuries several times while chasing speeding cars on his motorcycle.

The ex-pugilist who helped give boxing a shot in the arm here 30 years ago has been an adult Bible Class teacher at the Anacostia Methodist Church for the past 25 years.

Ferrell Top WVC Scorer With D.&E., At Keyser Tonight

Bob Ferrell, the top scorer in the West Virginia Conference, and one of the leading point-getters among the small colleges of the nation, will be the big attraction tonight when the Davis & Elkins College Senators invade Keyser for a game with Potomac State College's Catamounts at 8 o'clock.

Ferrell, who is averaging 30 points a game in the W.V.C., scored 27 points against Potomac State in the opening game of the series on December 12 which the Senators won by the score of 73-51.

D.&E. owns a 6-7 record in the conference while Potomac State is 0-3. Tonight's game will be the 16th of the season for the Catamounts who have an overall mark of 6-9.

Potomac, victor over Hagerstown Junior College on Monday, plays Shenandoah at Winchester, Va., Friday and hosts St. Mary's Junior College of St. Mary's, Md., on Saturday night.

Jackson In Line

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Larry Jackson, 30-year-old righthander of Boise, Idaho, and rookie pitcher Ray Washburn of Burbank, Wash., have signed their 1962 St. Louis Cardinal contracts, it was announced Tuesday.

Jackson, 29 suffered a broken jaw two weeks before the season opened, had a 3-8 record midway in the season, then won 11 of his next 12 games, finally finishing with a 14-11 record and a 3.75 earned run average.

Bucks, Bearcats Rated 1-2 Ninth Straight Week

Blue Devils Move Up To Sixth Place

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ohio State and Cincinnati, ranked 1-2 among the nation's college basketball teams Tuesday for the ninth straight week, have made true prophets of the United Press International Board of Coaches — so far.

As a matter of fact, so have Kansas State, Southern California and Duke, which filled the 4, 5 and 6 spots in this week's ratings of the 35 leading coaches who comprise the UPI board.

Ratings Of College Cage Teams By United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press International college basketball ratings (with first-place votes and won-lost records through Jan. 27 in parentheses):

Team	Points
1. Ohio State (34) (14-0)	349
2. Cincinnati (14-2)	298
3. Kentucky (1) (13-1)	275
4. Kansas State (14-2)	206
5. Southern Calif (12-3)	202
6. Duke (12-2)	112
7. Duquesne (14-2)	104
8. Bradley (12-3)	83
9. Oregon State (14-1)	68
10. Villanova (15-2)	66

Second 10 teams — 11, Bowling Green, 30; 12, West Virginia, 24; 13, Mississippi State, 22; 14, Utah, 20; 15, Loyola (Chicago), 17; 16, Colorado, 8; 17 (tie), Wichita and Arizona State, 7 each; 19 (tie), Santa Clara, Houston and North Carolina, 5 each.

Others — Utah State, 4; Colorado State, 3; Stanford and St. John's, 2 each; Loyola (Calif.), 1.

Utilizing the mid-season lull to review the coaches' pre-season forecast, Ohio State and Cincinnati were overwehlming choices as the two top teams. Southern California was pegged right behind them in last November's predictions, Kansas State was No. 6 and Duke No. 8.

Kentucky, third this week, and Bradley, No. 8 have done better than the coaches had expected, while Duquesne (No. 7) Oregon State (No. 9) and Villanova (No. 10 have proved the surprise teams of the season thus far.

Prove Season's Flops

In the coaches' pre-season forecast, Kentucky was 12th and Bradley 13th. Duquesne, Oregon State and Villanova were overlooked.

Providence and Wake Forest have proved the flops of the present season. Picked fourth and fifth in the pre-season ratings, they did not receive a single point this week.

In dominating the ratings again, just as they did every week of last season, the Buckeyes of Ohio State were the No. 1 choice of 34 coaches on the UPI rating board. One coach continued to make Kentucky his first choice and picked Ohio State second.

Kentucky, ranked third for the third week in a row, was idle last week, enabling Cincinnati to widen its second-place margin from 18 to 23 points.

Rate Duke Sixth

Kansas State moved up one notch to fourth place, exchanging places with Southern California, which also did not play last week. Duke made the biggest advance of the week, moving three notches to No. 6, while Oregon State advanced one place to ninth.

The coaches based their ratings on games played through Saturday night, Jan. 27.

Three games most likely to shake up the ratings this week pitted Duquesne against Villanova in Pittsburgh, Saturday; Cincinnati at Houston, Thursday, and Duke at North Carolina, Saturday.

Schools From Five States Show Interest In Alhambra Tourney

Six Quints Will Get Invites; 3 Virginia Teams Seek Berths

Schools from five states and the District of Columbia are interested in participating in the second annual Alhambra Catholic Invitational Basketball Tournament to be staged at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium, March 23, 24 and 25, according to mail received in the past several days by Joseph F. Divico, co-chairman of the tournament committee.

Divico has contacted approximately 100 schools in publicizing the event and 20 or more responded immediately.

With St. George High School's Dragons of Pittsburgh and LaSalle of Cumberland, the winner and runner-up last year, automatically qualified, there will be openings for six more schools in the eight-team tourney and no invitations will be issued until the season is more advanced and records are received at a later date.

Virginians Interested

Among the topnotch Virginia quints anxious to compete here are Benedictine High of Richmond with an 8-1 record, St. Paul's Central High, of Portsmouth, 11-1, and Holy Cross High, Lynchburg, 8-2. Benedictine had reeled off 28 consecutive wins before losing to Highland Springs.

Three Pittsburgh schools are among those receptive to invitations. They are St. Canice with a 12-4 mark at the present time, St. Anselm High, 13-5, and St. Mary's of the Mount, 11-7, which got off to a slow start, then scored nine straight wins and lost a triple overtime battle to St. George's Dragons.

Towson Has Winner

Towson Catholic of Towson, Md., which copped third place in the 1961 tourney here, has a new coach this season in Paul M. Baker, and boasts an 11-5 record, including wins over Calvert Hall, Mt. St. Joseph's and Baltimore Loyola.

Joseph P. McGrath, who coached Towson last season, is now the mentor at St. Joseph's Boys High School, West New York, N. J., and states he is hopeful of getting his team which has a 7-4 record into the tournament here. St. Joe's plays a stiff schedule and McGrath feels his team could make a good showing here.

St. Anthony's, of Washington, D.C., (6-0) is another school seeking a tournament berth.

Inquiry From Charlotte

Among the inquiries received about the local tournament yesterday was one from Tom Brennan, athletic director of Charlotte Catholic High School, of Charlotte, N.C.

Four Maryland schools participated in the first tournament staged here. They were St. Maria Goretti, Hagerstown; Immaculate Conception, Towson; St. Mary's, Annapolis, and LaSalle, the host school.

Two entries were from Pennsylvania, namely, St. Joseph's of Natrona and St. George, Pittsburgh, and the other schools were Priory and St. Anthony's, of Washington, D.C.

Trophy Valued At $300

The king-size trophy, which St. George won a leg on last year, is valued at approximately $300 and must be won by the same school three times to become a permanent possession.

The three-day tourney opens here on a Friday and ends on Sunday. On the first two days there will be four games each day, commencing at 5 p.m. Three games are billed for Sunday, starting at 1 p.m.

Divico and Peter J. Carpenti are the co-chairman of the tourney committee.

Reds Get Dobbek

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —The Minnesota Twins announced Tuesday they had acquired catcher Jerry Zimmerman from the Cincinnati Reds for outfielder Dan Dobbek and cash.

AMERICA'S BEST-LOOKING COMPACT

People have been calling Valiant America's best-looking compact since way back in 1960. Now the famous Society of Illustrators has made it official: they've knighted Valiant's Signet 200 with their medal for styling excellence. Valiant has a jaunty look all its own, as a glance will tell you.

OUTPERFORMS MOST OTHER COMPACTS

As the saying goes, handsome is as handsome does. And Valiant does. Twice in two years Valiant has taken on all compacts that dared face it at Daytona Beach—and made them eat Valiant's dust. And Valiant's 101-horsepower get-up-and-gallop is the kind you can use where you do your driving.

LOW PRICE COMPLETES THE PICTURE

Valiant prices have been reduced for the second year in a row. So now is the time to come see the compact that's quality-engineered by Chrysler Corporation. Price it, drive it at your Plymouth-Valiant Dealer's. NOBODY BEATS VALIANT FOR VALUE!

U.S. Leads In Space Science

So well advanced is the United States space program today, it is difficult to believe the fourth anniversary of the first successful U. S. satellite launching is being observed. It seems as if the event occurred longer ago than on January 31, 1958.

Hundreds of successful missile and satellite launchings have followed the 1958 orbital achievement, but the excitement, the badly needed boost to morale provided by Explorer I is fresh in memory.

The U. S. is no longer considered a poor second in space endeavors. In the one area of rocket development still not equal to Russian claims — engine propulsion — the gap has been narrowed significantly. In all other areas of technical advantage, from most numerous and most varied satellites to the collection, transmission and evaluation of data from within and beyond the earth's atmosphere, there has never been any question about U. S. superiority.

Time disadvantages caused by a late start in space exploration are evaporating with each month. Now U. S. deficiencies, if any, in the field of orbital flights of manned capsules can be measured in months instead of years.

Five years was the predicted length of time needed for the U. S. to reach a superior position in all important areas of space activity when Explorer I made its successful tour around the globe. Only one year now remains, and it seems very much as if the deadline will be met.

No such spectacular progress in space should be expected in the next five years—by any country. The conquest of earth's position in the universe will be largely completed in the next year. From then on, the scene of activity will begin moving out—way out.

Men will not be camping on the moon in as short a period of time as it took to establish excursions around our planet. Perhaps the longer range and less spectacular progress will permit space exploration to settle back into proper perspective.

Until the sound of a human voice speaking from the other side of the moon comes back to tingle the spines of his fellow earthmen, that is.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

His Name Is Uncle Sam

One of the truly great editorials of all time appeared in the "New York Sun" in reply to a child, Virginia, who wanted to know whether there is a Santa Claus. The truth of the matter, of course, is that there is a Santa Claus, but he dwells only in the heart of the generous. He has no form, no style, no nationality, no particular religion. He is the embodiment of love.

Now along comes Robert G. Smith who wants to know if there is an Uncle Sam. He writes to ask:

"My name is not Virginia and I'm considerably more than nine years old but I, too, have a momentous question regarding a well-known character:

"Is there an Uncle Sam?

"You know who I mean,—the tall, rugged, white-haired figure in red-and-white-striped trousers, blue coat and star-spangled hat—traditional symbol of the American Way of Life.

"Is he still around? Or is he hiding out in the Green Mountains of Vermont? Or some other place like that?

"Some say Uncle Sam is a back number. They say Uncle Sugar Daddy is now top man in Washington, — doling out his assorted 'goodies' to his many nephews and nieces, his country cousins and foreign relations.

"They say patriotism is strictly for the birds—the vanishing Bald Eagle that is . . . .

"I suppose it's the old-fashioned Connecticut Yankee in me, or maybe my four years in the Navy during World War II, but I'm kinda hard to convince.

"Disturbed by the obvious lack of any national book of patriotic inspiration, and remembering that where there is no vision the people perish, I compiled ONE NATION UNDER GOD as 'An Anthology for Americans,' with the earnest hope and prayer it would be hailed with gladness as just what the country needs for times like these . . ."

Of course, there is an Uncle Sam. He is a simple fellow who has built a great country with his own hands. His ancestors crossed an ocean to find an alien shore here. Everybody who ever came here had to cross a frightening ocean.

In the old days, Uncle Sam's ancestors found Indians and forests and wild beasts; today, those who come find large cities, with good roads to connect them, with railroads and airplanes. In the old days, each man built his home and his school-house and his church by his own sinews and sweat; today he moves into a house of the most modern devices.

In the old days, Uncle Sam had to find a place for himself, where he could farm for food and clothing, where his wife could cook and spin and sew; today, his wife finds what she requires in a supermarket, while he earns a wage and builds a family.

In the old days, Uncle Sam crossed mountains and rivers and valleys, carrying his goods and folks with great hardship until he found a place for himself, risking limb and life to conquer a continent and make it a glorious granary; today, he finds ample facilities to take him from place to place and wherever he goes there are mines and mills and factories and stores to provide work, and wherever he goes there are schools and colleges and technological institutes for those who require such facilities and have the ambition to use them.

And there are churches, too. There are prayer houses of all varieties of religion, each man either following freely in the ways of his ancestors, or choosing his own way, or none at all. Freedom of choice is the doctrine that guides our people and those who would limit freedom are regarded as hateful creatures, not true descendants of Uncle Sam.

Is there an Uncle Sam?

More than 50 races of man have found a free life here, freedom of opportunity, freedom of choice, freedom of movement, freedom to work, freedom to read and write and speak. And to give glory to it all, for each there is freedom to worship God, each man as he chooses, whether Jew, or Christian, or Moslem, or whatever.

Is there an Uncle Sam?

How can one doubt it?

Yes, Uncle Sam is in the hearts of those who believe that freedom and equality are qualities which come to us from God and will survive all the errors of stupid and selfish men and women.

Two Senators Asked Ike To Make Statement On Military Censorship

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Inside fact about Eisenhower's recent statement on military censorship is that Sens. John Stennis of Mississippi and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts asked him for it. One a Democrat, the other a Republican, they got so worried about right-wing sentiment in favor of the military that they got together in a bi-partisan request of the ex-President that he make a statement.

His statement, though moderate, was generally interpreted as siding with the brass hats against censorship by their civilian bosses.

What most people overlooked, however, is that Kennedy and Secretary McNamara are following the exact rules laid down by Eisenhower earlier for censoring military speeches.

This fact was brought out by the Moss Committee on Nov. 15, 1956, when it called in Joseph Edgerton, director of Security Review for the Defense Department. Crusty old Clare Hoffman, Michigan Republican, asked him:

"If the Secretary (of the Army) Brucker, or General (Maxwell) Taylor wrote a speech and were not proposing to speak for the department, would you have anything to do with it?"

Hoffman explained that he meant "if he were just going to speak to the Lions Club or the Exchange Club."

"I do not think he can divorce himself from his status as Secretary of the Army — I think it should be cleared," replied Edgerton.

"Assuming Secretary Brucker went out talking about the Army and said, 'I go along with Ike,'" continued Congressman Hoffman, "'I think we should have a larger — or a smaller army.' Would that come to your office or to any other department of the government for censorship?"

Edgerton — "Yes, it would come to us."

Hoffman — "And would you tell him what he should say?"

Edgerton — "We would pass that to Mr. Ross's office" — referring to the then assistant Secretary of Defense.

Hoffman — "Could Mr. Ross tell Mr. Brucker he could not say that?"

Edgerton — "He might do it on his authority, or the authority of the Secretary of Defense."

Edgerton told the subcommittee that a White House directive required to be enforced under the Eisenhower Administration obliged all government departments to clear with the Defense Department "all material dealing with military affairs, speeches and otherwise."

This was Nov. 15, 1956.

Four years later, just before Kennedy was inaugurated, Adm. Harry Felt stirred up a hornets' nest in Australia by lecturing Australians on their duties. Later, Adm. Samuel B. Frankel went over the heads of his civilian chiefs with a speech criticizing the administration policy of negotiating with our European Allies regarding Russia.

Both speeches clearly barged into the civilian field. So President Kennedy applied the system previously set up by Eisenhower.

"Hand Back That Medal"

Quite a few Washington bigwigs are going to have red faces if the Dominican Republic continues its policy of recalling decorations and honorary degrees handed out by the Trujillo dictatorship.

The new democratic Dominican government set the precedent by recalling the honorary degree given by the University of Santo Domingo to Sen. George Smathers of Florida, onetime golfing partner of President Kennedy. Smathers' law firm has represented the Dominican government steamship line, and the Senator himself had made several trips to the beleaguered island for conferences with Dictator Trujillo.

The Senator's office, when questioned about the honorary degree, said that Smathers hadn't wanted the degree in the first place. "Sour grapes," say the Dominicans. "He was a great friend of Trujillo."

The handsome Senator from Florida is not the only recipient of honors from the old Dominican dictatorship. Another was Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts. Another was Congressman Gardner Withrow (the Wisconsin Republican who made a speech in the U. S. Congress praising Dominican democracy as greater than ours). Another was Donald Jackson, California Republican, who had expected to go to the Dominican Republic and live in retirement.

The only man who challenged these decorations was Congressman Charley Porter of Oregon, who suggested that his Congressional colleagues return their medals. This made John McCormack so furious that when Porter, a Democrat, came up for a job appointment by the Kennedy Administration, McCormack sent word that Porter would get a job only over his dead body. That ended that, and Porter is now back in Oregon running for Congress.

Headlines And Footnotes

The American Jewish Congress has successfully sued the Arabian-American Oil Company, in which Central Intelligence Chief John McCone has an interest, for job discrimination. The Congress claimed that Aramco refused to give jobs to members of the Jewish faith not merely in Saudi Arabia but in its New York office — which, it claimed, was in violation of New York State anti-discrimination laws. After considerable litigation and an appeal to the higher courts, the Congress won the battle as it applies to employment in Aramco's offices in the United States. Aramco, however, has not yet adhered to the ruling. . . . McCone is one of the biggest stockholders in Standard Oil of California which founded Aramco and exercises considerable influence over it. . . . President Kennedy doesn't forget his friends. The morning after the big Democratic dinner in Washington, he phoned Jane Freeman, beautiful wife of Secretary of Agriculture Freeman, also Carroll Rosenblum, co-chairmen of the dinner, to thank them for their fine job.

President Pushes Republicans To The Right

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky has let it be known that he is preparing a major speech, warning Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona against trying to impose his viewpoint on the Republican party, and warning the party, too, against taking the Goldwater road to the extreme right.

It is remarkable that one leading Republican should be planning to rise on the floor of the Senate to condemn the view point of another leading Republican. It is also symptomatic of the sense of frustration which afflicts the minority of moderate and progressive-minded Republicans in the present Congress.

Sen. Cooper's credentials for admonishing his party are gilt-edged. He comes from a state that is traditionally strongly Democratic. Last year, he made a rather lonely race for re-election, without the lavish financial support that more right-wing Republicans customarily enjoy. In the outcome, he won by the largest majority ever given a Kentucky Senator, including even the enormously popular Democrat, Alben Barkley.

Consequently, Sen. Cooper cannot be blamed if he thinks that he has found the recipe for Republican success in middle-of-the-road progressivism and the rejection of over-shrill partisanship. Yet even in Kentucky, Cooper's Republican colleague, Sen. Thruston Morton, is reportedly preparing to take a much more right-wing line than Cooper did when he seeks re-election this year.

As for the Republican party in Congress, its present trend may be judged from the fact that an important moderating influence was lost by the recent death of the immensely able but staunchly conservative Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Sen. Bridges' replacement as chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, is also an able man and stands about where Bridges stood. But the party as a whole is to the right of Hickenlooper in the Senate. And the Republicans in the House of Representatives are still further to the right, on average, than their Senate brothers.

The House Leader, Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, the chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, Rep. William Miller of New York, and Sen. Goldwater, who is chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, have now the dominant voices in shaping their party's Congressional tactics. One result was the solid Republican vote in the House Rules Committee against the President's bill to establish a new Department of Urban Affairs.

The President seized the opportunity thus offered to announce that he would set up the Department anyway, and would name his Negro Housing Administrator, Robert Weaver, as the Department's first head. The Republicans' cries of rage after this coup could be heard from Capitol Hill to the Maryland and Virginia suburbs.

The incidents illustrated the Congressional Republicans' habitual carelessness-in-action of the crucial big-city vote, as well as their extreme sensitivity when this carelessness is dramatized. And it also illustrated another phenomenon of some importance — the President's crafty wish to elbow the opposition party into an extreme right-wing posture.

The President's instinct is that the extreme right-wing posture is a losing posture, at least in the parts of the country where there are large numbers of valuable voters. He has checked his instince, as usual, by having polls taken. These show, for instance, that nearly nine of ten American voters, if they have heard of the John Birch Society at all, are positively hostile to the Birchers as crackpot extremists.

Thus when Gov. Pat Brown of California visited Washington, one bit of homely, practical advice he got from the White House was to try to pin the John Birch label on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon — who is emphatically not a Bircher himself, but has an uncomfortably large number of Birchers in his party in California.

Obviously the rank-and-file of Congressional Republicans are not going to go anywhere nearly as far to the right as the John Birch Society. They are not even going to go as far to the right as Sen. Goldwater. But Goldwater, Halleck, and Miller are pulling them rightwards, and President Kennedy will give them a push to the right whenever a good opening occurs, as it did last week.

In short, the admonitions of Sen. Cooper are likely to go unheeded. And this will not be altered by the fact that the three most significant active Republicans outside Congress, former Vice President Nixon, Gov. Rockefeller of New York, and the new entrant, George Romney of Michigan, will undoubtedly agree with most of what Cooper as to say.

POSTAL SLOGANS—With some gentle nudging from the Post Office Department, the manufacturer of those postage meters which permit large volume mailers to pay for postage without actually affixing stamps on the envelopes, is tightening up its regulations on the use of slogans.

The company has long sought to bar the use of political and ideological slogans in connection with postage meter use, but review of its practices stems from the attempt by the right wing John Birch Society to get company officials to use their slogan — "This is a Republic, Not a Democracy—Let's Keep It That Way."

The Post Office Department asked meter users not to print the slogan because of confusion over the source. Many casual recipients of letters so marked believed the slogans had been placed there by the U.S. government.

Fact is that the government itself resorts to this form of advertisement. The Post Office Department has succeeded in getting some meter users to insert its own slogan — "Use Zone Numbers."

Postmaster General J. Edward Day declares it is "inappropriate for mail cancellations to carry any ideological material, whether I agree with it or not."

The Difference Between Genius And Insanity

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"Is there a hairbreadth's difference between genius and insanity?" asks M. B. The answer is no, even though a person must have some brains to develop a mental disease. The genius is endowed with unusual talents, but, like anyone else, could become insane under emotional stress.

On the other hand, the mentally disturbed, especially schizophrenics, live in a dream world all their own. Many are able to cope with their environment and do credible work. Their office associates—and often the family—are unaware of their mental condition unless they go too far astray and must be institutionalized.

A few psychotic individuals are gifted painters, musicians, poets, composers, authors, playwrights, and others who do creative work. They have such phenomenal and unusual imaginativeness they are regarded as geniuses. This is true only when they have the technical ability to interpret their visions into conventional forms of expression.

Useful and beautiful things can be created from the dream world only if the person has the technic and intelligence to promote the translation. Among this group are some of the geniuses of architecture, electronics, and music. If they did not have the basic know-how, or intelligence, their mode of expression would be too unconventional or disjointed to command ready acceptance.

Painters of the surrealist school, such as Dali and Magritte, were said to be envious of the schizophrenic's faculty for living in a dreamlike state. They were unaware that the dream world also can be a nightmare, with painful or threatening experiences. The gifted schizophrenic sees the world differently from other men. He has a heightened awareness, perhaps through dread, that leads to markedly acute perception.

This faculty was not available to the gifted but sane artists whose perception was dulled by familiarity. As a result, many of the early surrealists attempted to paint psychotic imagery. It was difficult to do, however, because they had to deliberate and plan, which tends to stifle spontaneous creativity. The schizophrenic was not bothered along this line, but as he became saner, the ability to portray fantasy diminished. The this failure meant he was improved mentally but his work usually was worse.

TOMORROW: Meniere's syndrome.

COCKTAILS AND PRESSURE

J. D. writes: Does a daily cocktail raise or lower the blood pressure?

REPLY

It should lower the pressure if the cocktail relaxes and raise it if the individual is stimulated. But in all probability the change is too slight to be of practical value. Much depends upon the original blood pressure reading. A high reading is more likely to be lowered whereas no change occurs when the pressure is normal or low.

STIMULATING BONE MARROW

J. L. F. writes: How can a lazy bone marrow be forced to make enough blood?

REPLY

Some bone marrows are so lazy, that nothing will pep them up whereas others can be stimulated with vitamin B 12 or folic acid.

STONY

F. L. writes: Is a person who has developed gallstones prone to develop kidney stones too?

REPLY

No. There is no relationship between the two conditions, even though many persons have had both kidney and gall stones.

BOOSTER FLU SHOTS

B. C. G. writes: Is a booster shot needed two or three months after a flu shot?

REPLY

Yes, provided protection is needed for a few more months.

ARTHRITIC HEEL

Mrs. M. K. writes: I have arthritis of the knees, neck, and ankles. Now my right heel has become so painful, walking is no fun. I weigh 200 pounds. What causes this heel condition and what can be done about it?

REPLY

Arthritis is the most logical explanation. You need to lose weight and obtain treatment before the joint surfaces in your heel are damaged beyond repair.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Jack Kofoed, one of Florida's most distinguished columnists, discovered a girl in a Miami hotspot who had been a Copacabana beauty, and the toast of Broadway, only a few years before. Now, though her diamonds were real, and her dress the latest Dior model, her hands shook as she reached for a hooker of brandy, and her eyes had lost their lustre.

The story? She had been madly in love with a writer. He was good — but no publisher would take a chance on his stuff. They were married anyhow. She thought love was enough until Mr. Moneybags came along with his fortune of seventy million, and that made up for his atrocious looks and manners. So she went to Reno; then married Mr. Moneybags. The day after she moved into his thirty-room duplex, she read in the paper:

"YOUNG MILLIONAIRE COMMITS SUICIDE!" . . . two days ago inherited ten million dollars from an uncle in Australia, shot himself to death today. He left a note saying that life without his ex-showgirl wife was not worth living . . ."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

(Editor's Note: It is only a matter of time before nuclear missiles no longer will be the exclusive threat of the great powers. Then what? Jim Bishop turns the clock ahead and updates the calendar 11 years in this column. Who's to say that it can't happen?)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2, 1973 — The President of the United States announced at 6 a. m. that the Republic of Guatemala has declared a state of war to exist between itself and the United States, the Soviet Union, and the People's Republic of China. The note from Senor Jose de Asturias, president of Guatemala, gives the three countries six hous in which to surrender, under threat of total annihilation.

With the notes were films showing Guatemala's stockpile of terroristic weapons and the launching of her fleet of space vehicles, two days ago. The Secretary of State was noncommittal at an emergency press conference called at 7 a. m. but the feeling here is that the three great countries, having been taken by complete surprise, will surrender before noon.

To the casual observer, there appears to be no choice. No one realized, until now, that Guatemala had joined the nuclear club. Those countries now threatened have the means to destroy Guatemala, but Presidente de Asturias has anticipated this and, in his ultimatum announced that he would unleash all of his country's power at the first radar sign of a missile heading toward his country.

Those who have seen the film will not be quoted, but they claim that scientists, routed from bed by the President to study the material, acknowledged that the missiles stored in Chichicastenango and San Francisco el Alto are enormous — probably 200 megatons apiece. They are said to be zeroed in on the principal cities of Russia, China and the U. S.

What part of this is bluff and what is genuine no one knows, but the Space Administration admits that five huge Spacesleds were picked up by radar yesterday in orbit. They are now identified as Guatemalan. This resolves a series of recriminations going on between the U.S., Russia and China all day yesterday. Each was accusing the others of violating the Azores Pact of 1970, which forbids any nation to place a weapon in orbit without prior notification to the other signatories.

Guatemala claims that the Spacesleds are in northwest-to-southeast orbits about ten degrees latitude apart and that their crews have explicit orders to start dropping series H and N bombs at noon, Washington time, unless countermanded by the voice of Presidente de Asturias. The rain of destruction, augmented by the fixed position missiles already poised in Guatemala, would destroy much of civilization before sundown.

Premier Toplovsky of the Soviet Union made an emergency announcement, monitored here at 7 a. m., that the world of Socialism has always had the friendliest feeling toward its brothers in Guatemala and would be happy to negotiate a summit with Presidente Asturias. Toplovsky blamed the United States for not negotiating a "sensible" disarmament agreement in the 1960s which, Toplovsky declared, would have kept little Guatemala happy making serapes.

China has sent a top priority not to Asturias, but made no announcement of the contents. At the same time, the Guatemalan ambassador to the United Nations issued a statement counselling the other nuclear powers of the world to remain "calm and neutral." He said that his country has gone to war to preserve peace.

Unofficially, he told correspondents that the ultimatum to the great powers had been in the making for years, and that his country was bankrupt from its nuclear effort. Should the three big powers surrender, Ambassador Davila y Lopez said that part of the terms would be economic reimbursement to the Guatemalan government covering the cost of its weapons.

He said that Presidente de Asturias has no desire to conquer the world. "If the three powers surrender," he said, "the Guatemalan government will impose immediate and total disarmament on each of them. There will be no more war, and no threat of war."

A reporter asked the Ambassador if that situation would not leave Guatemala as the most powerful nation in the world. "Indeed yes," he said. "In fact, it will leave us as the sole nuclear power because we plan to disarm the other nuclear nations tomorrow — provided, of course, that the big ones capitulate today." At this point in the interview, an American security official placed the Ambassador in protective custody "as an enemy alien."

An announcement at 9 a.m. that China is flying a peace mission to Guatemala would infer that the People's Republic has already capitulated. At the same hour, no missiles had left either the U.S. or Russia for Guatemala and this is taken to mean that those countries have surrendered, or plan to do so before the noon deadline.

Among the press corps in Washington, most of whose members are writing dispatches from the fallout shelter under the National Press Club, there has been a rush to locate material on Guatemala, much neglected in the world press. It seems that this valiant country raises bananas. They don't eat them; just grow them…

Steve Brooks Voted Woolf Jockey Award

Rode 3,729 Winners In 24 Years On Turf

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) —Steve Brooks, the fifth leading rider in United States turf history, Tuesday was voted the George Woolf Memorial jockey award for 1962.

Brooks, now in his 24th season as a jockey and with 3729 victories on the turf to his credit going into this week, was selected to receive the Woolf award by turf writers covering the current race meeting at Santa Anita.

The award, a bronze miniature of the George Woolf statue which stands in the paddock gardens at Santa Anita, will be presented to Brooks at a public ceremony Feb. 12. Brooks will fly out from Hialeah, Fla., to receive the award.

The George Woolf award has been presented annually since 1950 in memory of the late jockey who lost his life in a riding accident at Santa Anita in 1946. Woolf's widow, Mrs. Genevie Woolf - Cayer, will make the presentation of the award to Brooks Feb. 12.

The only riders in the United States who rank ahead of Brooks in victories are John Longden, Eddie Arcaro, Willie Shoemaker and Ted Atkinson, who retired with 3794 wins, a mark Brooks hopes to pass this year.

Those who are ahead of Brooks in victories all are previous winners of the Woolf award.

Wilt Makes Shambles Of Point Race

Ups Lead To 1,000 Over Elgin Baylor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain, the greatest pro scoring star of all-time, is making a shambles of the National Basketball Association point title by opening up a 1,000-point lead over his nearest competitor.

Chamberlain, gunning for his third straight NBA scoring title, has netted a total of 2,746 points in games through Sunday for a 49.9 per game average. The Warrior skyscraper has been able to boost his point total by connecting on more than 60 per cent of his foul shots, something he couldn't match the last two years.

Elgin Baylor, who plays for the Los Angeles Lakers when he can get an Army pass, trailed Chamberlain with 1,716 points and a 38.1 average.

Dolph Schayes, the Syracuse ace who has been a top foul shooter since his entry into pro basketball, maintaained a league leading percentage of .883 on 227 for 257. Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati led in assists with 611.

Sharman Named Pipers Coach

Replaces McLendon Who Has Resigned

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League Tuesday hired Bill Sharman as their new coach. Sharman, an outstanding player for 10 years with the Boston Celtics and a coach for the Los Angeles Jets this season, succeeds John McLendon, who has resigned.

The Jets recently suspended operations.

McLendon had piloted the team to the first-half championship in the ABL's Eastern Division, but the team has lost seven of nine games in the second half.

Pittsburgh Rens Sign 235-Pounder

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Rens of the American Basketball League Tuesday signed 6-7 Chuck Curtis, a 235-pound forward who was formerly with the National Industrial League New York Tapers for two years.

Curtis will be on hand in New York Tuesday night for the Rens game against the Tapers. Curtis, whose home is in Tacoma, Wash., is a graduate of Pacific Lutheran University.

The Rens received the negotiating rights for Curtis from the Chicago Majors. The Majors obtained the right to negotiate with Curtis from New York as part of a rtade involving Tony Jackson and Ron Zagar.

Sir Gaylord Cops Hialeah Park Feature

Crimson Satan 2nd, Floridian Bay 3d

MIAMI, Fla., Jan 30 (AP)—Sir Gaylord and Crimson Satan, leading challengers for unbeaten Ridan in next Wednesday's Bahamas stakes at Hialeah, made their debuts as 3-year-olds in today's seventh race and finished one-two in the sharp time of 10.9 2/5 for six furlongs.

Sir Gaylord won by three quarters of a length, with Crimson Satan 1½ lengths ahead of Floridian Bay, who set the pace to the eighth pole. Stinson Beach was a distant fourth.

Ridan had made his debut as a 3-year-old on Jan. 20 and won the Hibiscus Stakes in 1:09 2/5, his eighth victory without defeat. He did not run in to day's race but will face Sir Gaylord and Crimson Satan in the Bahamas, at 7 furlongs.

Crimson Satan was voted 2-year-old champion of 1961 but was second choice in the betting as the crowd of 14,245 made Sir Gaylord a 3-4 favorite. Crimson Satan is considered a better route horse than a sprinter.

Sir Gaylord paid 3.50, 2.40 and 2.30. Crimson Satan paid 3.20 and 2.90. Floridian Bay paid 4.70 to show.

Sir Gaylord, owned by Meadow Stable, was rated sixth on the experimental weights at 121 pounds. Crimson Satan was experimental high weight at 126, with Ridan at 125. Last year Sir Gaylord won four successive stakes in midsummer, then tailed off and finished third four successive times.

Crimson Satan was voted 2-year-old champion on the basis of victories in two stakes over a route of ground—the Garden State Stakes and the Pimlico Futurity.

Penicillin Reaction Reported As Cause Of Mrs. Wolfner's Death

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A penicillin reaction caused the death of Mrs. Violet Bidwill Wofner, 62, board chairman of the St. Louis pro football Cards, the Dade County medical examiner said Tuesday.

Mrs. Wolfner's death was officially listed as natural. She died Tuesday in a doctor's office where she had gone for treatment of a throat infection.

Germany's Four-Man Bobsled Team Wins, U.S. Entry Is 14th

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP) — Franz Schelle, a 32-year-old trucker, piloted Germany's favored No 1 sled to the world four-man bobsled championship Tuesday in a bobtailed two-heat competition.

The lone American entry, driven by Lloyd Johnson of Madison, Wis., finished 14th in the field of 15.

Snow fell over the course during both runs as Schelle overcame a slight first-run deficit and won by a little more than half a second with a total time of 2 minutes, 33.66 for the two journeys lown the mile-long Olympic chute.

Italy's No. 1 entry took second place with a time of 2:34.23.

Schelle's times were 1:16.99 and 1:16.67.

Johnson, a 46-year-old businessman who won the world title in 1953, had runs of 1:23.28 and 1:18.29 for a total of 2:41.57.

Back in 1887, while playing for St. Louis of the American Association, Charles A. (Old Roman) Comiskey, later to organize the White Sox, stole 122 bases in 125 games.

Littler Tops Money Winners On Golf Tour

Gene Has Earned $11,250 In Month

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — Gene Littler, who picked up $9,000 for winning the Lucky golf tournament last weekend, moved to the top of the list Tuesday as the leading money-winner of 1962 on the PGA tour.

Littler, who rallied to win the Lucky tournament title after frittering away a six-stroke lead, now has earned $11,250 in the first month of the new year.

Young Phil Rodgers is close behind with earnings of $9,700 and Tommy Jacobs is third with $7,510. Then comes Doug Ford ($5,925), Joe Campbell ($4,746), George Knudson, 24-year-old newcomer from Toronto who finished second to Littler in the Lucky tourney and picked up $4,600 to boost his total to $4,711, Bob Goalby ($4,525), Bob Rosburg ($4,460) George Bayer ($4,218) and Johnny Pott ($4,050) to complete the top 10.

Rodgers, Goalby and Bayer are the only players in the top 10 to have finished in the first five twice. The tournament winners on the list beside Litler are Rodgers, Jacobs and Ford.

(So what else is new?)
Plenty. Not only is the Dauphine about $200 cheaper than it was a year ago; it's a even better car. To cite one improvement: a synchronized low gear lets you shift back into low without stopping, skip through traffic on the run.
Some other nice, new touches in the '62 Dauphine: Exteriors are dip-painted to get a protective coating into unreachable joints and crevices. The engine now runs even quieter because we've improved the piston design.
Or look at our 1962 Dauphine Deluxe. It's got all-new, all-vinyl interiors and more comfortable foam rubber seats. (You can call the front seats "bucket" if you like; they look just like what other people are calling bucket seats. The backs are adjustable to four positions.) Fancy new steering wheel, too.
But how are you going to improve things like: up to 40 mpg. gas economy, 4 doors for easy in and out, fancy Paris styling, a big 7 cu. ft. trunk. All this with a 12-month or 12,000 mile warranty. So you wonder, how can we make a car that's so good, and still sell it for $1395? That's for us to know and you to find out... soon, we hope. Come in today and drive your new Dauphine away.

LaSalle Wins In Double Overtime, Rebels Top Fort Hill, 76-64

Mike Long's Goals Decide; Robertson, Sloan Score 34

Tightly contested, down-to-the-wire battles have become a regular habit with coach John Thomas' Mt. Savage High School cagers, but last night they got involved in one that provided the fans enough thrills to take care of the next ten seasons.

The Indians, sparked by their pair of sensational sophomores, staged a courageous second half comeback, but lost to LaSalle in an 88-86 double overtime thriller at the SS. Peter and Paul gymnasium.

Trailing at one stage of the third period by 16 points, the scrappy Indians came on with a sensational rally that was climaxed just at the final buzzer when sophomore center Ralph Wilson tossed in a tie-producing field goal that sent the game into the first of two overtime periods.

Long Takes Charge

Whereas two underclassmen led a stout-hearted but futile effort for the losers, the most seasoned performer on the floor pulled the game out for the winning Explorers with his scoring and take-charge tactics in the second extra three-minute heat.

Mike Long, who in his four-year career at the North Centre Street institution has shattered all but a few city scoring records, took the situation in hand after the two clubs each scored one field goal in the first overtime period to remain deadlocked at 82-82.

Long's jump shot from the top of the key pushed LaSalle in front, 84-82, with 25 seconds gone in the second overtime. John Sloan, who put on a phenomenal display of accuracy from the floor throughout the game, canned one of two free throw attempts to give the Irish a three-point, 85-82 edge.

But the Indians' other soph stickout, carrot-topped forward Bobby Robertson, converted two fouls and tossed in a jumper that gave the visitors an 86-85 edge with 1:05 to go.

Harden Blocks Shot

Ten seconds later Long connected on another jump shot, and after Mt. Savage lost possession when Donnie Harden blocked Wilson's shot, the cool-headed veteran personally controlled the ball for LaSalle with a dazzling bit of dribbling.

In a frantic effort to prevent the Explorers from running out the clock, the Indians' Leo Harden deliberately fouled Long, who sank one of his two attempts with six seconds to go. Mt. Savage put the ball in play after Long converted his second shot, but Joe Nolan came through to intercept the ball before the Indians could get it out of their own backcourt.

Seconds later the buzzer signalled the end of the thriller that had everyone in the house either standing or on the edge of their seats. For the Explorers, it was their 12th win in 14 outings, while the loss was the fourth in 14 games for the Indians, who have lost twice by one point and once by two. Mt. Savage's first loss had come at the hands of LaSalle, 73-62, on the Indians' court.

Wisler Converts Fouls

When Howard Wisler sank a pair of free throws to give Mt. Savage a 74-72 lead with 2:03 remaining in the regulation contest, it was the first time the visiting team had led since Robertson's two fouls put them in front at 23-21 with 1:35 gone in the second period.

It was also the only other time Savage led up to this point, although the score was tied at 21, 23, 29 and 72.

After Wilson hit on a layup with 35 seconds left in regulation time to tie the score at 78-all, the Explorers played for what they figured would be the last shot. Long fired away with a jumper with eight seconds showing on the clock. The ball found the target and LaSalle led, 80-78. The Indians' Leo Harden uncorked a shot from near mid-court that Wilson rebounded and layed up and in just as the buzzer sounded.

Sloan, the Explorer quint's sharp-eyed southpaw, enjoyed one of his best nights in a LaSalle uniform, as he pumped in 15 goals in only 24 tries and hit on four of six free throws to finish with 34 points. Long, held to seven points in the first half, wound up with 25.

Robertson Ties Sloan

Robertson and Wilson each collected 11 field goals for the Indians. Robertson made 12 of 16 foul attempts to tie Sloan for game scoring honors with 34 tallies, while Wilson had a perfect 10-10 night at the charity stripe and finished with 32.

As a unit, LaSalle hit on 38 of 81 shots from the floor for a .469 percentage. Mt. Savage connected on [illegible] of 74 for a .369 mark. The Indians, however, converted 28 fouls in 35 attempts, compared to only 12-for-19 for the Explorers.

Shepherd Triumphs Over D&E, 72-70

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Shepherd College held off a late Davis & Elkins rally Tuesday night to hand the Senators a 72-70 West Virginia Conference basketball defeat.

Shepherd led 32-23 at the half and 72-65 with one minute to play.

Wayman Everly and Zack Karantonis paced Shepherd with 14 points each. However, D&E's Bob Ferrell took game honors with 32 markers.

KEYSER HIGH'S MAT SQUAD—Coach Joe Stanislawczyk has another good wrestling squad at Keyser High School. The Golden Tornado grapplers have won four of seven matches staged to date and two members of the squad, Bill Dawson, 103-pounder, and Mel Evans, heavyweight, are undefeated. Keyser was 10-1 last year, finished in the runner-up spot in the state tourney and Dick Dawson who won the state 133-pound crown. The squad, left to right: FIRST ROW—Edward Smith 95, Forrest Cosner 120, Robert Barr 112 and William Dawson 103. SECOND ROW—Wayne Rohrbaugh 133, James Shoemaker 154, John Markley 120, Ray Sears 145, Harold Cox 138. THIRD ROW—Coach Stanislawczyk, manager Robert Spencer, James Slaughter 127, Burke Feaster 145, Mel Evans, heavyweight, Edward Hawkins 177, and Rick Landes, 165. Landes was injured and will be out of action for the remainder of the season.

Hawks Beat Beall, 62-54, Paw Paw, Moorefield Win

Romney Scores Over Capon Bridge, 61-45

Playing their second game in as many nights, Ridgeley High School5s Blackhawks, spilled by the West Virginia School for the Deaf on Monday, 54-45, snapped back last evening and trimmed Beall High School in a Potomac Valley Conference tilt at Ridgeley by the score of 62-54.

The victory was the sixth against eight losses for Coach Tom O'Connor's team in the conference while the Mountaineers from Frostburg, defending champions, went down for the seventh time in eight outings.

Ridgeley held a 14-12 edge at the quarter, increased the margin to 31-24 at the halfway mark and held the long end of a 41-34 score when the third period ended.

Allan Eisel, of Beall, was the game's top scorer with 12 baskets and 25 points, and Lanny Hinkle and Del Schoonover headed the Hawks' offensive with 15 and 14 tallies, respectively.

Ridgeley hooped 28 of 66 shots from the field for a 42 per cent mark, Hinkle connected seven times in nine tries and Schoonover sank 7 of 17 shots. Ronnie Frazier trailed Eisel with 13 tallies.

Ridgeley's overall record is 6-10 and Beall's 3-11.

In the preliminary game, Ridgeley's junior varsity downed Beall, 51-35.

In other P.V.C. games last night, Moorefield's Yellowjackets (9-4) downed the Circleville Indians, 71-59, Romney High's Pioneers (5-7) won over Capon Bridge, 61-45, and Paw Paw High's Pirates (6-2) turned back the Wardensville Warriors, 75-54.

Harper Back, Gets 34

Circleville held Moorefield to a 31-29 score at halftime but Coach Jonathan Paugh's quint broke the game wide open in the third stanza to grab a 51-40 lead and went on to win.

Robert Redman led the Jackets in scoring with 22 points while Orville Harper, who had missed five games on account of a badly sprained ankle, collected 34 points on 11 field goals and 12-14 fouls for Circleville.

Coach Roger Parker's Pioneers jumped off to an 11-6 lead and were never headed in their battle with Capon Bridge, their Hampshire county rivals, who went down to defeat for the eighth time in nine league battles.

Monty Mathias hit for 19 points to lead Romney while Richard Kaylor headed Capon Bridge with 13.

Hamilton Lead Attack

Roland Hamilton turned in a 32-point performance in leading Paw Paw to victory over the Warriors. He slammed in 11 shots from the field and sank 10 of 11 free throws. Larry Harding was the runner-up with 19 markers. Charley Sine and Terry Hulver collected 12 and 11 points, respectively, to lead the Wardensville scorers.

ACC Is Loser To Shenandoah

Virginia Floormen Trim Locals, 99-32

Shenandoah College buried Allegany Community College under a barrage of 42 field goals last night in beating the Cumberland cagers at Winchester, Va., by the score of 99-32.

The loss was the fifth against four wins for the ACC quint.

Al Trombetta was high scorer for the Virginia team with 14 points. Irwin Dieterle collected 13, Jim Sprinkle and Gerry Stadetti 12 each and Rich Vaitsas 11.

Bill DeArcangelis was the Cumberland team's high scorer with nine goals and 18 points.

Giardello Wins

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joey Giardello, 164, Philadelphia avenged a previous defeat by Henry Hank Tuesday night by winning an unpopular, majority decision over the Detroit middleweight in a 10-round bout at Convention Hall.

A crowd of 5,867 booed the decision.

Duke Is Victor Over Gamecock

Late Rally Wins ACC Game, 89-73

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Duke rallied in the last 10 minutes, with Art Heyman and Jeff Mullins leading the way, and whipped South Carolina 89-73 Tuesday night in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

Mullins pumped in 15 of his 31 points in the final 14 minutes to help offset a torrid South Carolina shooting spree that produced an average of 62.9 in the second half.

Heyman, whose key baskets again kept the sixth-ranked Blue Devils from wilting under pressure, got 20 points. Cronin scored 25, 19 of them in the second half. Ward had 15.

Hyndman Scores Fourth BCL Win

Hyndman High School's Hornets, with an overall record of 5-8, chalked up their fourth win against two losses in Bedford County League play with a 53-51 win over Chestnut Ridge last night at Fishertown.

The score was all tied up at 40-40 at the close of the third period, but the Hornets rattled off eight straight points as the fourth quarter got under way and went on to complete the sweep of the season series with Chestnut Ridge, who bowed to Hyndman by a 51-46 score earlier in the season.

Carl Park and Steve Stouffer, with 21 and 20 points respectively, paced the winning Hornets. Robb and Snowden collected 12 and 11 for the losers.

Bearcats Beat Drake, 73-52

CINCINNATI (AP)—Paul Hogue had his best scoring night ever with 29 points and outlasted two Drake defenders Tuesday night leading Cincinnati to a lopsided 73-52 basketball victory over the Bulldogs.

It was a rough, bruising contest from the start with Cincinnati driving for control of the backboards. A 26-12 rebound edge helped set up Cincinnati's 36-22 halftime lead.

Legion Wins Three

The American Legion defeated the Moose in a Frostburg Women's Shuffleboard League match last night. The winners were paced by Helen Blocher's 19 points while Peg Lewis had 10 for the Moose.

Valley Grabs 5th Straight At Southern

Shockey Rings Up 23 In 9th Win, 78-65

Paced by Philip Shockey, who scored nine field goals and converted 5 of 11 free throws for a total of 23 points, Valley High School's Black Knights extended their winning streak to five games by turning back the Highlanders at Oakland High School last night by the score of 78-65.

The victory, Valley's ninth against six losses, enabled the Black Knights to sweep the series with the Garrett countians.

Trailing Shockey in the scoring column were Fred Sloan with 14 points, Danny Young 13, Clarence Kimble 12 and Tommy James 11.

Southern took a 16-15 lead at the quarter but trailed 41-32 at halftime and 57-44 at the close of the third period.

The setback was the 10th for Southern against four victories.

Dave Burdock sparked the Southern attack with 21 points on six fielders and 9-11 at the foul line. Carlson garnered 16 tallies and Lewis had an even dozen markers for the losers.

Victors Nab 11th Triumph Of Campaign

Manges And Wilson Pace Sentinels Who Lose Third Straight

A hot shooting hand and almost exclusive control of the backboards enabled Coach Nick Scallion's South Hagerstown High Rebels to chalk up their 11th victory of the campaign last night, a 76-64 triumph over the Fort Hill High Sentinels on the locals' court.

The Rebels jumped in front quickly and built up a decisive lead which Coach Jimmy Eckard's Sentinels were unable to overcome as Fort Hill bowed for the seventh time in 12 games this year, losing for the third straight occasion since beating Allegany in a city clash a little over a week ago.

South Hagerstown, which split its series with Allegany, thus made it 2-1 against Cumberland competition.

Petry, Guyton Show Way

With Phil Petry and Dwight Guyton showing the way South's Rebels raced to a 14-3 lead midway through the first quarter and never trailed in the sometimes helter-skelter contest.

Petry and Guyton hit for 11 of South's points and along with center Gene Fisher controlled most of the rebounds under both baskets in the first period as the Rebels outscored Fort Hill, 23-9.

The Sentinels, down by 14 points early in the game, came fighting back when Ronnie Manges entered the contest with two minutes to play in the first stanza.

The scrappy Fort Hill forward sparked the Sentinels by scoring 17 of the losers' next 24 points to enable the Hilltoppers to leave the court trailing, 37-29, at halftime.

But South came back with a rush as the second half opened and with Guyton, Petry and Fisher hitting on an assortment of one-handers, driving lay-ups and rebound tip-ins, the Rebels soared the score to 57-36 in less than five minutes of play.

Lead By 21 Points

The 21-point margin was the biggest held by South as Fort Hill again began to chop away with Pat Wilson connecting for five of his nine field goals for the Sentinels in the third period. Two drive-in goals by Manges made it 57-42, but South's Gene Fisher completed a three-point play and Petry dumped in a one-hander to shove the Rebels out in front once more at 62-42. Wilson's lay-up as the buzzer sounded made it 62-44, South at the close of the third quarter.

The Rebels again built their margin to 21 points at 69-48 with 4:52 to go in the final period when Fort Hill put on its last desperate drive.

In the space of one minute Wilson and Bill Dean hit on a pair of one-handers and Manges twice drove in for sparkling lay-ups to cut the edge to 69-56. Del Proudfoot's jumping one-hander 20 seconds later made it 69-58 with 3:38 to go as the Sentinels scored 10 consecutive points, but this was as close as the home quint was able to come. A bucket by Guyton and a pair of fouls by Petry offset goals by Wilson and Proudfoot before Fisher and Craig Etchison scored to make it 76-62. Proudfoot's one-hander just before the buzzer closed out the scoring.

Manges Paces Scorers

South connected for 32 of 78 shots for a .410 shooting percentage and outrebounded the Sentinels almost 3 to 1 to maintain control of the game almost throughout. Fort Hill hit on 28 of 64 shots, for an even better .437 shooting percentage, but erratic passing and poor rebounding plus alert ball-hawking by the visitors kept the Sentinels off-balance.

Petry and Guyton collected 17 points apiece for the winners while Manges tallied 27 for game scoring honors for Fort Hill. Wilson chipped in with 20 in a losing cause for the Sentinels before bowing out on personals with 58 seconds to play. The lineups:

TV Lark Loses To New Policy At Santa Anita

Dress Up Finishes Third In Handicap

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Ralph Lowe's New Policy scored a victory by a short nose Tuesday over T.V .Lark in the $27,550 Santa Catalina Handicap for California-foaled horses at Santa Anita in one of the closest finishes of the meeting.

T.V. Lark, carrying top weight of 127 pounds and spotting New Policy nine pounds, closed with a tremendous rush in the stretch in his first start since defeating Kelso in the Washington, D.C., International.

Dress Up was a well-beaten third in the seven-horse field.

New Policy was sent off at odds of nearly 5-2 and returned $6.80, $2.80 and $2.40 across the board. T.V. Lark, the even money favorite of the crowd of nearly 23,000, paid $2.80 and $2.60 while Dress Up returned $3.20.

Oldtown Defeats Mathias, 82-71

Oldtown High School got back on the winning track last night with an 82-71 home court victory over Mathias. It was the eighth triumph in 13 starts for Coach Edgar "Barney" Tucker's cagers.

Four Oldtown players scored in double figures led by Steve Nixon and Dave Mallery, with 21 and 19 points, respectively. Gary Strawderman paced the losing aggregation with 19 tallies.

Market Rallies For Good Gain As Volume Expands

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks staged a smart rally in the early hours Tuesday and held the bulk of their gains through the final bell with many blue chips up a point or more.

Trading volume expanded on the rise to a total of 3,520,000 shares from the 3½ month low of 3,050,000 shares in the prior session. Of the 1,288 issues traded, 643, advanced, 26 to 1961-62 highs, and 374 declined, 20 to new lows.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.27, indicating that paper values rose around $1.9 billion on the day.

Dow-Jones industrials showed a gain of 4.17 finishing at 694.09 despite drops of 1⅝ in American Telphone and 1¼ in Eastman Kodak.

The strength mirrored gains of a point or more in American Can, Chrysler, General Electric, General Foods, International Harvester, International Nickel, Sears Roebuck and United Aircraft.

Louisville & Nashville fell 1½ and Norfolk & Western gained a point as the Dow-Jones rail average posted a gain of 0.47. The utility component rose 0.23 with Con Edison up 1⅛, trading ex-dividend.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Wheat futures lost over a cent Tuesday to lead most grains downhill on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off 1 to 1⅜, corn off ¼ to up ⅛, oats off ½ to up ½, rye off ¼ to ½, soybeans off ½ to up ½.

A sharp rally recorded in the closing minutes of Monday's session attracted active profit-taking to most grains.

Corn was steady to easier in active trading, much of it spreading. Dealers said government sales were not large due to efforts to catch up with the heavy sales of recent days.

Oats declined with corn. Local traders sold, while cash interests bought the March and sold May.

Rye also slipped lower, although Winnipeg reported early firm tones.

Soybeans were largely inactive. Easier meal and oil futures caused some selling. Dealers were disappointed over last week's export figures. A processor sold large quantities of May beans.

Export workingers were quiet. The government announced Monday it will finance wheat and flour purchases by Iran and India.

Outside markets were mostly lower.

Allegany Tests Martinsburg Here, Keyser At Piedmont Tonight

Bulldogs Seek 4th Win Over Local Schools

Visitors Are 10-1, Miers Brothers 2-2, Teams In 5th Game

Coach Roy Comer's ferocious Bulldogs from Martinsburg High School, who have put the bite on ten of eleven opponents so far this season, are slated to come to town tonight to face the Campers of Allegany High School in the final game of the series between the teams.

Martinsburg, rated 16th among the schools in West Virginia, will be striving to make a clean sweep of games with Cumberland schools this season after having won the first game from Allegany, 66-54, and beaten Fort Hill twice, 82-68 and 76-64.

The Bulldogs, who won 21 of 23 games last season, and got as far as the West Virginia Class AAA semi-finals before bowing to Huntington, beat Allegany twice and split even with Fort Hill.

Only Loss To Rebels

Martinsburg's only loss this season came at the hands of South Hagerstown's Rebels (63-56) who divided a pair with Allegany.

In addition to three wins over Cumberland schools this season, Comer's floormen have whipped Waynesboro, twice each, and downed Shepherdstown, North Hagerstown, Frederick, Keyser and Westminster.

Unpredictable Allegany has had its ups and down this season and is just above the .500 mark with a 7-6 record.

Eyes of Potomac Valley Conference followers will be focused on the big battle tonight at Piedmont where Keyser High School's Golden Tornado (8-0) will do battle with the Piedmont High Lions who have won eight of 10 league engagements.

Miers Brothers Even

In this one the Miers Brothers —Estle "Eck", of Keyser and William "Huck", of Piedmont, will try to outsmart each other as coaches of rival teams. "Eck" took over the coaching job at Keyser in 1960 after John Shelton was moved upstairs to the post of assistant principal and in four meetings to date he has split even with his younger brother, who is rounding out his 19th campaign as cage mentor of the Lions.

Piedmont won both games in 1960 by scores of 54-45 and 58-46 but Keyser won a pair last season, 58-56 and 61-55.

451st Game For "Huck"

Tonight's game, incidentally, will be Piedmont's 451st under "Huck" Miers, whose teams have won 290 and lost 160 for a .644 mark. His present team owns a 10-5 record.

"Eck" Miers' Keyser teams have posted a 35-22 record for a percentage of .614. For the current campaign the Golden Tornado is 11-2 overall.

In another P.V.C. game slated for tonight, Paw Paw's Pirates will opopse the Fort Ashby Eagles at Fort Ashby. Coach Quentin Sayers' quint copped the opener of this series by the score of 69-53. Paw Paw is 5-2 and Fort Ashby 8-5 in the conference.

Cepeda Turns Down Contract

Offered Increase Of 33⅓ Per Cent

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Orlando Cepeda has turned down a raise of 33 1-3 per cent over last season's contract, it was disclosed Tuesday by Vice President Charles (Chub) Feeney of the San Francisco Giants."

"We offered him a 33 1-3 per cent raise and he rejected it but we are continuing negotiations in a very friendly fashion," Feeney said.

He would not comment on reports that the Puerto Rican first baseman was seeking a boost to $55,000.

Cepeda is believed to have made $27,500 in 1961. Based on this figure, the Giants' offer would have lifted him into the $37,000 bracket.

After a slow start last year, Cepeda batted .311 for the season and led the National League with 46 home runs and 142 runs batted in.

Detroit's Bruton Agrees To Terms

DETROIT (UPI) — Centerfielder Billy Bruton and two prospects up from the minor leagues have agreed to terms for 1962, Detroit Tiger General Manager Rick Ferrell said Tuesday.

Bruton had his most productive home run season in the majors in 1961 when the former Milwaukee Brave star banged out 17 for a personal high. He hit .257.

Don Wert, 23, the third baseman who won the American Association batting title at Denver last year with a .328 mark, and right-handed pitcher Jerry Casale, also up from Denver, both came to terms, Ferrell said.

Griffith Is Visitor Proctor Vs. "Socko"

Barbering At Statler Policeman To Retire

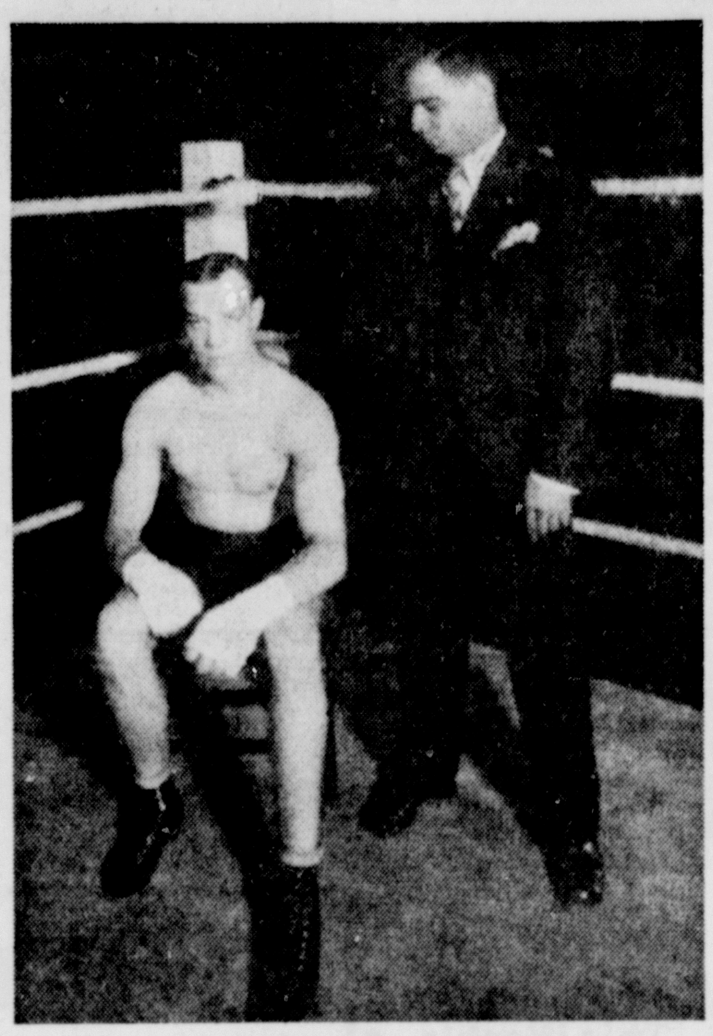
By C. V. BURNS

RAYMOND "Buck" Griffith was a visitor here over the weekend and therein lies a story.

"Buck" was one of Cumberland's outstanding young boxers of 30 years ago when the pros were packing 'em in for shows at the State Armory on South Centre street.



Buck Griffith And Christ Charuhas
A Boxer And His Manager

The ex-lightweight star, who is now barbering at the Hotel Statler in Washington, D. C., stopped off en route to Cleveland and the first place he visited was the Nu-Way Hat Cleaners shop on North Mechanic street, which is operated by Christ Charuhas, who managed "Buck", Lester "Bus" Reed, Jimmy Lamberson of La-Porte, Ind., Abby Eyler, Austin Ward, Frankie Smith, Austin Ward, Bobby Shrout and others.

Griffith, incidentally, has been a tonsorial artist at the capital for the past twenty years after having learned the barber trade in Cumberland.

Many of the regular fight-goers will recall Griffith's sizzling scraps with Mike Farrie, of Hagerstown; "Slambang" Harry Taylor, of Johnstown; Johnny Michaels, of Jamestown, N. Y.; Young Zabish, of Pittsburgh, and George "Buddy" Crass, the local 135-pound star, and now special policeman for the B.&O. Railroad. During the height of his ring career, "Buck" won ten consecutive bouts.

Griffith revealed that Police Capt. Joseph L. Proctor, 56, of Washington, has applied for a disability retirement after 27 years of rugged duty with the Metropolitan Police Department.

Proctor will be remembered as the young bank teller who stopped Clarence Trenum, better known as "Socko" Trenaman, twice in Cumberland in 1929 before jam-packed crowds at the armory.

Trenaman, a Westernport heavyweight, was a knockout sensation at that time and had flattened seven consecutive opponents in three rounds or less in 1928 and 1928, and skyrocketed from the curtain-raiser class to a main bout headliner.

Promoter Viv Ricker, who now operates the barber shop at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, enlisted the aid of Charuhas in helping line up an out-of-town opponent who could give "Socko" a better match so Christ set out for Washington to look over the field.

Charuhas contacted Goldie Ahearn, fight manager whose best bet was Marty Gallagher, the heavyweight, and he was instructed to visit a gym and give some of the bigger boys the once-over. Ahearn had a men's haberdashery shop opposite the Houston Hotel of which Chris' brother was the proprietor.

After visiting the gym, Charuhas liked the looks of one Joe Proctor, a bank teller, who had won the Middle Atlantic amateur heavyweight title in 1927-28 and was embarking on a pro career. Proctor accepted a $125 guarantee to fight Trenaman here March 19, 1929.

"Socko" battered Proctor all around the ring in the first round and the fans began to feel sorry for the baby-faced capital city boxer.

Charuhas said that the plan of battle was to have Trenaman play himself out in the first round as he knew Proctor "could take it" and "Socko" would lose confidence after he saw his best punches could not fell his opponent.

Proctor unloosed a barrage of left hooks to the head and body in the second round and "Socko" went down and was counted out.

Trenaman asked for a return match with Proctor and Joe was paid $175 and expenses to come back. He belted out Trenaman in the first round in their second engagement.

Proctor then asked for a $300 guarantee for a third match in Cumberland. He was given the choice of three opponents from Ohio, according to Promoter Ricker, and he picked the tough Harold Scarney, of Youngstown. Proctor went the limit in this bout but he took an unmerciful beating. That marked the end of the Washington boxer's ring career. "Chuck" Burns, the Texan, later whipped Scarney here and Patsy Perroni, a clever, hard-hitting heavyweight from Canton, Ohio, decisioned Burns in a great battle at the armory.

"Socko" Trenaman, who turned evangelist and served as a minister for 25 years, died suddenly at his home in Fairmont, W. Va., October 7, 1959, at the age of 49. He had preached in Ohio for many years after leaving this section.

Proctor, according to Griffith, has served as head of the Harbor Precinct in Washington since 1956, but has been on limited duty as a result of recurrent back ailments from injuries dating back to 1936.

Proctor always thought of being a minister but never thought he was quite good enough.

Joe joined the Police Department in 1934 and he suffered injuries several times while chasing speeding cars on his motorcycle.

The ex-pugilist who helped give boxing a shot in the arm here 30 years ago has been an adult Bible Class teacher at the Anacostia Methodist Church for the past 25 years.

Ferrell Top WVC Scorer With D.&E., At Keyser Tonight

Bob Ferrell, the top scorer in the West Virginia Conference, and one of the leading point-getters among the small colleges of the nation, will be the big attraction tonight when the Davis & Elkins College Senators invade Keyser for a game with Potomac State College's Catamounts at 8 o'clock.

Ferrell, who is averaging 30 points a game in the W.V.C., scored 27 points against Potomac State in the opening game of the series on December 12 which the Senators won by the score of 73-51.

D.&E. owns a 6-7 record in the conference while Potomac State is 0-3. Tonight's game will be the 16th of the season for the Catamounts who have an overall mark of 6-9.

Potomac, victor over Hagerstown Junior College on Monday, plays Shenandoah at Winchester, Va., Friday and hosts St. Mary's Junior College of St. Mary's, Md., on Saturday night.

Jackson In Line

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Larry Jackson, 30-year-old righthander of Boise, Idaho, and rookie pitcher Ray Washburn of Burbank, Wash., have signed their 1962 St. Louis Cardinal contracts, it was announced Tuesday.

Jackson, 29 suffered a broken jaw two weeks before the season opened, had a 3-8 record midway in the season, then won 11 of his next 12 games, finally finishing with a 14-11 record and a 3.75 earned run average.

Bucks, Bearcats Rated 1-2 Ninth Straight Week

Blue Devils Move Up To Sixth Place

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ohio State and Cincinnati, ranked 1-2 among the nation's college basketball teams Tuesday for the ninth straight week, have made true prophets of the United Press International Board of Coaches — so far.

As a matter of fact, so have Kansas State, Southern California and Duke, which filled the 4, 5 and 6 spots in this week's ratings of the 35 leading coaches who comprise the UPI board.

Ratings Of College Cage Teams By United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Press International college basketball ratings (with first-place votes and won-lost records through Jan. 27 in parentheses):

Team	Points
1. Ohio State (34) (14-0)	349
2. Cincinnati (14-2)	298
3. Kentucky (1) (13-1)	275
4. Kansas State (14-2)	206
5. Southern Calif (12-3)	202
6. Duke (12-2)	112
7. Duquesne (14-2)	104
8. Bradley (12-3)	83
9. Oregon State (14-1)	68
10. Villanova (15-2)	66

Second 10 teams — 11, Bowling Green, 30; 12, West Virginia, 24; 13, Mississippi State, 22; 14, Utah, 20; 15, Loyola (Chicago), 17; 16, Colorado, 8; 17 (tie), Wichita and Arizona State, 7 each; 19 (tie), Santa Clara, Houston and North Carolina, 5 each.

Others — Utah State, 4; Colorado State, 3; Stanford and St. John's, 2 each; Loyola (Calif.), 1.

Utilizing the mid-season lull to review the coaches' pre-season forecast, Ohio State and Cincinnati were overwehlming choices as the two top teams. Southern California was pegged right behind them in last November's predictions, Kansas State was No. 6 and Duke No. 8.

Kentucky, third this week, and Bradley, No. 8 have done better than the coaches had expected, while Duquesne (No. 7) Oregon State (No. 9) and Villanova (No. 10 have proved the surprise teams of the season thus far.

Prove Season's Flops

In the coaches' pre-season forecast, Kentucky was 12th and Bradley 13th. Duquesne, Oregon State and Villanova were overlooked.

Providence and Wake Forest have proved the flops of the present season. Picked fourth and fifth in the pre-season ratings, they did not receive a single point this week.

In dominating the ratings again, just as they did every week of last season, the Buckeyes of Ohio State were the No. 1 choice of 34 coaches on the UPI rating board. One coach continued to make Kentucky his first choice and picked Ohio State second.

Kentucky, ranked third for the third week in a row, was idle last week, enabling Cincinnati to widen its second-place margin from 18 to 23 points.

Rate Duke Sixth

Kansas State moved up one notch to fourth place, exchanging places with Southern California, which also did not play last week. Duke made the biggest advance of the week, moving three notches to No. 6, while Oregon State advanced one place to ninth.

The coaches based their ratings on games played through Saturday night, Jan. 27.

Three games most likely to shake up the ratings this week pitted Duquesne against Villanova in Pittsburgh, Saturday; Cincinnati at Houston, Thursday, and Duke at North Carolina, Saturday.

Schools From Five States Show Interest In Alhambra Tourney

Six Quints Will Get Invites; 3 Virginia Teams Seek Berths

Schools from five states and the District of Columbia are interested in participating in the second annual Alhambra Catholic Invitational Basketball Tournament to be staged at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium, March 23, 24 and 25, according to mail received in the past several days by Joseph F. Divico, co-chairman of the tournament committee.

Divico has contacted approximately 100 schools in publicizing the event and 20 or more responded immediately.

With St. George High School's Dragons of Pittsburgh and LaSalle of Cumberland, the winner and runner-up last year, automatically qualified, there will be openings for six more schools in the eight-team tourney and no invitations will be issued until the season is more advanced and records are received at a later date.

Virginians Interested

Among the topnotch Virginia quints anxious to compete here are Benedictine High of Richmond with an 8-1 record, St. Paul's Central High, of Portsmouth, 11-1, and Holy Cross High, Lynchburg, 8-2. Benedictine had reeled off 28 consecutive wins before losing to Highland Springs.

Three Pittsburgh schools are among those receptive to invitations. They are St. Canice with a 12-4 mark at the present time, St. Anselm High, 13-5, and St. Mary's of the Mount, 11-7, which got off to a slow start, then scored nine straight wins and lost a triple overtime battle to St. George's Dragons.

Towson Has Winner

Towson Catholic of Towson, Md., which copped third place in the 1961 tourney here, has a new coach this season in Paul M. Baker, and boasts an 11-5 record, including wins over Calvert Hall, Mt. St. Joseph's and Baltimore Loyola.

Joseph P. McGrath, who coached Towson last season, is now the mentor at St. Joseph's Boys High School, West New York, N. J., and states he is hopeful of getting his team which has a 7-4 record into the tournament here. St. Joe's plays a stiff schedule and McGrath feels his team could make a good showing here.

St. Anthony's, of Washington, D.C., (6-0) is another school seeking a tournament berth.

Inquiry From Charlotte

Among the inquiries received about the local tournament yesterday was one from Tom Brennan, athletic director of Charlotte Catholic High School, of Charlotte, N.C.

Four Maryland schools participated in the first tournament staged here. They were St. Maria Goretti, Hagerstown; Immaculate Conception, Towson; St. Mary's, Annapolis, and LaSalle, the host school.

Two entries were from Pennsylvania, namely, St. Joseph's of Natrona and St. George, Pittsburgh, and the other schools were Priory and St. Anthony's, of Washington, D.C.

Trophy Valued At $300

The king-size trophy, which St. George won a leg on last year, is valued at approximately $300 and must be won by the same school three times to become a permanent possession.

The three-day tourney opens here on a Friday and ends on Sunday. On the first two days there will be four games each day, commencing at 5 p.m. Three games are billed for Sunday, starting at 1 p.m.

Divico and Peter J. Carpenti are the co-chairman of the tourney committee.

Reds Get Dobbek

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —The Minnesota Twins announced Tuesday they had acquired catcher Jerry Zimmerman from the Cincinnati Reds for outfielder Dan Dobbek and cash.

AMERICA'S BEST-LOOKING COMPACT
People have been calling Valiant America's best-looking compact since way back in 1960. Now the famous Society of Illustrators has made it official: they've knighted Valiant's Signet 200 with their medal for styling excellence. Valiant has a jaunty look all its own, as a glance will tell you.
OUTPERFORMS MOST OTHER COMPACTS
As the saying goes, handsome is as handsome does. And Valiant does. Twice in two years Valiant has taken on all compacts that dared face it at Daytona Beach—and made them eat Valiant's dust. And Valiant's 101-horsepower get-up-and-gallop is the kind you can use where you do your driving.
LOW PRICE COMPLETES THE PICTURE
Valiant prices have been reduced for the second year in a row. So now is the time to come see the compact that's quality-engineered by Chrysler Corporation. Price it, drive it at your Plymouth-Valiant Dealer's.
NOBODY BEATS VALIANT FOR VALUE!

Steve Brooks Voted Woolf Jockey Award

Rode 3,729 Winners In 24 Years On Turf

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI)—Steve Brooks, the fifth leading rider in United States turf history, Tuesday was voted the George Woolf Memorial jockey award for 1962.

Brooks, now in his 24th season as a jockey and with 3729 victories on the turf to his credit going into this week, was selected to receive the Woolf award by turf writers covering the current race meeting at Santa Anita.

The award, a bronze miniature of the George Woolf statue which stands in the paddock gardens at Santa Anita, will be presented to Brooks at a public ceremony Feb. 12. Brooks will fly out from Hialeah, Fla., to receive the award.

The George Woolf award has been presented annually since 1950 in memory of the late jockey who lost his life in a riding accident at Santa Anita in 1946. Woolf's widow, Mrs. Genevie Woolf - Cayer, will make the presentation of the award to Brooks Feb. 12.

The only riders in the United States who rank ahead of Brooks in victories are John Longden, Eddie Arcaro, Willie Shoemaker and Ted Atkinson, who retired with 3794 wins, a mark Brooks hopes to pass this year.

Those who are ahead of Brooks in victories all are previous winners of the Woolf award.

Wilt Makes Shambles Of Point Race

Ups Lead To 1,000 Over Elgin Baylor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wilt Chamberlain, the greatest pro scoring star of all-time, is making a shambles of the National Basketball Association point title by opening up a 1,000-point lead over his nearest competitor.

Chamberlain, gunning for his third straight NBA scoring title, has netted a total of 2,746 points in games through Sunday for a 49.9 per game average. The Warrior skyscraper has been able to boost his point total by connecting on more than 60 per cent of his foul shots, something he couldn't match the last two years.

Elgin Baylor, who plays for the Los Angeles Lakers when he can get an Army pass, trailed Chamberlain with 1,716 points and a 38.1 average.

Dolph Schayes, the Syracuse ace who has been a top foul shooter since his entry into pro basketball, maintaained a league leading percentage of .883 on 227 for 257. Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati led in assists with 611.

Sharman Named Pipers Coach

Replaces McLendon Who Has Resigned

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League Tuesday hired Bill Sharman as their new coach. Sharman, an outstanding player for 10 years with the Boston Celtics and a coach for the Los Angeles Jets this season, succeeds John McLendon, who has resigned.

The Jets recently suspended operations.

McLendon had piloted the team to the first-half championship in the ABL's Eastern Division, but the team has lost seven of nine games in the second half.

Pittsburgh Rens Sign 235-Pounder

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Rens of the American Basketball League Tuesday signed 6-7 Chuck Curtis, a 235-pound forward who was formerly with the National Industrial League New York Tapers for two years.

Curtis will be on hand in New York Tuesday night for the Rens game against the Tapers. Curtis, whose home is in Tacoma, Wash., is a graduate of Pacific Lutheran University.

The Rens received the negotiating rights for Curtis from the Chicago Majors. The Majors obtained the right to negotiate with Curtis from New York as part of a rtade involving Tony Jackson and Ron Zagar.

Sir Gaylord Cops Hialeah Park Feature

Crimson Satan 2nd, Floridian Bay 3d

MIAMI, Fla., Jan 30 (AP)—Sir Gaylord and Crimson Satan, leading challengers for unbeaten Ridan in next Wednesday's Bahamas stakes at Hialeah, made their debuts as 3-year-olds in today's seventh race and finished one-two in the sharp time of 10.9 2/5 for six furlongs.

Sir Gaylord won by three quarters of a length, with Crimson Satan 1½ lengths ahead of Floridian Bay, who set the pace to the eighth pole. Stinson Beach was a distant fourth.

Ridan had made his debut as a 3-year-old on Jan. 20 and won the Hibiscus Stakes in 1:09 2/5, his eighth victory without defeat. He did not run in to day's race but will face Sir Gaylord and Crimson Satan in the Bahamas, at 7 furlongs.

Crimson Satan was voted 2-year-old champion of 1961 but was second choice in the betting as the crowd of 14,245 made Sir Gaylord a 3-4 favorite. Crimson Satan is considered a better route horse than a sprinter.

Sir Gaylord paid 3.50, 2.40 and 2.30. Crimson Satan paid 3.20 and 2.90. Floridian Bay paid 4.70 to show.

Sir Gaylord, owned by Meadow Stable, was rated sixth on the experimental weights at 121 pounds. Crimson Satan was experimental high weight at 126, with Ridan at 125. Last year Sir Gaylord won four successive stakes in mid-summer, then tailed off and finished third four successive times.

Crimson Satan was voted 2-year-old champion on the basis of victories in two stakes over a route of ground—the Garden State Stakes and the Pimlico Futurity.

Penicillin Reaction Reported As Cause Of Mrs. Wolfner's Death

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A penicillin reaction caused the death of Mrs. Violet Bidwill Wofner, 62, board chairman of the St. Louis pro football Cards, the Dade County medical examiner said Tuesday.

Mrs. Wolfner's death was officially listed as natural. She died Tuesday in a doctor's office where she had gone for treatment of a throat infection.

Germany's Four-Man Bobsled Team Wins, U.S. Entry Is 14th

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany (AP) — Franz Schelle, a 32-year-old trucker, piloted Germany's favored No 1 sled to the world four-man bobsled championship Tuesday in a bobtailed two-heat competition.

The lone American entry, driven by Lloyd Johnson of Madison, Wis., finished 14th in the field of 15.

Snow fell over the course during both runs as Schelle overcame a slight first-run deficit and won by a little more than half a second with a total time of 2 minutes, 33.66 for the two journeys down the mile-long Olympic chute.

Italy's No. 1 entry took second place with a time of 2:34.23.

Schelle's times were 1:16.99 and 1:16.67.

Johnson, a 46-year-old businessman who won the world title in 1953, had runs of 1:23.28 and 1:18.29 for a total of 2:41.57.

Back in 1887, while playing for St. Louis of the American Association, Charles A. (Old Roman) Comiskey, later to organize the White Sox, stole 122 bases in 125 games.

Littler Tops Money Winners On Golf Tour

Gene Has Earned $11,250 In Month

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — Gene Littler, who picked up $9,000 for winning the Lucky golf tournament last weekend, moved to the top of the list Tuesday as the leading money-winner of 1962 on the PGA tour.

Littler, who rallied to win the Lucky tournament title after frittering away a six-stroke lead, now has earned $11,250 in the first month of the new year.

Young Phil Rodgers is close behind with earnings of $9,700 and Tommy Jacobs is third with $7,510. Then comes Doug Ford ($5,925), Joe Campbell ($4,746), George Knudson, 24-year-old newcomer from Toronto who finished second to Littler in the Lucky tourney and picked up $4,600 to boost his total to $4,711, Bob Goalby ($4,525), Bob Rosburg ($4,460) George Bayer ($4,218) and Johnny Pott ($4,050) to complete the top 10.

Rodgers, Goalby and Bayer are the only players in the top 10 to have finished in the first five twice. The tournament winners on the list beside Litler are Rodgers, Jacobs and Ford.

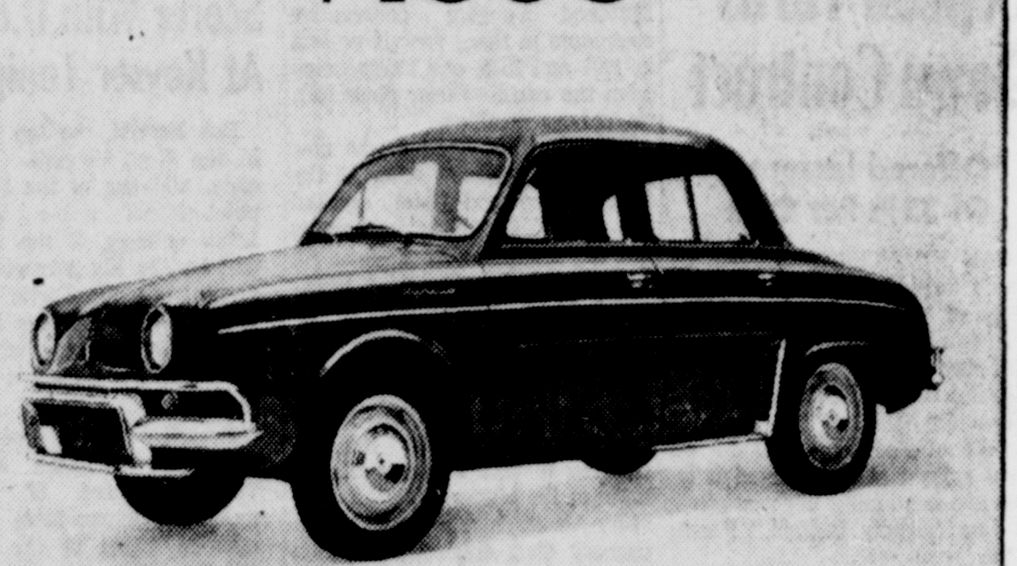
PLYMOUTH

$1395*



(So what else is new?)

Plenty. Not only is the Dauphine about $200 cheaper than it was a year ago; it's a even better car. To cite one improvement: a synchronized low gear lets you shift back into low without stopping, skip through traffic on the run.

Some other nice, new touches in the '62 Dauphine: Exteriors are dip-painted to get a protective coating into unreachable joints and crevices. The engine now runs even quieter because we've improved the piston design.

Or look at our 1962 Dauphine Deluxe. It's got all-new, all-vinyl interiors and more comfortable foam rubber seats. (You can call the front seats "bucket" if you like; they look just like what other people are calling bucket seats. The backs are adjustable to four positions.) Fancy new steering wheel, too.

But how are you going to improve things like: up to 40 mpg. gas economy, 4 doors for easy in and out, fancy Paris styling, a big 7 cu. ft. trunk. All this with a 12-month or 12,000 mile warranty. So you wonder, how can we make a car that's so good, and still sell it for $1395? That's for us to know and you to find out... soon, we hope. Come in today and drive your new Dauphine away.

Man Sentenced In Support Case

A Frostburg area man was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Juvenile Court.

Juvenile Magistrate Louis Fatkin sentenced the man, John Thomas Clise, of RD 1, Frostburg, after finding him guilty of nonsupport of his wife and two minor children.

Judge Fatkin informed that man that he would suspend the jail sentence on condition he post a $500 performance bond which would then be used to support the children. The man has ten days in which to appeal the decision to Allegany County Circuit Court.

Testimony in the case revealed that Clise had not been living with his wife and children for several years and that he had not provided any support since 1958.

Hooks Hippo

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — Fisherman Jan Ungerer of Livingstone, sitting on the banks of the Zambesi River Tuesday, felt the line jerk and knew he'd hooked a big one. He was right. An enraged hippopotamus splashed out of the water and and chased Ungerer away. So he said.

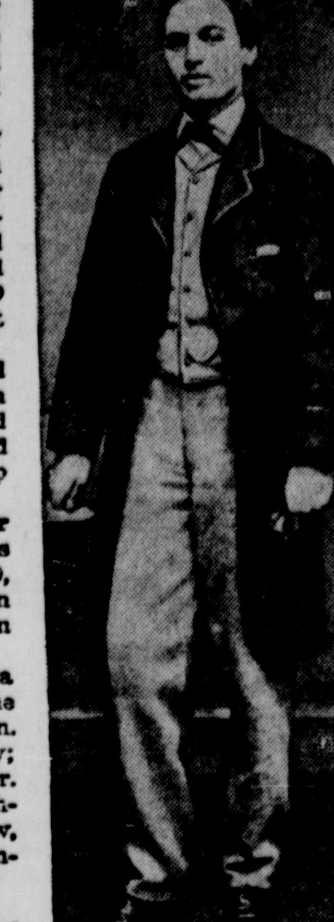
The CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures



No. 101 Robert Todd Lincoln, oldest son of the president, was 18 in 1861—older than hundreds, if not thousands, of youths who joined the Union forces. He stayed out of the service until his graduation from Harvard in 1864, when he was commissioned an officer and placed on U. S. Grant's staff.

Robert Lincoln was quoted as saying humorously that if he had been a better scholar, his father would not have been elected president. Robert, sent east, alone, in 1859 to enter Harvard, failed to get passing marks in 15 out of 16 qualifying examinations. Whereupon his parents arranged by mail for Robert to enroll at Phillips-Exeter Academy for tutorial "cramming." The teen-ager's marks there, the autumn of 1859 semester, were not reassuring, and father Lincoln deemed it wise to visit his son.

The campaign against Douglas in 1858 had occasioned neglect of Lincoln's law practice and probably had lost him some clients. Anyway, income was diminished in 1859, and in 1860 family finances were such that Lincoln sought and obtained lecture engagements to cover expenses of his trip to see Robert.

One of these was at the forum embodied in the Peter Cooper plan of providing adult educational facilities at his newly established Cooper Union. That address, Feb. 26, 1860, was credited with gaining him the attention and admiration of New Yorkers who were decisive in swinging the Republican presidential nomination to Lincoln in May.

Had Robert Lincoln gone to war earlier and become a combat soldier, he might have had to face uncles of his on the battlefield. Two of them, Lt. David P. Todd and Brig. Gen. Ben Hardin Helm, were officers in the Confederate army; the latter was killed in action in 1863. Another uncle, Dr. George Todd, was a volunteer surgeon in hospitals in Richmond, where he was quoted as saying that his brother-in-law, President Lincoln, was "one of the greatest scoundrels unhung."

City Approves Work At Water Plant

The Mayor and Council Monday by a 3-2 vote authorized Water Commissioner G. Ray Light to advertise for bids on establishing a low-lift pumping station at Lake Gordon and for rehabilitation of the gate chamber at the city's water plant dam.

Voting in opposition was Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder who has questioned the cost and the need of certain steps in the rehabilitation program; and Street Commissioner John J. Long who said that Mrs. Roeder has posed some questions and he thought she should be answered before bids are asked.

The action followed a pre-council meeting with William E. Bartles of the Robert R. Regester consulting engineering firm in Baltimore, which prepared plans and specifications for the work estimated to cost approximately $85,000.

Club Elects

The Past Presidents Club of the VFW Auxiliary elected Mrs. Charlotte Himes president at the meeting in Central YMCA. Serving with her are Mrs. Goldie Martin, senior vice president; Mrs. Zellene Norris, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, chaplain; Mrs. Mary T. Moore, secretary; Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, publicity; Mrs. Grace Cross, historian; Mrs. Violet Karns, color bearer; Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Audrey Crable, ways and means committee.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Crable, retiring president, and the prize for the evening was won by Mrs. Mary Henry.

11 City Building Permits Issued

The City of Cumberland issued permits for construction of 11 new dwellings and for additions or improvements to four existing structures during the month of January. Also issued was a permit to move a house from one location to another.

The declared value of the construction totaled $275,735. Included in the January total was a permit for an addition to Gephart Elementary School in the amount of $163,735.

During January last year only one permit was issued by the Engineering Department. That one was for a dwelling estimated to cost $8,000.

B&O Crossings Closed Today

Police Chief B. F. Gaffney said last night that the Frederick and Bedford street crossings at Henderson Avenue will be closed again today from 8 a. m. until 10:30 a. m. while the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad completes the laying of welded rails.

Chief Gaffney again suggested that traffic from the North End use the Knox, Pear, Valley or Franklin street crossings during this time.

Help Build Schools

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — U.S. soldiers have helped build up more than 2,000 schools in Korea during the past seven years and 108 more are under construction, it was announced here. Some 400,000 Korean pupils are attending the new schools.

Appeals To Citizens

MANILA (UPI) — President Diosdado Macapagal appealed to all citizens Tuesday to give material aid for the victims of a flood reported to have taken at least five lives and left 15,500 homeless in the southern Philippines.

C Of C Will Check Book Representatives

Local residents who are approached to purchase encyclopedias, or other reference works, are safeguarded by a program, now in its 12th year, in which the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce participates, according to Robert C. Petersen, manager.

Mr. Petersen said that the Subscription Book Program, originally set up by the National Better Business Bureau in 1950, has a total of 960 of the nation's Better Business Bureaus and Chambers of Commerce checking constantly on thousands of encyclopedia representatives. Also cooperating are 42 of America's largest publishers and distributors of such books.

Prospective purchasers can determine if the companies in which they are members of the program by calling the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Petersen said.

Roland Sheldon Weds Wanda Lou McConnell

KANSAS CITY (AP) — New York Yankee pitcher Roland Sheldon Tuesday married a girl he met in a hardware store while the Yankees were playing in Kansas City last June.

The bride, tall, brown-haired, hazel-eyed Wanda Lou McConnell, waited on Sheldon when he came in to look at some sporting goods.

Miss McConnell, 18, and Sheldon, 25, were married by the bride's father, the Rev. Merle L. McConnell, in the chapel of the First Christian Church in suburban Lee's Summit, Mo.

The couple planned to drive to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where Sheldon is to join the Yankees in spring training starting Feb. 5.

Sheldon said he and his bride will make their home at Woodstock, Conn. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheldon of Woodstock.

Foiles Inks Pact

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Foiles has signed as second string catcher for 1962, the Baltimore Orioles announced Tuesday.

The 32-year-old Foiles was the ninth signed Oriole.

During last year's spring training, Foiles broke a finger on his right hand and didn't start playing until June 27. He played in only 43 games.

The Orioles announced earlier Tuesday that Outfielders Earl Robinson and Russ Snyder were signed.

Marciano Signed

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves Tuesday signed catcher Peter Marciano, 21-year old brother of former heavyweight champion, to a 1962 contract with their Eau Claire Club of the Class C Northern League.

B&O Deficit Is New High

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reported Monday that it incurred a net income deficit of $4,426,511 in December, pushing its loss for the year to $31,347,341.

It is not anything the B&O is proud of, but this was the railroad's largest deficit in its long history.

As bad as the news was, it was not entirely unexpected. Jervis Langdon Jr., B&O president, told stockholders at their annual meeting in November the deficit would be around $30,000,000.

The board of directors said then they would declare no dividends for 1962 on preferred or common stock or pay interest on the railroad's convertible income bonds.

Operating revenues in December were $29,285,783, an increase of more than $1,300,000 from the total for the same month of 1960, $27,948,377.

December's loss of $4,426,511 compared with profits of $1,079,038 in December, 1960.

Area Student Joins Civic Orchestra

MT. STORM — Dodd (Jack) Fisher, of Mt. Storm, W. Va., a Junior at Taylor University, Upland, Ind., is a member of the Taylor Civic Orchestra which presented its first concert of the year, an all-Tchaikovsky program, January 14. This orchestra, under the direction of Dale Shepfer, is made up of Taylor students, community artists, professionals from nearby universities, and members of the Fort Wayne Philharmonic Orchestra.

A second concert will be given May 13, featuring the music of a very recent composer, Suholati.

A son of Mrs. Dodd M. Fisher, Mt. Storm, Jack is majoring in music.

Taylor is a 116 year-old private, accredited, Christian, liberal arts college with an enrollment of 820 students.

Gifts Awarded

Perfect attendance gifts were presented to Mrs. James Kisamore, Mrs. Thomas Izat and Mrs. Clayton Gillum at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the National Association of Letter Carriers. One also will be given to Mrs. Walter Alexander, who is hospitalized.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Donald Nehring at the home of Mrs. James Brown, Sylvan Avenue. A social hour followed the meeting and prizes were won by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Eugene Sewell. Others attending were Mrs. Robert Crites, Mrs. Lester Watson, Mrs. Francis Fannon and Mrs. Michael Cunningham.

54 Persons Escape

MACAO (UPI) — Fifty-four persons—among them 13 women and children—escaped to this Portuguese colony from neighboring Communist China Tuesday in five sampans (barges). They said food shortages in their commune in Communist China forced them to flee.

Market Rallies For Good Gain As Volume Expands

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks staged a smart rally in the early hours Tuesday and held the bulk of their gains through the final bell with many blue chips up a point or more.

Trading volume expanded on the rise to a total of 3,520,000 shares from the 3½ month low of 3,050,000 shares in the prior session. Of the 1,288 issues traded, 643, advanced, 26 to 1961-62 highs, and 374 declined, 20 to new lows.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.27, indicating that paper values rose around $1.9 billion on the day.

Dow-Jones industrials showed a gain of 4.17 finishing at 694.09 despite drops of 1⅝ in American Telphone and 1¼ in Eastman Kodak.

The strength mirrored gains of a point or more in American Can, Chrysler, General Electric, General Foods, International Harvester, International Nickel, Sears Roebuck and United Aircraft.

Louisville & Nashville fell 1½ and Norfolk & Western gained a point as the Dow-Jones rail average posted a gain of 0.47. The utility component rose 0.23 with Con Edison up 1⅛, trading ex-dividend.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Wheat futures lost over a cent Tuesday to lead most grains downhill on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off 1 to 1⅜, corn off ¼ to up ⅛, oats off ½ to up ½, rye off ¼ to ½, soybeans off ½ to up ½.

A sharp rally recorded in the closing minutes of Monday's session attracted active profit-taking to most grains.

Corn was steady to easier in active trading, much of it spreading. Dealers said government sales were not large due to efforts to catch up with the heavy sales of recent days.

Oats declined with corn. Local traders sold, while cash interests bought the March and sold May.

Rye also slipped lower, although Winnipeg reported early firm tones.

Soybeans were largely inactive. Easier meal and oil futures caused some selling. Dealers were disappointed over last week's export figures. A processor sold large quantities of May beans.

Export workingers were quiet. The government announced Monday it will finance wheat and flour purchases by Iran and India.

Outside markets were mostly lower.

Grand Inquest On S&L Faces Legislature

Would Be Second In This Century

This is one in a series of the principal subjects that will be coming up during the 30-day session of the Maryland Legislature (starting Feb. 7).

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The granddaddy legislative study of them all, a Grand Inquest, hangs over the savings and loan issue that refuses to die.

Legislators thought they had washed their hands of the subject last year when they passed Maryland's first regulations. But they'll return next week to encounter a motion for a Grand Inquest to dig deep into the past.

Del. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Prince Georges, will move that the House of Delegates convene itself into an investigative body.

Only One Before

There has been only one Grand Inquest in this century, and as far as researchers could ascertain it was the only one ever. That was in 1956 on a strike of the Baltimore Transit Co.

A Grand Inquest is all-powerful. It may summon all the witnesses it desires and "may commit any person for any crime" to jail.

Such hearings are held outside of the regular business hours of the House.

The delegates and senators will not be able to forget savings and loan during their routine either.

They will be asked to approve a bill setting the state up as a handler of insurance on deposits in the associations. The insurance will be for those associations which do not have coverage with a federal agency.

Gov. Tawes has endorsed the idea as one of his announced objectives in trying to protect the consumer and his money from being parted unfairly.

Consumer Counsel

The governor also will ask the legislature to create the post of consumer counsel who will keep an eye out for all sorts of shady business practices in the state.

In a follow-up move to the first enactment of regulations on savings and loans, the Legislature will be presented with a model act strengthening controls over the sellers of securities in Maryland.

The state's so-called "Blue Sky law" has not been changed since it was enacted originally in 1937.

A study commission is proposing that a new division of securities be set up in the attorney general's office to administer a stronger law.

The new division would be given greater control over both the registration of brokers and the securities they plan to offer to the public.

Another study commission is proposing that Maryland extend for one year the prohibition enacted last year against the sale of a new type of insurance.

It is known as a variable annuity because payments to the policy holder, instead of being a fixed amount, would be based on the value of stocks in which premiums would be invested.

Blast Damages Furnace Here

A coal furnace at 702 Shriver Avenue was damaged considerably yesterday evening when coal gas apparently accumulated in the heating unit and caused an explosion.

Firemen from East Side station were called to the address at 5:14 p. m. when steam and sulfur fumes were detected in the dwelling of Mrs. Mary D. Stull.

She said her son David had gone to the basement about 3:30 p. m. and shoveled some coal on the fire which had been tended during the day.

Mrs. Stull said a new load of coal had been put in the basement on Monday. The steam boiler in the furnace, said firemen, blew out a section of the back of the heating unit which, according to Mrs. Stull, will have to be replaced.

The water system in the vicinity of the furnace was damaged by the impact, she said.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. William Birmingham, Rockville, announce the birth of a son Monday in Suburban Hospital at Bethesda. The mother is the former Miss Shirley Norton of Cumberland. The father is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heffer, 230 Arch Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Russell, Glen Burnie, announce the birth of a daughter there. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John McCartney, LaVale, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Russell, Barton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moxley Jr., West Friendship, Md., announce the birth of a daughter Monday in Montgomery County General Hospital. The mother is the former Miss Dessie Buser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buser Sr., Town Creek Road.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. David M. Lease, 530 Maryland Avenue, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marang, LaVale, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Brown, 144 Independence Street, a son Monday.

JOAN B. FITZPATRICK

Two Appointed Teachers At Mt. Savage School

Two new teachers will assume duties tomorrow at Mt. Savage High School when the second semester gets under way.

John Atkinson, 39 Mill Street, Frostburg, will become a junior high school science and mathematics teacher at Mt. Savage, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

Mr. Atkinson will succeed John W. Miller, RFD 1, Frostburg, who is resigning after four years at Mt. Savage to accept an appointment in the federal government. A 1956 graduate of Valley High School, Mr. Atkinson today fulfills the requirements for his B.S. degree at Frostburg State Teachers College.

He is married and the father of two children.

Mrs. Joan Buskirk Fitzpatrick of Barton will begin duties tomorrow as girls' physical education teacher at Mt. Savage. She will succeed Mrs. Alpha P. Reynolds, a teacher since 1954, who has been granted a leave of absence.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick was graduated from Beall High School in 1954 and Frostburg State Teachers College in 1958. She taught one year at Buck Lodge Junior High School in Prince George's County and then taught girls physical education at Fort Hill High School in the 1959-60 school year. She has been on leave of absence since then.

Missionary Conference Being Held

Mrs. Geraldine Conway, world traveler, will be the guest speaker today at 7:30 p. m. at Mapleside Methodist Church where the Cumberland Methodist Charge is holding a Missionary Conference.

Rev. Frank G. Wanek, pastor of the charge, said all missionary ministers will attend tonight's meeting and the evening prayer will be given by Rev. George Hazen, pastor of Zion United Church of Christ.

A discussion group will meet today at 11 a. m. at Melvin Methodist Church with Mrs. Conway and the missionaries. A covered dish luncheon will be held after the discussion period.

Tomorrow, the discussion group will meet at 11 a. m. at Fairview Avenue Methodist Church and at 7:30 p. m. the evening service will be the church. Rev. Hidemi Ito from Japan, and Rev. Dr. Paul Warner, district superintendent, will be the speakers. The evening prayer will be given by Rev. T. Clifford Johnson, pastor of First Baptist Church.

The service Friday evening will be held at 7:30 at Mapleside Methodist with Rev. Kwan Bin Park of Korea, and Rev. Maynardo R. Jose from the Phillippines, as guest speakers. The prayer will be given by Rev. Stanley Harrell, pastor of Central Methodist Church.

Children's services will be held Saturday at each church, and the evening service will be held at Melvin Methodist. Speakers Saturday evening will be Rev. and Mrs. Dae Hee Park and Rev. Il Joong Jang, all of Korea. Rev. Russell E. Fink, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, will offer the prayer and Mrs. Martha Fink will present several vocal selections.

Dr. James Pyke, professor of missions and world religions at Wesley Theological Seminary, will speak Sunday at the three churches. He also will speak on the theme of the conference, "Our World Hope," at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at the Mapleside Church.

Propaganda Mail May Be Refused

Information regarding unsolicited foreign mail has been received at the Cumberland Post Office from J. Edward Day, Postmaster General.

According to the notice unsolicited Communist propaganda from the Soviet Union, from Soviet satellites, from Cuba and from other places outside the United States is being sent to persons in this country. This propaganda attempts to promote the objectives of the international Communist movement. It often appears, on the surface, to be innocent and unimportant.

This propaganda is not labeled to reveal its origin or content and is not always easy to identify.

If you have received unsolicited mail from abroad, it may contain such propaganda. If you wish, you may mark it "refused" and return it to your local post office.

To Attend Meeting

J. Byron Dowling, and Gaylord Brooks, Allegany County Health Department sanitarian, will attend the 12th annual Ice Cream Conference Thursday at the University of Maryland, College Park.

Water Meetings Scheduled

The first in a series of meetings planned by the state and county health departments with owners of private water companies in Allegany County will be held next week.

J. Byron Dowling, senior sanitarian, Allegany County Health Department, and Raymond W. Ludlow Jr., public health engineer for the State Department of Health, will meet with the owners to discuss ways of improving the quality of water and assuring a safe water supply for the communities.

Barton's water problems will be taken up at a meeting Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the mayor's office there. At 2 p. m. the health department representatives will meet at the home of Colen Graham, RD 1, Mt. Savage, to discuss the Barrelville water supply.

Wednesday, meetings will be held at Shaft Fire Hall at 10 a. m., with owners from Lord and at 2 p. m. with owners from Shaft and Carlos.

Today Is Final Date To Return VA Tax Forms

Today is the deadline for veterans or their dependents to fill out their annual income questionnaires, according to Thomas G. Kilduff, assistant state service officer for the Maryland Veterans Commission.

Mr. Kilduff said his office will assist anyone today who has not yet filled out the government forms. His office is located on the first floor of the County Building on Union Street and will be open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. today.

Frank Powers will be at Farraday Post 24, American Legion in Frostburg, at 7 p. m. today to assist persons in that section.

The annual income questions are sent out each year to veterans or their dependents who receive pension benefits from the Veterans Administration.

Individuals who do not comply with today's deadline and fail to return their questionnaires will not receive any future benefits, Mr. Kilduff said. And in some cases, individuals may have to pay back money received during 1961, he added.

The only persons who do not have to fill out the questionnaires are those who receive service-connected disability benefits.

Residents of nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania also are eligible to visit the local commission office for assistance.

District Plan Is Urged For Water Users

Health Department Prepares Study

(This is the third of a series of articles based on a State Health Department report to the Allegany County Sanitary Commission concerning the 14 water systems which serve residents of Allegany County.)

A State Health Department report presented recently to the Allegany Sanitary Commission recommends that a number of small communities in the Frostburg area should be combined in a single sanitary district.

Needed improvements to the distribution systems serving the water customers, according to the report released by James R. McComas, chief of the Division of Sanitary Engineering, should be made by the Sanitary Commission.

The portion of the report concerning Frostburg and its water customers follows:

Frostburg Area

The City of Frostburg municipal water system is supplied by impoundments on Savage River, on Piney Run and 28 springs. There is a raw water impoundment of approximately 4,000,000 gallons near the plant. Treatment consists of flocculation, sedimentation, filtration, pH correction, and chlorination. Plant operation appears excellent.

There are two open treated water reservoirs having a capacity of 5,000,000 gallons. Water is rechlorinated as it leaves the storage reservoirs through the 8-inch and 16-inch transmission mains from the plant to the city. There are approximately 2,000 connections within the city serving a population of 6,700.

Get City Water

In addition, the city supplies water to a considerable area outside of the corporate limits through 10 master meters. These areas are briefly described below:

Midlothian Road — There are three master meters serving areas along Midlothian Road with one having a two-inch line running almost to Midlothian. There are at the present time 31 customers on these lines.

Grahamtown-Wrights Crossing—There are four systems having five master meters, serving 188 customers in the Grahamtown-Wrights Crossing area.

Old Hope Road—This is an association having one master meter serving 10 customers north of the city.

Eckhart Mines — The Eckhart Mines-Clarysville area is served by two systems fed through a master meter from the Frostburg system. These systems are owned by the Allegany County Board of Education and the Eckhart Water Company.

The Board of Education serves water to a large school and 75 individual connections.

Eckhart Company

The Eckhart Water Company serves water to 99 individual connections and from its system there are four other master meters having a total of 165 additional connections. One of these has a two-inch line running to the Clarysville Inn at the intersection of Routes U. S. 40 and Maryland 55.

The total number of connections served outside the corporate limits of Frostburg is 568 at the present time with an estimated population served of 2,500.

With the exception of a six-inch transmission line from the city limits to approximately the center of Eckhart, owned by the Eckhart Water Company, all of these systems have distribution systems consisting of two-inch or smaller pipe.

It is the opinion of the writer that all of these areas should be considered in a sanitary district with any necessary improvements to the distribution systems to be made by the Sanitary Commission.

(Next—Midlothian water supply.)

County Receives $21,302 For Share Of Liquor Taxes

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The comptroller's office announced Tuesday distribution of $766,920 to Baltimore City and the 23 counties as their share of Maryland alcoholic beverages taxes for the quarter ending Dec. 31.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the checks total $46,744 more than for the same period in 1960, an increase of 6.5 per cent.

For the first six months of the fiscal year the revenues have run 5.2 per cent over the same period the previous year.

The local governments receive 50 cents of each $1.50 per gallon tax on distilled spirits.

Amounts received by counties for the second quarter with the total for six months in parentheses include:

Allegany County $21,302 ($36,860; Carroll $3,082 ($5,025); Frederick $13,401 ($23,003); Garrett $1,541 ($3,317); Harford $5,721 ($9,964); Howard $8,341 ($13,599); Montgomery $43,189 ($75,675); Prince Georges $67,995 ($116,219) and Washington $20,006 ($33,709).

Club To See Film

Two Planes Damaged By High Wind

About $4,500 damage was caused to two private airplanes yesterday morning when high winds whipped across the Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford and flipped one of the planes over on the other.

An airport spokesman said the two planes are the property of a Dick Young and Dave Klein, who manages the Keyser Garment Company.

The 172 Model Cessna Sky Lane owned by Mr. Klein was parked behind the Cessna 210 owned by Mr. Young, according to the spokesman, who said the Sky Lane was flipped over. Its fin and rudder fell on the Cessna 210 and damaged its right wing.

Both airplanes had been lashed with rope to the parking ramp between the airport administration building and port shop.

About 3 a. m. yesterday John Nash, airport manager, checked the ropes on the various planes on the outside of the buildings.

They were intact at that time, but high wind caused the heavy damage sometime during the next few hours.

In other wind damage in this area yesterday a mobile home on West Virginia Route 28 near the "Y" intersection at Wiley Ford was slammed against a tree.

The trailer was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parks. He was at work at the time and his wife was away from the home when the high wind hit.

Income Tax Assistance To Be Given

Maryland Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has notified Edward V. Welsh, manager of the state tax office, 9 Market Street, that dates have been set for visits by local auditors to Allegany and Garrett County communities where taxpayers will be assisted in filing their tax returns for the 1961 calendar year.

Before going out to the various communities the two auditors, Charles Fradiska and Maurice Stegmaier, will be at the Market Street office tomorrow through February 15 to assist local taxpayers.

The office will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Fridays except holidays, said Mr. Welsh.

Referring to the county visits, Mr. Welsh pointed out that the auditors will sit at the Court House in Oakland on February 16.

They will be at the city building in Westernport February 19 and 20; First National Bank Building at Barton on February 21; On February 23 they will sit at the Liberty Trust Building in Lonaconing; Fidelity Bank at Frostburg on February 26 and 27, and at the Devon Club in Luke from February 28 to March 13 inclusive.

The two auditors will be back at the local office March 14 to April 16 which is the deadline for this year for filing returns. Mr. Welsh said returns must be filed by midnight on the 16th of April.

While the auditors are visiting the various communities, delinquent taxes will be handled at the local office where taxpayers may pay their 1961 calendar year taxes.

Sharp Difference In Temperature Is Noted Here

A difference of 35 degrees in temperature was noted in Cumberland yesterday as the mercury reached a high of 52 degrees at noon and then dropped to 17 at 10 p. m. last night.

Yesterday started out to be a mild day with high winds, but shortly after noon the mercury took a sharp downward trend which continued throughout the afternoon and evening.

The cold temperatures are expected to remain today and some snow flurries are predicted in this section of the state. The high reading today is expected to be between 14 and 20 degrees.

County Names Allen Custodian

Harbart Allen, of Shaft, a janitor at the Court House, yesterday was given a temporary promotion to the position as building custodian at the Court House pending a civil service examination to fill the job.

Commissioners Louis V. Shinnamon and John J. Rowan voted that Mr. Allen be upgraded temporarily from Grade 13 to Grade 9. This change will not prejudice his job as janitor.

Commissioner John T. Mason said the other two commissioners' action is illegal and contended there is no need for a building custodian.

Fire Checked Here

Firemen from South End station yesterday were called to Ford Avenue where some old buses were being burned. The fire got away and burned into a grassy area, according to the firemen, who received a call at 10:17 a. m.

Woman Files Suit In Dispute Over Property

Seeks Injunction Against Neighbor

An equity suit involving a dispute between owners of adjacent property in Lonaconing has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The complainant, Mrs. Mary S. Evans, Main Street, Lonaconing, seeks an injunction requiring Dewey G. Burns and Freda H. Burns, his wife, 55 Jackson Street, Lonaconing, to remove semi-permanent steel awnings and to enjoin them and their agents from using any portion of the complainants's property as a means of ingress and egress to and from the rear of the respondents' property at 27 Main Street, Lonaconing.

Mrs. Evans owns property improved by an apartment and store building known as 29-33 Main Street, Lonaconing. The respondents own property at 27 Main Street.

Mode Changes In Property

The bill of complaint states that in late 1957 or early 1958 Mr. and Mrs. Burns made certain structural changes in their property. This work included an entrance on the southwest side of the building to provide access to the rear. Mrs. Evans contends that the entrance to the rear of the Burns property is located partially on her property. Access can be gained only by means of a walk located on Mrs. Evans' property.

At the same time, semi-permanent steel awnings were constructed on the Burns property. Mrs. Evans contends that these awnings extend over her property and rain water runs directly off the awnings onto her property. This can damage her property, she says.

In March 1958, the trespass resulting from the awnings and use of complainant's property was called to the attention of the respondents and an agreement dated March 31, 1958, was signed, the complaint said.

By terms of this agreement, Mrs. Evans granted a license to Mr. and Mrs. Burns to use the walk and for continued maintenance of the awnings for 10 years from April 1, 1958, for $25 a year rental. This rental was paid for the two years from April 1958 to April 1960. No payment has been made since that last date. The agreement provides that Mrs. Evans can terminate the agreement for default in payments. They were notified by letter dated August 7, 1961.

Erected Fence

After termination of the agreement, Mrs. Evans had a fence erected along the northwesterly side of her property. The respondents still use the entrance and maintain the awnings in dispute.

The bill of complaint asks the court to order removal of the awnings and to perpetually enjoin the respondents from erecting any further awnings which will project over the complainant's property.

Mrs. Evans also seeks to enjoin Mr. and Mrs. Burns, their agents, servants, employes and tenants from using any portion of her property as a means of ingress to and egress from the rear of the Burns' property at 27 Main Street, Lonaconing.

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey has signed an order giving Mr. and Mrs. Burns 15 days to show cause why the injunction should not be issued.

State Employes Plan Dinner

State Senators and members of the House of Delegates from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties will be guests of the Maryland Classified Employes Association at a dinner at 7 p. m. Thursday at the Log Cabin Inn near Hancock.

The association represents 22,000 state employes. The dinner meeting is in line with the association's state-wide policy of outlining its legislative program in advance of the convening of the 1962 legislative session.

Robert Hildreth, first vice president; Herbert Hubbard, counsel, and Thomas Hall, field representative, are among a group of state officers expected to attend from the executive director's office in Baltimore. The group also will include members of the executive committee and chapter presidents throughout the three Western Maryland counties.

William M. Goldsborough of Cumberland, the association's fourth vice president, is chairman of arrangements for Thursday's meeting.

Recognition Given JCs

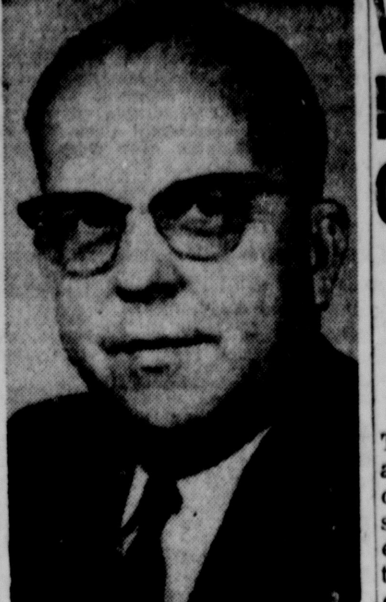
The February issue of "The Future" a monthly magazine published by the United States Junior Association of Commerce contains an article citing the Cumberland Jaycees for their Americanism work in the fight against Communism.

Frederick J. Hill, president of the local Jaycees chapter, said the organization here is one of about 10 of the 4,100 chapters in the nation which were cited for fostering anti-Communism efforts.

He explained that in the past a film, "Communist Encirclement—1961" has been shown to local interested groups as well as organizations throughout Maryland.

Ronald J. Screen, city, who is narrator for the film showing was recently presented the Distinguished Service Award given by the Cumberland Jaycees.

Mr. Hill also reported that a series of films on "American Adventure" will be shown to interested groups by the local Jaycees.



FRANKLIN D. RICHARDS

Local Mormon Church Host To Conference

Two-Day Sessions Here This Weekend

Elvie W. Heaton, president of the Blue Ridge District of Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) will conduct a two-day conference which opens Saturday at the local church, 851 Columbia Avenue.

Guest speakers will be George B. Hill, president of the Eastern Atlantic States Mission, in charge of missionary work, and Elder Franklin D. Richards, visiting general authority of Salt Lake City, Utah, and assistant to the Council of the Twelve Apostles of the church.

On Saturday Elder Hill will meet at the local church with missionaries of the district. Two meetings have been scheduled for Saturday at which time the Priesthood and Relief Society will meet.

Approximately 300 persons are expected to attend the conference, the first session of which will begin at 10 a.m. Sunday. A follow-up afternoon session will get underway at 1 p.m. The public is invited to the two sessions Sunday.

Luncheon will be served by the Relief Society of the Cumberland branch. Mrs. Mildred Spencer is president of the group.

J. Sylvan Rasband, president of the local branch, said representatives will attend from branches in Oakland, Keyser, Altoona, Buck Valley, Romney, Winchester, and Martinsburg, as well as Cumberland.

Elder Richards is a former commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, having retired from this position after nearly 18 years of public service.

A native of Ogden, Utah, he was schooled in the Weber Academy and the University of Utah, where he received his L.L.B. degree in 1923.

He practiced law in Utah until 1934 when he was assigned the directorship of the FHA in that state. From 1952 until his appointment as mission president, he was in the mortgage banking business in Washington, D.C., New York and Salt Lake City. As a young man he served a two-year mission for the church in the Eastern states, 1920-22, where he was president of the Brooklyn, N.Y. and Boston, Mass. conferences.

Cancer Chapter Received $839 In Memorial Gifts

The Allegany County Chapter of the American Cancer Society received $839.75 in memorial gifts during 1961, according to Mrs. Regina Cioni, executive secretary of the unit.

Mrs. Cioni said the local chapter acknowledges every contribution with an official receipt to the donor and a memorial card is sent to the family of the deceased.

Many individuals, organizations, firms and other groups practice memorial giving regularly in cases where a person has been the victim of cancer, Mrs. Cioni said.

The memorial gifts, which are tax-deductible, provide material aid to cancer research programs in laboratories across the nation.

Dr. Gina M. Glick To Address Club

Dr. Gina M. Glick, local physician, will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club today at 6:15 p.m. at Central YMCA.

Dr. Glick will discuss the new Tri-State Poison Control Center which is now in operation at Sacred Heart Hospital.

West Virginia House Votes To Continue Tax

Barron Forces Win After Hot Debate

By CARLO J. SALZANO

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Barron Administration pushed aside all opposition in the House of Delegates Tuesday with passage of the session's major revenue proposal — continuation of the extra penny on the 3 per cent consumer sales tax.

House members argued and debated for more than three hours before passing 58-39 a bill to continue the sales tax at its present rate for another year. Right behind it, the House passed 81-16 a bill to continue the related use tax for another year beyond its June 30 expiration date.

The Democratic leadership in the House beat down three amendments which would have exempted food and drugs and certain school activities from the levy.

Identical amendment-free consumer sales and use tax bills have been approved by the Senate and will be at amendment stage in the House Wednesday. It was expected that the House would try to suspend reading rules on the Senate bills, pass them finally and send them to the governor for signature.

Balance Assured

House passage of the two related consumer sales tax bills virtually assured the administration of the $13 million it requested to balance a proposed $141.3 million operating budget for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

Final passage of the consumer sales tax bills assure the state an estimated $10 million. Already enacted were bills to extend the extra penny on the 6-cent-a-pack cigarette tax — for $1.7 million—and to extend the 3 per cent insurance premium tax — for $1 million.

The only revenue measure still pending is one to extend the racing tax for an estimate $780,000. The Senate passed 26-5 Tuesday a racing tax bill which would give a tax break to harness-race operators. A similar bill was held at passage stage in the House.

Moving toward a possible vote in the Senate Thursday is a Senate Judiciary Committee substitute bill which would grant builders of coal-slurry pipelines the right of eminent domain, under certain restrictions.

A group of other coal-pipeline bills — all wrapped in controversy since Gov. W. W. Barron made the proposal last month—will be on first reading in the House Wednesday. Under normal procedure, they would be at passage stage Friday.

Who's To Blame?

House arguments over the sales tax bills reached a climax late in the debate when Majority Leader W. T. Brotherton Jr., D-Kanawha, and Del. Jack Miller, R-Wood, engaged in a brief but heated, partisan exchange over which administration should be blamed for the state's depressed economic conditions.

Miller touched off the exchange when he insisted that the 3 per cent tax was billed as "temporary" by the Democratic majority and challenged Brotherton to explain what he meant by "temporary."

Brotherton, who acknowledged that he had promised that the extra penny would come off as scheduled, said the tax would remain as "temporary" until the administration had corrected "the damage done by the Republican administration" of former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood.

Miller fired back that Underwood could not be held responsible because Democrats controlled, as they still do, the State Board of Public Works.

"A Promise"

The Wood County delegate said, "Gov. Barron and the majority promised that the higher tax rate would come off. When we make a promise we ought to keep it."

Del. Nell Walker, D-Fayette, among others who argued in favor of excluding food and drugs from the tax, maintained that the major burden of the tax falls on low-income groups and those who can least afford the levy.

Mrs. Walker said she had "made a mistake" when she voted for the extension at the last session but was "thankful that I have the opportunity to correct that mistake."

"I voted for it because it was promised that it would be removed," Mrs. Walker said. "And I was naive enough to believe it."

Brotherton said he was breaking his promise because circumstances have changed "and the tax is necessary at this time."

"I'm not a Judas coming in here voting to remove a tax and voting for another tax to take its place just to keep from breaking a promise," Brotherton said. "That's not the kind of party I represent and if the people object they will have a chance to express their views in the next election."

Man Sentenced In Support Case

A Frostburg area man was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Juvenile Court.

Juvenile Magistrate Louis Fatkin sentenced the man, John Thomas Clise, of RD 1, Frostburg, after finding him guilty of nonsupport of his wife and two minor children.

Judge Fatkin informed that man that he would suspend the jail sentence on condition he post a $500 performance bond which would then be used to support the children. The man has ten days in which to appeal the decision to Allegany County Circuit Court.

Testimony in the case revealed that Clise had not been living with his wife and children for several years and that he had not provided any support since 1958.

Hooks Hippo

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — Fisherman Jan Ungerer of Livingstone, sitting on the banks of the Zambesi River Tuesday, felt the line jerk and knew he'd hooked a big one. He was right. An enraged hippopotamus splashed out of the water and and chased Ungerer away. So he said.

The CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 101 Robert Todd Lincoln, oldest son of the president, was 18 in 1861—older than hundreds, if not thousands, of youths who joined the Union forces. He stayed out of the service until his graduation from Harvard in 1864, when he was commissioned an officer and placed on U. S. Grant's staff.

Robert Lincoln was quoted as saying humorously that if he had been a better scholar, his father would not have been elected president. Robert, sent east, alone, in 1859 to enter Harvard, failed to get passing marks in 15 out of 16 qualifying examinations. Whereupon his parents arranged by mail for Robert to enroll at Phillips-Exeter Academy for tutorial "cramming." The teen-ager's marks there, the autumn of 1859 semester, were not reassuring, and father Lincoln deemed it wise to visit his son.

The campaign against Douglas in 1858 had occasioned neglect of Lincoln's law practice and probably had lost him some clients. Anyway, income was diminished in 1859, and in 1860 family finances were such that Lincoln sought and obtained lecture engagements to cover expenses of his trip to see Robert.

One of these was at the forum embodied in the Peter Cooper plan of providing adult educational facilities at his newly established Cooper Union. That address, Feb. 26, 1860, was credited with gaining him the attention and admiration of New Yorkers who were decisive in swinging the Republican presidential nomination to Lincoln in May.

Had Robert Lincoln gone to war earlier and become a combat soldier, he might have had to face uncles of his on the battlefield. Two of them, Lt. David P. Todd and Brig. Gen. Ben Hardin Helm, were officers in the Confederate army; the latter was killed in action in 1863. Another uncle, Dr. George Todd, was a volunteer surgeon in hospitals in Richmond, where he was quoted as saying that his brother-in-law, President Lincoln, was "one of the greatest scoundrels unhung."

City Approves Work At Water Plant

The Mayor and Council Monday by a 3-2 vote authorized Water Commissioner G. Ray Light to advertise for bids on establishing a low-lift pumping station at Lake Gordon and for rehabilitation of the gate chamber at the city's water plant dam.

Voting in opposition was Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder who has questioned the cost and the need of certain steps in the rehabilitation program; and Street Commissioner John J. Long who said that Mrs. Roeder has posed some questions and he thought she should be answered before bids are asked.

The action followed a pre-council meeting with William E. Bartles of the Robert R. Regester consulting engineering firm in Baltimore, which prepared plans and specifications for the work estimated to cost approximately $85,000.

Club Elects

The Past Presidents Club of the VFW Auxiliary elected Mrs. Charlotte Himes president at the meeting in Central YMCA. Serving with her are Mrs. Goldie Martin, senior vice president; Mrs. Zellene Norris, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, chaplain; Mrs. Mary T. Moore, secretary; Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, publicity; Mrs. Grace Cross, historian; Mrs. Violet Karns, color bearer; Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Audrey Crable, ways and means committee.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Crable, retiring president, and the prize for the evening was won by Mrs. Mary Henry.

11 City Building Permits Issued

The City of Cumberland issued permits for construction of 11 new dwellings and for additions or improvements to four existing structures during the month of January. Also issued was a permit to move a house from one location to another.

The declared value of the construction totaled $275,735. Included in the January total was a permit for an addition to Gephart Elementary School in the amount of $163,735.

During January last year only one permit was issued by the Engineering Department. That one was for a dwelling estimated to cost $8,000.

B&O Crossings Closed Today

Police Chief B. F. Gaffney said last night that the Frederick and Bedford street crossings at Henderson Avenue will be closed again today from 8 a. m. until 10:30 a. m. while the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad completes the laying of welded rails.

Chief Gaffney again suggested that traffic from the North End use the Knox, Pear, Valley or Franklin street crossings during this time.

C Of C Will Check Book Representatives

Local residents who are approached to purchase encyclopedias, or other reference works, are safeguarded by a program, now in its 12th year, in which the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce participates, according to Robert C. Petersen, manager.

Mr. Petersen said that the Subscription Book Program, originally set up by the National Better Business Bureau in 1950, has a total of 960 of the nation's Better Business Bureaus and Chambers of Commerce checking constantly on thousands of encyclopedia representatives. Also cooperating are 42 of America's largest publishers and distributors of such books.

Prospective purchasers can determine if the companies in which they are members of the program by calling the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Petersen said.

Roland Sheldon Weds Wanda Lou McConnell

KANSAS CITY (AP) — New York Yankee pitcher Roland Sheldon Tuesday married a girl he met in a hardware store while the Yankees were playing in Kansas City last June.

The bride, tall, brown-haired, hazel-eyed Wanda Lou McConnell, waited on Sheldon when he came in to look at some sporting goods.

Miss McConnell, 18, and Sheldon, 25, were married by the bride's father, the Rev. Merle L. McConnell, in the chapel of the First Christian Church in suburban Lee's Summit, Mo.

The couple planned to drive to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where Sheldon is to join the Yankees in spring training starting Feb. 5.

Sheldon said he and his bride will make their home at Woodstock, Conn. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheldon of Woodstock.

Foiles Inks Pact

BALTIMORE (AP(— Hank Foiles has signed as second string catcher for 1962, the Baltimore Orioles announced Tuesday.

The 32-year-old Foiles was the ninth signed Oriole.

During last year's spring training, Foiles broke a finger on his right hand and didn't start playing until June 27. He played in only 43 games.

The Orioles announced earlier Tuesday that Outfielders Earl Robinson and Russ Snyder were signed.

Marciano Signed

B&O Deficit Is New High

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reported Monday that it incurred a net income deficit of $4,426,511 in December, pushing its loss for the year to $31,347,341.

It is not anything the B&O is proud of, but this was the railroad's largest deficit in its long history.

As bad as the news was, it was not entirely unexpected. Jervis Langdon Jr., B&O president, told stockholders at their annual meeting in November the deficit would be around $30,000,000.

The board of directors said then they would declare no dividends for 1962 on preferred or common stock or pay interest on the railroad's convertible income bonds.

Operating revenues in December were $29,285,783, an increase of more than $1,300,000 from the total for the same month of 1960, $27,948,377.

December's loss of $4,426,511 compared with profits of $1,079,038 in December, 1960.

Area Student Joins Civic Orchestra

MT. STORM — Dodd (Jack) Fisher, of Mt. Storm, W. Va., a Junior at Taylor University, Upland, Ind., is a member of the Taylor Civic Orchestra which presented its first concert of the year, an all-Tchaikovsky program, January 14. This orchestra, under the direction of Dale Shepfer, is made up of Taylor students, community artists, professionals from nearby universities, and members of the Fort Wayne Philharmonic Orchestra.

A second concert will be given May 13, featuring the music of a very recent composer, Suholati.

A son of Mrs. Dodd M. Fisher, Mt. Storm, Jack is majoring in music.

Taylor is a 116 year-old private, accredited, Christian, liberal arts college with an enrollment of 820 students.

Gifts Awarded

Perfect attendance gifts were presented to Mrs. James Kisamore, Mrs. Thomas Izat and Mrs. Clayton Gillum at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the National Association of Letter Carriers. One also will be given to Mrs. Walter Alexander, who is hospitalized.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Donald Nehring at the home of Mrs. James Brown, Sylvan Avenue. A social hour followed the meeting and prizes were won by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Eugene Sewell. Others attending were Mrs. Robert Crites, Mrs. Lester Watson, Mrs. Francis Fannon and Mrs. Michael Cunningham.

Grand Inquest On S&L Faces Legislature

Would Be Second In This Century

This is one in a series of the principal subjects that will be coming up during the 30-day session of the Maryland Legislature (starting Feb. 7).

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The granddaddy legislative study of them all, a Grand Inquest, hangs over the savings and loan issue that refuses to die.

Legislators thought they had washed their hands of the subject last year when they passed Maryland's first regulations. But they'll return next week to encounter a motion for a Grand Inquest to dig deep into the past.

Del. Carlton R. Sickles, D-Prince Georges, will move that the House of Delegates convene itself into an investigative body.

Only One Before

There has been only one Grand Inquest in this century, and as far as researchers could ascertain it was the only one ever. That was in 1956 on a strike of the Baltimore Transit Co.

A Grand Inquest is all-powerful. It may summon all the witnesses it desires and "may commit any person for any crime" to jail.

Such hearings are held outside of the regular business hours of the House.

The delegates and senators will not be able to forget savings and loan during their routine either.

They will be asked to approve a bill setting the state up as a handler of insurance on deposits in the associations. The insurance will be for those associations which do not have coverage with a federal agency.

Gov. Tawes has endorsed the idea as one of his announced objectives in trying to protect the consumer and his money from being parted unfairly.

Consumer Counsel

The governor also will ask the legislature to create the post of consumer counsel who will keep an eye out for all sorts of shady business practices in the state.

In a follow-up move to the first enactment of regulations on savings and loans, the Legislature will be presented with a model act strengthening controls over the sellers of securities in Maryland.

The state's so-called "Blue Sky law" has not been changed since it was enacted originally in 1937.

A study commission is proposing that a new division of securities be set up in the attorney general's office to administer a stronger law.

The new division would be given greater control over both the registration of brokers and the securities they plan to offer to the public.

Another study commission is proposing that Maryland extend for one year the prohibition enacted last year against the sale of a new type of insurance.

It is known as a variable annuity because payments to the policy holder, instead of being a fixed amount, would be based on the value of stocks in which premiums would be invested.

Blast Damages Furnace Here

A coal furnace at 702 Shriver Avenue was damaged considerably yesterday evening when coal gas apparently accumulated in the heating unit and caused an explosion.

Firemen from East Side station were called to the address at 5:14 p. m. when steam and sulfur fumes were detected in the dwelling of Mrs. Mary D. Stull.

She said her son David had gone to the basement about 3:30 p. m. and shoveled some coal on the fire which had been tended during the day.

Mrs. Stull said a new load of coal had been put in the basement on Monday. The steam boiler in the furnace, said firemen, blew out a section of the back of the heating unit which, according to Mrs. Stull, will have to be replaced.

The water system in the vicinity of the furnace was damaged by the impact, she said.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. William Birmingham, Rockville, announce the birth of a son Monday in Suburban Hospital at Bethesda. The mother is the former Miss Shirley Norton of Cumberland. The father is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heffer, 230 Arch Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Russell, Glen Burnie, announce the birth of a daughter there. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John McCartney, LaVale, and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Russell, Barton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moxley Jr., West Friendship, Md., announce the birth of a daughter Monday in Montgomery County General Hospital. The mother is the former Miss Dessie Buser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buser Sr., Town Creek Road.

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. David M. Lease, 530 Maryland Avenue, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marang, LaVale, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Brown, 144 Independence Street, a son Monday.

JOHN ATKINSON

JOAN B. FITZPATRICK

Two Appointed Teachers At Mt. Savage School

Two new teachers will assume duties tomorrow at Mt. Savage High School when the second semester gets under way.

John Atkinson, 39 Mill Street, Frostburg, will become a junior high school science and mathematics teacher at Mt. Savage, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

Mr. Atkinson will succeed John W. Miller, RFD 1, Frostburg, who is resigning after four years at Mt. Savage to accept an appointment in the federal government. A 1956 graduate of Valley High School, Mr. Atkinson today fulfills the requirements for his B.S. degree at Frostburg State Teachers College.

He is married and the father of two children.

Mrs. Joan Buskirk Fitzpatrick of Barton will begin duties tomorrow as girls' physical education teacher at Mt. Savage. She will succeed Mrs. Alpha P. Reynolds, a teacher since 1954, who has been granted a leave of absence.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick was graduated from Beall High School in 1954 and Frostburg State Teachers College in 1958. She taught one year at Buck Lodge Junior High School in Prince George's County and then taught girls physical education at Fort Hill High School in the 1959-60 school year. She has been on leave of absence since then.

Missionary Conference Being Held

Mrs. Geraldine Conway, world traveler, will be the guest speaker today at 7:30 p. m. at Mapleside Methodist Church where the Cumberland Methodist Charge is holding a Missionary Conference.

Rev. Frank G. Wanek, pastor of the charge, said all missionary ministers will attend tonight's meeting and the evening prayer will be given by Rev. George Hazen, pastor of Zion United Church of Christ.

A discussion group will meet today at 11 a. m. at Melvin Methodist Church with Mrs. Conway and the missionaries. A covered dish luncheon will be held after the discussion period.

Tomorrow, the discussion group will meet at 11 a. m. at Fairview Avenue Methodist Church and at 7:30 p. m. the evening service will be the church. Rev. Hidemi Ito from Japan, and Rev. Dr. Paul Warner, district superintendent, will be the speakers. The evening prayer will be given by Rev. T. Clifford Johnson, pastor of First Baptist Church.

The service Friday evening will be held at 7:30 at Mapleside Methodist with Rev. Kwan Bin Park of Korea, and Rev. Maynardo R. Jose from the Phillipines, as guest speakers. The prayer will be given by Rev. Stanley Harrell, pastor of Central Methodist Church.

Children's services will be held Saturday at each church, and the evening service will be held at Melvin Methodist. Speakers Saturday evening will be Rev. and Mrs. Dae Hee Park and Rev. Il Joong Jang, all of Korea. Rev. Russell E. Fink, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, will offer the prayer and Mrs. Martha Fink will present several vocal selections.

Dr. James Pyke, professor of missions and world religions at Wesley Theological Seminary, will speak Sunday at the three churches. He also will speak on the theme of the conference, "Our World Hope," at 7:30 p. m. Sunday at the Mapleside Church.

Propaganda Mail May Be Refused

Information regarding unsolicited foreign mail has been received at the Cumberland Post Office from J. Edward Day, Postmaster General.

According to the notice unsolicited Communist propaganda from the Soviet Union, from Soviet satellites, from Cuba and from other places outside the United States is being sent to persons in this country. This propaganda attempts to promote the objectives of the international Communist movement. It often appears, on the surface, to be innocent and unimportant.

This propaganda is not labeled to reveal its origin or content and is not always easy to identify.

If you have received unsolicited mail from abroad, it may contain such propaganda. If you wish, you may mark it "refused" and return it to your local post office.

To Attend Meeting

J. Byron Dowling, and Gaylord Brooks, Allegany County Health Department sanitarian, will attend the 12th annual Ice Cream Conference Thursday at the University of Maryland, College Park.

Today Is Final Date To Return VA Tax Forms

Today is the deadline for veterans or their dependents to fill out their annual income questionnaires, according to Thomas G. Kilduff, assistant state service officer for the Maryland Veterans Commission.

Mr. Kilduff said his office will assist anyone today who has not yet filled out the government forms. His office is located on the first floor of the County Building on Union Street and will be open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. today.

Frank Powers will be at Farraday Post 24, American Legion in Frostburg, at 7 p. m. today to assist persons in that section.

The annual income questions are sent out each year to veterans or their dependents who receive pension benefits from the Veterans Administration.

Individuals who do not comply with today's deadline and fail to return their questionnaires will not receive any future benefits, Mr. Kilduff said. And in some cases, individuals may have to pay back money received during 1961, he added.

The only persons who do not have to fill out the questionnaires are those who receive service-connected disability benefits.

Residents of nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania also are eligible to visit the local commission office for assistance.

Estel C. Kelley, local attorney and a member of the House of Delegates, is reported in "satisfactory" condition at Memorial Hospital where he is a medical patient.

Water Meetings Scheduled

The first in a series of meetings planned by the state and county health departments with owners of private water companies in Allegany County will be held next week.

J. Byron Dowling, senior sanitarian, Allegany County Health Department, and Raymond W. Ludlow Jr., public health engineer for the State Department of Health, will meet with the owners to discuss ways of improving the quality of water and assuring a safe water supply for the communities.

Barton's water problems will be taken up at a meeting Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the mayor's office there. At 2 p. m. the health department representatives will meet at the home of Colen Graham, RD 1, Mt. Savage, to discuss the Barrelville water supply.

Wednesday, meetings will be held at Shaft Fire Hall at 10 a. m., with owners from Lord and at 2 p. m. with owners from Shaft and Carlos.

District Plan Is Urged For Water Users

Health Department Prepares Study

(This is the third of a series of articles based on a State Health Department report to the Allegany County Sanitary Commission concerning the 14 water systems which serve residents of Allegany County.)

A State Health Department report presented recently to the Allegany Sanitary Commission recommends that a number of small communities in the Frostburg area should be combined in a single sanitary district.

Needed improvements to the distribution systems serving the water customers, according to the report released by James R. McComas, chief of the Division of Sanitary Engineering, should be made by the Sanitary Commission.

The portion of the report concerning Frostburg and its water customers follows:

Frostburg Area

The City of Frostburg municipal water system is supplied by impoundments on Savage River, on Piney Run and 28 springs. There is a raw water impoundment of approximately 4,000,000 gallons near the plant. Treatment consists of flocculation, sedimentation, filtration, pH correction, and chlorination. Plant operation appears excellent.

There are two open treated water reservoirs having a capacity of 5,000,000 gallons. Water is rechlorinated as it leaves the storage reservoirs through the 8-inch and 16-inch transmission mains from the plant to the city. There are approximately 2,000 connections within the city serving a population of 6,700.

Get City Water

In addition, the city supplies water to a considerable area outside of the corporate limits through 10 master meters. These areas are briefly described below:

Midlothian Road — There are three master meters serving areas along Midlothian Road with one having a two-inch line running almost to Midlothian. There are at the present time 31 customers on these lines.

Grahamtown-Wrights Crossing—There are four systems having five master meters, serving 188 customers in the Grahamtown-Wrights Crossing area.

Old Hope Road—This is an association having one master meter serving 10 customers north of the city.

Eckhart Mines — The Eckhart Mines-Clarysville area is served by two systems fed through a master meter from the Frostburg system. These systems are owned by the Allegany County Board of Education and the Eckhart Water Company.

The Board of Education serves water to a large school and 75 individual connections.

Eckhart Company

The Eckhart Water Company serves water to 99 individual connections and from its system there are four other master meters having a total of 165 additional connections. One of these has a two-inch line running to the Clarysville Inn at the intersection of Routes U. S. 40 and Maryland 55.

The total number of connections served outside the corporate limits of Frostburg is 568 at the present time with an estimated population served of 2,500.

With the exception of a six-inch transmission line from the city limits to approximately the center of Eckhart, owned by the Eckhart Water Company, all of these systems have distribution systems consisting of two-inch or smaller pipe.

It is the opinion of the writer that all of these areas should be considered in a sanitary district with any necessary improvements to the distribution systems to be made by the Sanitary Commission.

County Receives $21,302 For Share Of Liquor Taxes

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The comptroller's office announced Tuesday distribution of $766,920 to Baltimore City and the 23 counties as their share of Maryland alcoholic beverages taxes for the quarter ending Dec. 31.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the checks total $46,744 more than for the same period in 1960, an increase of 6.5 per cent.

For the first six months of the fiscal year the revenues have run 5.2 per cent over the same period the previous year.

The local governments receive 50 cents of each $1.50 per gallon tax on distilled spirits.

Amounts received by counties for the second quarter with the total for six months in parentheses include:

Allegany County $21,302 ($36,860; Carroll $3,082 ($5,025); Frederick $13,401 ($23,003); Garrett $1,541 ($3,317); Harford $5,721 ($9,964); Howard $8,341 ($13,599); Montgomery $43,189 ($75,675); Prince Georges $67,995 ($116,219) and Washington $20,006 ($33,709).

Club To See Film

The film "Communist Encirclement," will be shown at the weekly meeting of the Bedford Road Optimist Club today at 6:30 p.m. at McGee's Restaurant on Bedford Road.

Two Planes Damaged By High Wind

About $4,500 damage was caused to two private airplanes yesterday morning when high winds whipped across the Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford and flipped one of the planes over on the other.

An airport spokesman said the two planes are the property of a Dick Young and Dave Klein, who manages the Keyser Garment Company.

The 172 Model Cessna Sky Lane owned by Mr. Klein was parked behind the Cessna 210 owned by Mr. Young, according to the spokesman, who said the Sky Lane was flipped over. Its fin and rudder fell on the Cessna 210 and damaged its right wing.

Both airplanes had been lashed with rope to the parking ramp between the airport administration building and port shop.

About 3 a. m. yesterday John Nash, airport manager, checked the ropes on the various planes on the outside of the buildings.

They were intact at that time, but high wind caused the heavy damage sometime during the next few hours.

In other wind damage in this area yesterday a mobile home on West Virginia Route 28 near the "Y" intersection at Wiley Ford was slammed against a tree.

The trailer was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parks. He was at work at the time and his wife was away from the home when the high wind hit.

Income Tax Assistance To Be Given

Maryland Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has notified Edward V. Welsh, manager of the state tax office, 9 Market Street, that dates have been set for visits by local auditors to Allegany and Garrett County communities where taxpayers will be assisted in filing their tax returns for the 1961 calendar year.

Before going out to the various communities the two auditors, Charles Fradiska and Maurice Stegmaier, will be at the Market Street office tomorrow through February 15 to assist local taxpayers.

The office will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Fridays except holidays, said Mr. Welsh.

Referring to the county visits, Mr. Welsh pointed out that the auditors will sit at the Court House in Oakland on February 16.

They will be at the city building in Westernport February 19 and 20; First National Bank Building at Barton on February 21; On February 23 they will sit at the Liberty Trust Building in Lonaconing; Fidelity Bank at Frostburg on February 26 and 27, and at the Devon Club in Luke from February 28 to March 13 inclusive.

The two auditors will be back at the local office March 14 to April 16 which is the deadline for this year for filing returns. Mr. Welsh said returns must be filed by midnight on the 16th of April.

While the auditors are visiting the various communities, delinquent taxes will be handled at the local office where taxpayers may pay their 1961 calendar year taxes.

Sharp Difference In Temperature Is Noted Here

A difference of 35 degrees in temperature was noted in Cumberland yesterday as the mercury reached a high of 52 degrees at noon and then dropped to 17 at 10 p. m. last night.

Yesterday started out to be a mild day with high winds, but shortly after noor the mercury took a sharp downward trend which continued throughout the afternoon and evening.

The cold temperatures are expected to remain today and some snow flurries are predicted in this section of the state. The high reading today is expected to be between 14 and 20 degrees.

County Names Allen Custodian

Harbart Allen, of Shaft, a janitor at the Court House, yesterday was given a temporary promotion to the position as building custodian at the Court House pending a civil service examination to fill the job.

Commissioners Louis V. Shinnamon and John J. Rowan voted that Mr. Allen be upgraded temporarily from Grade 13 to Grade 9. This change will not prejudice his job as janitor.

Commissioner John T. Mason said the other two commissioners' action is illegal and contended there is no need for a building custodian.

Fire Checked Here

Firemen from South End station yesterday were called to Ford Avenue where some old buses were being burned. The fire got away and burned into a grassy area, according to the firemen, who received a call at 10:17 a. m.

Woman Files Suit In Dispute Over Property

Seeks Injunction Against Neighbor

An equity suit involving a dispute between owners of adjacent property in Lonaconing has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The complainant, Mrs. Mary S. Evans, Main Street, Lonaconing, seeks an injunction requiring Dewey G. Burns and Freda H. Burns, his wife, 55 Jackson Street, Lonaconing, to remove semi-permanent steel awnings and to enjoin them and their agents from using any portion of the complainants's property as a means of ingress and egress to and from the rear of the respondents' property at 27 Main Street, Lonaconing.

Mrs. Evans owns property improved by an apartment and store building known as 29-33 Main Street, Lonaconing. The respondents own property at 27 Main Street.

Mode Changes In Property

The bill of complaint states that in late 1957 or early 1958 Mr. and Mrs. Burns made certain structural changes in their property. This work included an entrance on the southwest side of the building to provide access to the rear. Mrs. Evans contends that the entrance to the rear of the Burns property is located partially on her property. Access can be gained only by means of a walk located on Mrs. Evans' property.

At the same time, semi-permanent steel awnings were constructed on the Burns property. Mrs. Evans contends that these awnings extend over her property and rain water runs directly off the awnings onto her property. This can damage her property, she says.

In March 1958, the trespass resulting from the awnings and use of complainant's property was called to the attention of the respondents and an agreement dated March 31, 1958, was signed, the complaint said.

By terms of this agreement, Mrs. Evans granted a license to Mr. and Mrs. Burns to use the walk and for continued maintenance of the awnings for 10 years from April 1, 1958, for $25 a year rental. This rental was paid for the two years from April 1958 to April 1960. No payment has been made since that last date. The agreement provides that Mrs. Evans can terminate the agreement for default in payments. They were notified by letter dated August 7, 1961.

Erected Fence

After termination of the agreement, Mrs. Evans had a fence erected along the northwesterly side of her property. The respondents still use the entrance and maintain the awnings in dispute.

The bill of complaint asks the court to order removal of the awnings and to perpetually enjoin the respondents from erecting any further awnings which will project over the complainant's property.

Mrs. Evans also seeks to enjoin Mr. and Mrs. Burns, their agents, servants, employes and tenants from using any portion of her property as a means of ingress to and egress from the rear of the Burns' property at 27 Main Street, Lonaconing.

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey has signed an order giving Mr. and Mrs. Burns 15 days to show cause why the injunction should not be issued.

State Employes Plan Dinner

State Senators and members of the House of Delegates from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties will be guests of the Maryland Classified Employes Association at a dinner at 7 p. m. Thursday at the Log Cabin Inn near Hancock.

The association represents 22,000 state employes. The dinner meeting is in line with the association's state-wide policy of outlining its legislative program in advance of the convening of the 1962 legislative session.

Robert Hildreth, first vice president; Herbert Hubbard, counsel, and Thomas Hall, field representative, are among a group of state officers expected to attend from the executive director's office in Baltimore. The group also will include members of the executive committee and chapter presidents throughout the three Western Maryland counties.

William M. Goldsborough of Cumberland, the association's fourth vice president, is chairman of arrangements for Thursday's meeting.

Recognition Given JCs

The February issue of "The Future" a monthly magazine published by the United States Junior Association of Commerce contains an article citing the Cumberland Jaycees for their Americanism work in the fight against Communism.

Frederick J. Hill, president of the local Jaycees chapter, said the organization here is one of about 10 of the 4,100 chapters in the nation which were cited for fostering anti-Communism efforts.

He explained that in the past a film, "Communist Encirclement—1961" has been shown to local interested groups as well as organizations throughout Maryland.

Ronald J. Screen, city, who is narrator for the film showing was recently presented the Distinguished Service Award given by the Cumberland Jaycees.

Mr. Hill also reported that a series of films on "American Adventure" will be shown to interested groups by the local Jaycees.

FRANKLIN D. RICHARDS

Local Mormon Church Host To Conference

Two-Day Sessions Here This Weekend

Elvie W. Heaton, president of the Blue Ridge District of Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) will conduct a two-day conference which opens Saturday at the local church, 851 Columbia Avenue.

Guest speakers will be George B. Hill, president of the Eastern Atlantic States Mission, in charge of missionary work, and Elder Franklin D. Richards, visiting general authority of Salt Lake City, Utah, and assistant to the Council of the Twelve Apostles of the church.

On Saturday Elder Hill will meet at the local church with missionaries of the district. Two meetings have been scheduled for Saturday at which time the Priesthood and Relief Society will meet.

Approximately 300 persons are expected to attend the conference, the first session of which will begin at 10 a.m. Sunday. A follow-up afternoon session will get underway at 1 p.m. The public is invited to the two sessions Sunday.

Luncheon will be served by the Relief Society of the Cumberland branch. Mrs. Mildred Spencer is president of the group.

J. Sylvan Rasband, president of the local branch, said representatives will attend from branches in Oakland, Keyser, Altoona, Buck Valley, Romney, Winchester, and Martinsburg, as well as Cumberland.

Elder Richards is a former commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration, having retired from this position after nearly 18 years of public service.

A native of Ogden, Utah, he was schooled in the Weber Academy and the University of Utah, where he received his L.L.B. degree in 1923.

He practiced law in Utah until 1934 when he was assigned the directorship of the FHA in that state. From 1952 until his appointment as mission president, he was in the mortgage banking business in Washington, D.C., New York and Salt Lake City. As a young man he served a two-year mission for the church in the Eastern states, 1920-22, where he was president of the Brooklyn, N.Y. and Boston, Mass. conferences.

Cancer Chapter Received $839 In Memorial Gifts

The Allegany County Chapter of the American Cancer Society received $839.75 in memorial gifts during 1961, according to Mrs. Regina Cioni, executive secretary of the unit.

Mrs. Cioni said the local chapter acknowledges every contribution with an official receipt to the donor and a memorial card is sent to the family of the deceased.

Many individuals, organizations, firms and other groups practice memorial giving regularly in cases where a person has been the victim of cancer, Mrs. Cioni said.

The memorial gifts, which are tax-deductible, provide material aid to cancer research programs in laboratories across the nation.

Dr. Gina M. Glick To Address Club

Dr. Gina M. Glick, local physician, will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club today at 6:15 p.m. at Central YMCA.

Dr. Glick will discuss the new Tri-State Poison Control Center which is now in operation at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Flue Fire Checked

Volunteer firemen of Corriganville were called last night to the vicinity of Wellersburg where a flue fire was extinguished.

West Virginia House Votes To Continue Tax

Barron Forces Win After Hot Debate

By CARLO J. SALZANO

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Barron Administration pushed aside all opposition in the House of Delegates Tuesday with passage of the session's major revenue proposal — continuation of the extra penny on the 3 per cent consumer sales tax.

House members argued and debated for more than three hours before passing 58-39 a bill to continue the sales tax at its present rate for another year. Right behind it, the House passed 81-16 a bill to continue the related use tax for another year beyond its June 30 expiration date.

The Democratic leadership in the House beat down three amendments which would have exempted food and drugs and certain school activities from the levy.

Identical amendment - free consumer sales and use tax bills have been approved by the Senate and will be at amendment stage in the House Wednesday. It was expected that the House would try to suspend reading rules on the Senate bills, pass them finally and send them to the governor for signature.

Balance Assured

House passage of the two related consumer sales tax bills virtually assured the administration of the $13 million it requested to balance a proposed $141.3 million operating budget for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

Final passage of the consumer sales tax bills assure the state an estimated $10 million. Already enacted were bills to extend the extra penny on the 6-cent-a-pack cigarette tax — for $1.7 million —and to extend the 3 per cent insurance premium tax — for $1 million.

The only revenue measure still pending is one to extend the racing tax for an estimate $780,000. The Senate passed 26-5 Tuesday a racing tax bill which would give a tax break to harness-race operators. A similar bill was held at passage stage in the House.

Moving toward a possible vote in the Senate Thursday is a Senate Judiciary Committee substitute bill which would grant builders of coal-slurry pipelines the right of eminent domain, under certain restrictions.

A group of other coal-pipeline bills — all wrapped in controversy since Gov. W. W. Barron made the proposal last month—will be on first reading in the House Wednesday. Under normal procedure, they would be at passage stage Friday.

Who's To Blame?

House arguments over the sales tax bills reached a climax late in the debate when Majority Leader W. T. Brotherton Jr., D-Kanawha, and Del. Jack Miller, R-Wood, engaged in a brief but heated, partisan exchange over which administration should be blamed for the state's depressed economic conditions.

Miller touched off the exchange when he insisted that the 3 per cent tax was billed as "temporary" by the Democratic majority and challenged Brotherton to explain what he meant by "temporary."

Brotherton, who acknowledged that he had promised that the extra penny would come off as scheduled, said the tax would remain as "temporary" until the administration had corrected "the damage done by the Republican administration" of former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood.

Miller fired back that Underwood could not be held responsible because Democrats controlled, as they still do, the State Board of Public Works.

"A Promise"

The Wood County delegate said, "Gov. Barron and the majority promised that the higher tax rate would come off. When we make a promise we ought to keep it."

Del. Nell Walker, D-Fayette, among others who argued in favor of excluding food and drugs from the tax, maintained that the major burden of the tax falls on low-income groups and those who can least afford the levy.

Mrs. Walker said she had "made a mistake" when she voted for the extension at the last session but was "thankful that I have the opportunity to correct that mistake."

"I voted for it because it was promised that it would be removed," Mrs. Walker said. "And I was naive enough to believe it."

Brotherton said he was breaking his promise because circumstances have changed "and the tax is necessary at this time."

"I'm not a Judas coming in here voting to remove a tax and voting for another tax to take its place just to keep from breaking a promise," Brotherton said. "That's not the kind of party I represent and if the people object they will have a chance to express their views in the next election."
